CRUSADERS AID ROOSEVELT IN ECONOMY FIGHT

Appeal to Senators to Uphold Program.

Senate takes up economy bill today with predictions measure will be passed in 4 or 5 days. Story on page 5.

(Picture on Back Page)

Crusaders were called into action yesterday to urge passage by the United States senate of the President's half billion dollar economy bill. This organization, formed originally to combat prohibition, is now firmly entrenched in the battle to save the nation's credit, two of its vice national commanders, J. Russell Forgan and Seymour Wheeler, announced yesterday.

"The credit of the nation is impaired," they said as they prepared telegrams to President Roosevelt and to all United States senators. "With hundreds of millions of dollars in government securities to be redeemed within the next year, unless the economy budget is put in effect the nation's credit will suffer and there will be no hope of prosperity and happiness. Our national credit depends upon the successful flow of commerce and the security and welfare of every citizen in the country."

Telegram to Senators.

The Crusaders sent the following telegram to all United States senators:

"The Crusaders, numbering more than a million members, many of whom are veterans of the world war and whose patriotism did not end with the signing of the armistice, are actively fighting for the President's program for effecting national economies. We commend those members of the lower house who patriotically and in the public interest supported the bill. We urge you to use your best efforts to have this bill passed without delay.

"Bear in mind that the vast army comprising the unorganized majority is thoroughly aroused over reckless government expenditures and will not tolerate submission to organized minority groups. In this hour of national distress anything but united patriotic action is unthinkable."

Rally Crusader Leaders.

A telegram sent to 100 battalion commanders of the Crusaders throughout the country was as follows:

"Our opportunity for effective service to the country has arrived. Rapid developments in Washington indicate opposition in the senate to the economy bill proposed by the President and make it imperative that all Crusader battalions throughout the country take immediate action.

"Passage of bill is vital for restoration of national credit and confidence. It is high time that the demands of special interests and organized minority groups be definitely suppressed and that unified patriotic action be taken in the interest of the entire country.

"It is unthinkable that our representatives in congress should fail to act promptly for the support of this measure in the face of one of the greatest crises in the nation's history. There is no place in public life today for the legislator who fails at this time. Senators are being flooded with telegrams urging defeat of the measure.

Attack Selfish Propaganda.

"This selfish propaganda must be overcome. The patriotism of thousands of Crusaders who saw service during the world war did not cease with the signing of the armistice and they are entering this fight with the same determination to see it through.

"They are squarely back of the President. We urge you to seize this opportunity to wire the senators from your state to support the President and ask newspaper editors and all Crusaders and friends everywhere to join you in sending independent wires.

"The greatest opportunity of your lifetime to serve your country is today. The nation's credit can be saved if sufficient influence can be brought on senators to act as patriots and not as patronage dispensers. Make your telegrams strong; act immediately."

Message to President.

To President Roosevelt the Crusaders sent the following message:

"The Crusaders with over a million members, many of them veterans of the world war, whose patriotism did not end with the signing of the armistice, are actively fighting for you in your effort to reduce government expenses. Your action will be enthusiastically supported by every patriotic citizen in this country. We are today rallying Crusader battalions throughout the country in support of your measure."

RISING TO THE CALL

U. S. AND STATE LIFT MORATORIUM; PRESIDENT APPEALS FOR CONFIDENCE

Roosevelt Explains Financial Crisis Over Radio.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 12.—[Special.]—On the eve of the opening of many banks in New York, Chicago and ten other large cities, President Roosevelt tonight addressed a radio appeal broadcast over the nation for the citizenry to have confidence in their reopened financial institutions.

In simple terms, spoken clearly and with an emphasis revealing his own confidence in the situation, the President said more than currency and more than gold is needed, and that the element of most importance is the confidence of the people.

Pleads for Confidence.

"You people must have faith," he said. "You must not be stampeded by rumors or guesses. Let us unite in banishing fear. We have provided the machinery to restore our financial system. It is up to you to support it and make it work.

"It is your problem no less than it is mine. Together we cannot fail."

In language which at times was almost of the primer type the President explained the steps he has taken to insure the safety of the banks which will be opened tomorrow and in the next few days.

He told his radio listeners that the new currency issued by the treasury, which is ready in all parts of the country to meet any demands for cash, is "sound currency, because it is backed by actual good assets."

Explains Progressive Opening.

Going to some pains to explain why all banks will not be opened simultaneously tomorrow morning, the President declared that the government was making certain that there will never be another epidemic of bank failures, and is allowing banks to open only as quickly as the banking officials of the government and state can make certain the banks are sound.

Mr. Roosevelt stressed the point that the banks which do open will have been found sound, but he also made it clear that if a bank is not opened the first day it does not mean that it will not open and he added that "a bank that opens on one of the subsequent days is in exactly the same status as the bank that opens tomorrow."

Some banks will never open without being reorganized, the President said, as he condemned the practices of some bankers who had shown themselves "either incompetent or dishonest" in using money intrusted to them in speculations and unwise loans.

Mr. Roosevelt pledged that the administration would do all in its power to avoid losses to depositors, and he said that some of the sorely pressed banks will be saved, others being put on a sound basis through reorganization.

TEXT OF SPEECH

"I want to talk for a few minutes with the people of the United States about banking—with the comparatively few who understand the mechanics of banking, but more particularly with the overwhelming majority who use banks for the making of deposits and the drawing of checks," the President said.

"I want to tell you what has been done in the last few days, why it was done, and what the next steps are going to be. I recognize that the many proclamations from state capitals and from Washington, the legislation, the treasury regulations, etc., couched for the most part in banking and legal terms, should be explained for the benefit of the average citizen.

Praises Attitude of Public.

"I owe this in particular because of the fortitude and good temper with which everybody has accepted the inconvenience and hardships of the banking holiday. I know that when you understand what we in Washington have been about I shall continue to have your cooperation as fully as I have had your sympathy and help during the last week.

"First of all let me state the simple fact that when you deposit money in a bank the bank does not put the money into a safe deposit vault. It invests your money in many different forms of credit—bonds, commercial paper, mortgages, and many other kinds of loans. In other words, the bank puts your money to work to keep the wheels of industry and of agriculture turning around.

"A comparatively small part of the money you put into the bank is kept in currency—an amount which in nor-

TREASURY RULE PLACES A CHECK ON SPECULATION

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 12.—[Special.]—Secretary of the Treasury William H. Woodin shortly before midnight authorized important restrictions on banking transactions. They were the following.

1. A regulation to prevent withdrawals for hoarding.

2. A suggestion that banking transactions for the time being be limited to "necessary purposes."

Much significance is attached to the latter move. It sounded a note of caution in the resumption of banking operations contrasting with earlier treasury statements that there would be no restrictions on the business of reopened banks except to conserve gold and prevent hoarding.

Curb on Speculation.

"The first duty of the banks reopening under license of the secretary of the treasury for the performance of their usual functions is to see that the primary needs of the people for funds for the necessaries of life and for normal business undertakings are met," said Mr. Woodin. "Accordingly withdrawals for hoarding have been prohibited and the secretary of the treasury suggests that until more normal conditions have been established transfers of funds by banks or their customers be limited to necessary purposes."

One reason for this move on the part of the treasury is said to be a desire to curb wholesale withdrawal of deposits for speculation in stocks, wheat and other commodities. With the issuance of billions of dollars of the new asset currency at hand the impression is spreading that inflation will be the result, bringing in its train a skyrocketing of prices on the stock and commodity exchanges. Speculators and even ordinary investors with an eye to getting in on the ground floor of a new market boom might easily embarrass reopened banks with a rush for funds when the exchanges reopen.

Swamped by Applications.

The federal reserve board was swamped with the applications of state banks to join the federal reserve system in time to be licensed to reopen tomorrow. The board sat throughout the day and until nearly midnight passing on the applications. A large number of applications was approved, including several Chicago state banks which the Federal Reserve bank of Chicago had recommended for licenses if they should be admitted to the reserve system.

After a day of feverish activity in approving licenses to reopen, Mr. Woodin said as he left the treasury that preparations are complete for the resumption of banking tomorrow by the member banks of the reserve system in Chicago, New York, and the ten other regional reserve bank cities. He would not say how many had been licensed, except that it is "a very large number."

The secretary had been advised that many state banks outside the reserve system also will reopen in these 12 cities tomorrow under permits granted by state banking authorities.

The reserve banks were busy all day

All Restrictions Off Except on Gold Hoarding.

BY HOWARD WOOD.

Thirty-two Chicago banks, including the "big five" in the loop, will reopen for regular business at 9 o'clock this morning, bringing to a close for this city the banking holiday that began nine days ago.

Authorization for reopening 15 of the Chicago banks came directly from Secretary of the Treasury Woodin to the Federal Reserve bank of Chicago last night. These banks include all the twelve national banks in the city and three large state banks. All have been members of the federal reserve system.

Barrett Announces Second List.

Later State Auditor Edward J. Barrett announced that seventeen state banks which have not been members of the federal reserve would reopen. The applications of these banks for membership in the reserve system have been approved by the reserve authorities the state auditor said.

The fifteen banks given permission to open by Secretary Woodin are the following:

CITY NATIONAL BANK AND TRUST COMPANY, 208 South La Salle street.

CONTINENTAL ILLINOIS NATIONAL BANK AND TRUST COMPANY, 231 South La Salle street.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF CHICAGO, 38 South Dearborn street.

HARRIS TRUST AND SAVINGS BANK, 115 West Monroe street.

NORTHERN TRUST COMPANY, La Salle and Monroe streets.

AMERICAN NATIONAL BANK AND TRUST COMPANY, 306 South Michigan avenue.

LAWNDALE NATIONAL BANK OF CHICAGO, 3337 West 26th street.

MUTUAL NATIONAL BANK OF CHICAGO, 7844 South Halsted street.

DROVERS NATIONAL BANK OF CHICAGO, 4201 South Halsted street.

TERMINAL NATIONAL BANK OF CHICAGO, 400 West Madison street.

HALSTED EXCHANGE NATIONAL BANK OF CHICAGO, 1929 South Halsted street.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF ENGLEWOOD, 347 West 63d street.

NATIONAL BUILDERS BANK OF CHICAGO, Wacker drive and La Salle street.

MERCANTILE TRUST AND SAVINGS BANK, 541 West Jackson boulevard.

CONTINENTAL NATIONAL BANK AND TRUST COMPANY, 231 South La Salle street.

The Continental National bank is not now an active banking institution. Its charter is being kept alive by the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company.

The First National Bank of Chicago recently took over the deposits and assumed the deposit liabilities of its affiliate, the First Union Trust and Savings bank. The First Union Trust and Savings bank will confine its activities to its trust business.

List of State Banks to Open.

Following is the list of the seventeen state banks authorized to open this morning by State Auditor Barrett:

AMALGAMATED TRUST AND SAVINGS BANK, 111 West Jackson boulevard.

BEVERLY STATE SAVINGS BANK, 103d and South Loomis streets.

BOULEVARD BRIDGE BANK OF CHICAGO, 400 North Michigan avenue.

CHICAGO CITY BANK AND TRUST COMPANY, 815 West 63d street.

MERCHANDISE BANK AND TRUST COMPANY, 222 North Bank drive.

METROPOLITAN STATE BANK, 2201 West 22d street.

PERSONAL LOAN AND SAVINGS BANK, 105 West Madison street.

SEARS COMMUNITY STATE BANK, 3401 Arthington street.

STATE BANK OF CLEARING, 5601 W. 63rd street.

UPPER AVENUE BANK, 919 North Michigan avenue.

UPTOWN STATE BANK, 1050 Wilson avenue.

The banks will open without restrictions except those imposed by federal regulations against hoarding, paying out of gold or gold certificates and foreign exchange transactions. Checks drawn on banks that are open will be cashed and all deposits will be paid on demand. Checks dated both before and during the

FINDS RUINS OF MAYAN CAPITAL FABULOUSLY RICH

MEXICO CITY, March 12.—(AP)—The discovery and exploration of a 12 century old capital of the Mayan empire, the ruins of which were described as being fabulously rich, were reported today by Enrique Juan Palacios, an archæologist in the department of education.

Senor Palacios was sent to the ruins, those of Calakmul, about a month ago, when scientists of the Carnegie institute reported the discovery of the age old city to the federal government. Calakmul, Palacios said, is one of the oldest and perhaps the largest of the ancient Mayan capitals found in the Mayan peninsula.

Because dense jungle growth impedes the work of exploration, the archæologist reported, it is impossible to determine the true extent of the remains, but he said he saw 15 pyramids and a large number of obelisks, together with hundreds of pillars and slabs of stone forming a labyrinth of smaller structures.

PERUVIAN TROOPS REBEL; FIND PLOT ON GOVERNMENT

LIMA, Peru, March 12.—(AP)—An official communique tonight said that some troops of the 11th infantry revolted at dawn Saturday at Cajamarca under the leadership of Lieut. Col. Gustavo Jimenez and that the government has taken steps to punish the rebels.

An unverified dispatch from Arica, Chile, Sunday night set forth that a plot had been discovered at Tacna to overthrow the government of President Sanchez Cerro.

Fears were expressed that the alleged revolutionary attempt was headed by members of the communistic secret order known as apristas.

Thieves Loot Stables on Old Insull Estate

Thieves broke into the Hawthorne stables, on the old Insull estate two miles south of Libertyville, early yesterday and stole eight saddles and twelve bridles. They carted away the loot in a sulky, which they drew by hand one and one-half miles to a waiting truck. Then they abandoned the sulky. Roscoe Grantham, owner of the stables, owned four of the saddles and ten of the bridles.

Peer Seeks Divorce; Film Director Is Co-Defendant

(Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.)

LONDON, March 12.—Lothar Mendes, a film director, is joined as co-defendant with Lady Inverclyde in a divorce suit which Lord Inverclyde, wealthy steamship company official, is bringing in the Edinburgh courts. A divorce was obtained by Lady Inverclyde [June, noted English actress] in Reno in 1931, but was not recognized by British courts.

Five Students, Held in Cuban Murder, Slain

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba, March 12.—War to the finish between oppositionists and the government's La Porra, "strong arm" organization, seemed inevitable tonight after the dismembered, bullet riddled bodies of five men were discovered in a vacant lot in Marianao, a suburb of Havana.

The victims were identified as Fermin Valdez, 17; Marion Gonzalez, 22; Tuburcio Lopez, 22; Serafin Sanchez, 20, and Clements Diaz, 18, all national university students. They were arrested late last night and charged with the murder yesterday of Leopoldo Fernandez Ros, chief of La Porra.

Guard Turns Over Prisoners.

Unofficial investigations have revealed that early today an unnamed custodian of Principe Hill prison turned the accused slayers over to La Porra members, who sped away with them. Their bodies were sighted by a passerby this evening.

Opposition leaders, after a clandestine meeting tonight, distributed manifestoes which said: "Within 48 hours we will avenge the abominable series of government crimes by slaying every Porra member we can locate."

The handbills also warned President Gerardo Machado and high officials that they have been marked for death, "through the same procedures used by Porra."

Three cabinet members, including Secretary of Interior Octavio Zubizarreta, tonight received mysterious telephone calls.

Warn End Is Near.

"Your end is near!" the officials were warned.

Zubizarreta immediately ordered police guards at official residences doubled and sent other police to search homes of suspected oppositionists. The raids netted 25 machine guns, scores of hand grenades, 560 rounds of ammunition, 500 pounds of dynamite, various implements of torture, military maps, revolutionary literature, a secret code and confidential documents. Sixteen persons, whose names were withheld, were arrested. The raids will be continued.

Four men and two women were injured tonight when a bomb exploded outside a shoe store. The front of the building was practically demolished and windows were shattered in adjacent blocks.

Six Hurt in Bomb Blast.

HAVANA, March 12.—(AP)—Six persons were injured, two of them seriously, when a large bomb exploded in the residence of Angel Jimenez Rivas, custom house inspector, today. Jimenez's two sons and four friends of the family were hurt. There were no arrests.

U. S. TO ISSUE 2 STAMPS FOR CHICAGO FAIR

Washington, D. C., March 12.—[Special.]—A 1 cent stamp and a 3 cent stamp to commemorate the Chicago Century of Progress exposition are in process of preparation at the bureau of engraving and printing.

A number of designs for the stamps have been submitted, but it is expected that the 1 cent variety will bear a picture of old Fort Dearborn, while the 3 cent stamp will carry a representation of the administration building of the exposition.

The stamps are being prepared at the direction of Postmaster General Farley and the issue is expected to be ready before the end of the month. Former Postmaster General Brown, to whom applications were made on several occasions, had previously declined to authorize the issue.

EX-ASSISTANT OF HOOVER DIES OF PNEUMONIA

Washington, D. C., March 12.—(AP)—French Strother, former administrative assistant to President Hoover and once managing editor of World's Work, died suddenly here tonight in Garfield hospital.

Mr. Strother was admitted to the hospital late yesterday for observation, and, although a complete diagnosis of his illness had not been completed, attendants said pneumonia apparently was the cause of death.

Strother, 49, began his life's work when at 19 he became a reporter on the Fresno (Cal.) Republican. In 1929 President Hoover called him to the White House as an assistant.

A native of Marshall, Mo., Strother is survived by his widow and one son, who live in Washington.

1,000 FISHERMEN AFLOAT AT SEA REPORTED SAFE

MOSCOW, March 12.—(AP)—A wireless report from Astrakhan, on the Caspian sea, tonight reported that 1,000 fishermen who had been carried out to sea on an ice floe during a heavy storm were safe. The report gave no details.

An earlier message which told of the men being carried to sea said two airplanes were searching for them and that a change in the direction of the wind indicated the ice floe might be driven back toward shore.

Bomb Ulster Rail Line Under Nose of Police

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, March 12.—(AP)—Authorities today were investigating a bomb explosion on the Great Northern railway line between Dunmurray and Lambeg last night. A group of policemen were near the scene but they did not capture the malefactors.

banking holiday will be honored if they are drawn on open banks.

In his order permitting reopening of the 15 banks Secretary Woodin said: "Having been advised with respect to member banks named herein located in the city of Chicago, a federal reserve bank city, by the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, and with respect to national banks by the controller of currency [who had been advised by his examiners] that I will be reasonably safe in licensing the full opening of such banks, I hereby direct the Federal Reserve bank of Chicago, acting as my designated agent, to issue licenses in the form heretofore prescribed by me for the resumption of banking functions beginning Monday morning, March 13, 1933, to the banks named."

Barrett Issues Statement.

In a statement issued with his authorization for the reopening of the 17 state banks, State Auditor Barrett explained the basis on which the reopenings are permitted. The text of his statement will be found on page 3.

Mr. Barrett made it clear that other state banks approved by the federal reserve will be permitted to open during the week. He emphasized that failure to reopen today is no reflection on the condition of a bank or its solvency. There has not been time for his office to perform the work necessary to a full reopening of banks, he explained.

Authorizations to reopen today, both federal and state, apply only to banks within the city limits. Banks in Evanston, Oak Park and other suburbs are to reopen on Wednesday under the procedure established by the secretary of the treasury. Banks in downstate cities which have recognized clearing houses will be permitted to reopen tomorrow. This group includes such cities as Aurora, Rockford and Bloomington.

Anti-Hoarding Certificates.

The following resolution was adopted by the executive committee of the Chicago Clearing House association in accordance with instructions received from Secretary of Treasury Woodin to prevent hoarding:

"For the furtherance of the purposes set forth by President Roosevelt in his proclamation of March 6, 1933, and particularly for the curtailment of hoarding, the Chicago Clearing House association has adopted a form of certificates to be signed by depositors withdrawing currency over counters." The form follows:

I hereby certify that this withdrawal of $—— is not for hoarding, but for.....

Explain Check Cashing Plans.

Officials of the downtown banks said last night that checks made out in the normal way, dated either prior to March 3 or during the bank holiday, will be honored when they are drawn on banks which are known to be open. They have not yet decided what course to pursue with respect to checks drawn on banks concerning whose opening no announcement has yet been made.

One bank official said that inasmuch as there will be reopened banks in only eleven cities in the country outside Chicago—the federal reserve cities—checks only on reopened banks in these cities would be honored.

"We will accept only checks on open banks in Chicago and other federal reserve cities on Monday," this official said. "Checks on banks in other cities will be honored as these banks are reopened, but not before. We are sending out letters to customers asking them to help us avoid confusion by not presenting checks on a bank until that bank has reopened for business."

Busy Day for Bankers.

The actions providing for the opening of banks today came after a day of strenuous work on the part of bank officers and their staffs.

All day long directors of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago were on duty considering the applications of state banks for membership in the federal reserve system, interpreting instructions from Washington and passing on the applications of individual banks for authority to reopen.

All day long these men and leading Chicago bankers on the clearing house committee were threshing out the thousand and one operating problems incidental to the reopening of the city's financial institutions.

In the banks themselves full complements of workers were getting things ready for the resumption of business after the nine day holiday.

Five hundred employés of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company were ordered to be on duty at 6 o'clock this morning to listen to instructions for reopening. The rest of the bank's 2,000 employés will go on the job between then and 8 o'clock.

At the First National bank of Chicago it was reported that "all checks are ready to clear and all credits prepared" for the resumption of business this morning. City National Bank and Trust company employés received orders to be at work at 7 a. m. A number of extra employés were added to the operating staff.

Department heads of the Harris Trust and Savings bank met to outline instructions to be passed on to their staffs. The Northern Trust company had a full staff on hand preparing for the reopening.

Other Concerns May Open.

Although no announcements have yet been made as to the dates on which the principal commodity and security exchanges will be reopened, all are expected to remain closed today, including the Chicago Board of Trade.

At 6 o'clock last night the reserve officials here received word from the treasury that branch offices of foreign banking institutions, pawn brokers, finance companies, building and loan associations, and similar fiscal organizations would be permitted to open for normal business today, except that no gold or gold certificates may be paid out and no foreign exchange dealt in except for legitimate business needs.

Auditor Barrett conferred for several hours during the afternoon with officials of the federal reserve bank. Immediately after this meeting Mr. Barrett returned to his Chicago office at 33 South La Salle street and sent telegrams to all nonmember state banks.

His message said: "If your condition warrants, strongly advise your bank to make immediate application for membership in the federal reserve in order that you may participate in the advantages of membership under the new regulations."

Two Security Banks to Pay Depositors in Full and Close

Directors of the Security Bank of Chicago, 765 Milwaukee avenue, and the Second Security bank of Chicago, 1965 Milwaukee avenue, last night voted to pay off their depositors in full and cease operations.

The announcement was made by Norman B. Collins, president of both banks, following a meeting of the directors of each in the Security bank. James B. Forgan Jr., vice president and director of the First National bank of Chicago, is chairman of the boards of both banks.

Approximately $4,000,000 will be returned to the depositors of the two banks, according to the announcement of Mr. Collins, which stated that due to large withdrawals prior to the banking holiday continued operation of the banks would not be profitable. A 5 per cent limitation on deposit withdrawals was decreed by the directors of the two banks on Friday, March 3, the day before the declaration of the banking holiday.

Security Bank 27 Years Old.

The Security bank has served the community for 27 years, having been organized in 1906 by James B. Forgan, then chairman of the board of the First National, and J. C. Hansen, who became president. The Second Security bank was established in 1911.

The following statement, prepared by the directors, was issued by Mr. Collins:

"The directors of the Security Bank of Chicago and the Second Security Bank of Chicago wish to express their appreciation to those depositors who have remained loyal to the banks and their community during this unsettled period.

Decide to Discontinue.

"A large number of depositors, however, withdrew their funds, which made profitable operation impossible. The directors have decided to discontinue the banking services of these two banks and have arranged that all deposits be paid in full on demand.

"As soon, therefore, as the auditor of the state of Illinois authorizes banks not members of the federal reserve system to open, the Security Bank of Chicago and Second Security Bank of Chicago will open to pay their deposits in full. No more deposits will be received.

HOARDERS GIVEN UNTIL FRIDAY TO EXCHANGE GOLD

Define Currency Now Under U. S. Ban.

Secretary of the Treasury Woodin yesterday notified officials of the Chicago Federal Reserve bank that the deadline for hoarders to bring in their gold and gold certificates has been extended from today until Friday. Federal reserve officials have been asked to send all available names and addresses of those who have withdrawn gold since Feb. 1 and who have not deposited or exchanged it by March 17 to the secretary of the treasury.

Since the order to turn in gold was issued, $100,000,000 in gold has been turned in at New York and $23,000,000 here. Millions have been turned in at other centers.

Heavy Gold Disbursements.

During February and the first week of March $420,000,000 in gold and gold certificates was dispersed by the national treasury, and $126,000,000 in gold was withdrawn from the federal reserve system on the two days before the national bank holiday. As of March 9, the total gold held by the treasury was $3,170,953,972, of which $818,940,502 was in coin and $2,352,013,470 in bullion.

Much confusion exists, according to inquiries received by banks and newspapers, as to the type of currency demanded by the government in its anti-hoarding proclamation. Besides gold coin and bullion, only gold certificates should be turned in. These can be distinguished by their color, the "yellow backs." Some of the old large size gold certificates were yellow on both sides, but all are yellow on at least one side.

Treasury Notes Not Included.

Many persons have inquired whether they should turn in their federal reserve notes, because they are "redeemable in gold on demand at the treasury and in gold or lawful money at any federal reserve bank."

These need not be turned in nor any other kind of paper currency except gold certificates.

The federal reserve bank's currency exchange, operated at 126 South La Salle street during the banking holiday, will not be open today because of the opening of the banks. Hoarded gold may be exchanged at the reserve bank or any open bank.

ROOSEVELT GOES ON AIR TO TELL BANK SITUATION

Explains What U. S. Did in Crisis.

mal times is wholly sufficient to cover the cash needs of the average citizen. In other words, the total amount of all the currency in the country is only a small fraction of the total deposits in all of the banks.

Here's What Happened.

"What, then, happened during the last few days of February and the first few days of March? Because of undermined confidence on the part of the public there was a general rush by a large portion of our population to turn bank deposits into currency or gold—a rush so great that the soundest banks could not get enough currency to meet the demand.

"The reason for this was that on the spur of the moment it was, of course, impossible to sell perfectly sound assets of a bank and convert them into cash except at panic prices far below their real value.

"By the afternoon of March 3 scarcely a bank in the country was open to do business. Proclamations temporarily closing them in whole or in part had been issued by the governors in almost all the states.

"It was then that I issued the proclamation providing for the nationwide bank holiday, and this was the first step in the government's reconstruction of our financial and economic fabric.

Remedial Legislation Rushed.

"The second step was the legislation promptly and patriotically passed by the congress confirming my proclamation and broadening my powers so that it became possible in view of the requirement of time to extend the holiday and lift the ban of that holiday gradually. This law also gave authority to develop a program of rehabilitation of our banking facilities.

"I want to tell our citizens in every part of the nation that the national congress—Republicans and Democrats alike—showed by this action a devotion to public welfare and a realization of the emergency and necessity for speed that it is difficult to match in our history.

"The third stage has been the series of regulations permitting the banks to continue their functions to take care of the distribution of food and household necessities and the payment of pay rolls.

New Currency Provided.

"This bank holiday while resulting in many cases in great inconvenience is affording us the opportunity to supply the currency necessary to meet the situation. No sound bank is a dollar worse off than it was when it closed its doors last Monday. Neither is any bank which may turn out not to be in a position for immediate opening.

"The new law allows the twelve federal reserve banks to issue additional currency on good assets and thus the banks which reopen will be able to meet every legitimate call. The new currency is being sent out by the bureau of engraving and printing in large volume to every part of the country. It is sound currency because it is backed by actual, good assets.

"A question you will ask is this—Why are all the banks not to be reopened at the same time? The answer is simple. Your government does not intend that the history of the past few years shall be repeated. We do not want and will not have another epidemic of bank failures.

Open Reserve Cities First.

"As a result we start tomorrow, Monday, with the opening of banks in the twelve federal reserve bank cities—those banks which on first examination by the treasury have already been found to be all right.

"This will be followed on Tuesday by the resumption of all their functions by banks already found to be sound in cities where there are recognized clearing houses. That means about 250 cities of the United States.

"On Wednesday and succeeding days banks in smaller places all through the country will resume business, subject, of course, to the government's physical ability to complete its survey. It is necessary that the reopening of banks be extended over a period in order to permit the banks to make applications for necessary loans, to obtain currency needed to meet their requirements, and to enable the government to make common sense checkups.

"Let me make it clear to you that if your bank does not open the first day you are by no means justified in believing that it will not open. A bank that opens on one of the subsequent days is in exactly the same status as the bank that opens tomorrow.

State Banks Taken Care Of.

"I know that many people are worrying about state banks not members of the federal reserve system. These banks can and will receive assistance from member banks and from the Reconstruction Finance corporation. These state banks are following the same course as the national banks except that they get their licenses to resume business from the state authorities, and these authorities have been asked by the secretary of the treasury to permit their good banks to open up on the same schedule as the national banks.

"I am confident that the state banking departments will be as careful as the national government in the policy relating to the opening of banks and will follow the same broad policy.

"It is possible that when the banks resume a very few people who have not recovered from their fear may again begin withdrawals. Let me make it clear that the banks will take care of all needs—and it is my belief that hoarding during the last week has become an exceedingly unfashionable pastime.

Reopened Banks Safe.

"It needs no prophet to tell you that when the people find that they can get their money—that they can get it when they want it for all legitimate purposes—the phantom of fear will soon be laid. People will again be glad to have their money where it will be safely taken care of and where they can use it conveniently at any time. I can assure you that it is safer to keep your money in a reopened bank than under the mattress.

"The success of our whole great national program depends, of course, upon the coöperation of the public—on its intelligent support and use of a reliable system.

"Remember that the essential accomplishment of the new legislation is that it makes it possible for banks more readily to convert their assets into cash than was the case before. More liberal provision has been made for banks to borrow on these assets at the reserve banks and more liberal provision has also been made for issuing currency on the security of these good assets. This currency is not fiat currency. It is issued only on adequate security—and every good bank has an abundance of such security.

Must Reorganze Some Banks.

"One more point before I close. There will be, of course, some banks unable to reopen without being reorganized. The new law allows the government to assist in making these reorganizations quickly and effectively and even allows the government to subscribe to at least a part of new capital which may be required.

"I hope you can see from this elemental recital of what your government is doing—that there is nothing complex or radical in the process.

"We had a bad banking situation. Some of our bankers had shown themselves either incompetent or dishonest in their handling of the people's funds. They had used the money intrusted to them in speculations and unwise loans. This was, of course, not true in the vast majority of our banks, but it was true in enough of them to shock the people for a time into a sense of insecurity and to put them into a frame of mind where they did not differentiate, but seemed to assume that the acts of a comparative few had tainted them all.

"It was the government's job to straighten out this situation and do it as quickly as possible—and the job is being performed.

Serious Losses Prevented.

"I do not promise you that every bank will be reopened or that individual losses will not be suffered, but there will be no losses that possibly could be avoided; and there would have been more and greater losses had we continued to drift. I can even promise you salvation for some at least of the sorely pressed banks. We shall be engaged not merely in reopening sound banks but in the creation of sound banks through reorganization.

"It has been wonderful to me to catch the note of confidence from all over the country. I can never be sufficiently grateful to the people for the loyal support they have given me in their acceptance of the judgment that has dictated our course, even though all our processes may not have seemed clear to them.

"After all there is an element in the readjustment of our financial system more important than currency, more important than gold, and that is the confidence of the people. Confidence and courage are the essentials of success in carrying out our plan.

"You people must have faith; you must not be stampeded by rumors or guesses. Let us unite in banishing fear. We have provided the machinery to restore our financial system; it is up to you to support and make it work.

"It is your problem no less than it is mine. Together we cannot fail."

NASH SUCCEEDS CERMAK AS HEAD OF COUNTY PARTY

Council to Get Opinion on Electing Mayor.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

A special meeting of the city council to be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning was called last night for the sole purpose of receiving an opinion from Corporation Counsel Sexton on whether the council is legally empowered to pick an alderman as acting mayor. The call was the outcome of a session of the Democratic organization, including committeemen, aldermen, and office holders held at the Morrison hotel. Until the Sexton opinion is handed down, the matter of filling the vacant chair of Mayor Cermak is to be held in abeyance.

P. A. NASH.

By unanimous vote, the Democratic organization elected County Chairman Patrick A. Nash as successor to Mayor Cermak as leader of the party in Cook county. His name is also to be recommended to the state committee when it meets this week for the purpose of selecting a national committeeman to fill the Cermak vacancy.

Nash Influence for Harmony.

Mr. Nash, one of the old leaders in Chicago politics, is regarded by the Democrats as the greatest harmonizing influence in the organization. He is one of the old chiefs who followed the late Roger C. Sullivan, for years the party leader. Mr. Nash for many years was next door neighbor of Mr. Sullivan on the west side. He was close to the inner circle which embraced Mr. Sullivan, John P. Hopkins, John F. O'Malley and George E. Brennan, all now dead.

The new Democratic leader was an old and close friend of Mayor Cermak, whom he succeeded as county chairman two years ago when Mr. Cermak became mayor. Years ago Mr. Nash served nine months on the board of assessors, appointed to fill the David Pfaelzer vacancy. In 1918 he was elected to the board of review. Six years later, in 1924, he went down in the Coolidge landslide, being beaten by William H. Weber, but he ran more than 125,000 votes ahead of the Democratic national ticket. Mr. Nash was born in Chicago in 1863. In one or two campaigns of old he has been listed among the preliminary candidates for mayor.

Ald. Henry Sonnenschein, secretary to Mayor Cermak, was appointed to succeed Mayor Cermak as committeeman from the 22d ward, a place the late mayor held for twenty-five years.

In Session for Hours.

For four hours the Democrats met in executive session at the Morrison hotel to discuss the question of filling the office of mayor. Much of the time was spent in speeches laudatory of Mr. Nash after County Clerk R. M. Sweitzer had moved he be elected party chief in Cook county.

Mr. Sexton, who had been asked to provide an opinion as to what powers the council may possess in filling the mayoralty vacancy, sent his regrets, saying he must first give it to the city council. So the meeting decided that the council should be called in special session tomorrow. Thirty Democratic aldermen were present, and the call was signed forthwith and given to Peter J. Brady, city clerk.

The party organization is also to meet tomorrow morning after the Sexton opinion has been given to the council. Its subsequent action will depend upon the nature of the opinion. The council meets in regular session Wednesday afternoon.

Seeks Expert Advice.

Controller M. S. Szymczak announced that he had asked the firm of Chapman & Cutler, security experts, upon whose advice bankers rely regarding public securities, for an opinion as to the legal powers of an acting mayor to sign bonds, warrants, and other documents. Mr. Szymczak explained that as an administrative officer his concern is to know if such signature would be regarded valid and enable bonds to be sold. The opinion is to be given today.

Meanwhile attention switches to Springfield, where amendments to the cities and villages act designed to clear up disputed points are expected to be presented as emergency measures. The proposed amendments aim at allowing the city council to appoint an acting mayor from inside or outside the body of aldermen, and at clothing him with full powers.

Some of the legislative talent maintained the amendments, in order to obtain speedy action, might be incorporated in an election bill which has passed the senate and is now on second reading in the house. The question then arises whether 102 votes can be obtained in the house, where the Democrats have 80 members. The belief was expressed that 22 Republican votes would not prove so difficult to get if it was demonstrated that it was for the best interests of Chicago and the taxpayers. Conferences are expected to be held in Springfield tonight.

Some Urge Quick Action.

By an amendment allowing the council to pick an acting mayor from within or without its ranks, the Democrats hold the aldermen would be given a wider range of selection. Some of the aldermen pointed out that the budget must be published by March 20, making fast action necessary, while against this the argument was raised that with Chicago in its present financial situation it would be useless to elect any acting mayor unless he was certain of possessing full legal powers as mayor.

Among the Democratic aldermen spoken of, in case Mr. Sexton should advise the council to pick one of its own members, are Thomas A. Doyle [13th], J. M. Arvey [24th], James B. Bowler [25th], John S. Clark [30th], and Wiley W. Mills [37th]. Among Republicans spoken of are: Ald. Oscar F. Nelson [46th] and John A. Massen [48th].

Several of the party leaders, among them State's Attorney Thomas Courtney, counseled that no hasty action be taken, and that with the question of legality the subject of much difference of legal opinion, it would be to the best interests of Chicago to await full protection by emergency legislation.

STATE AUDITOR EXPLAINS BASIS OF REOPENING

Emphasizes That Other Banks Will Qualify.

In his statement issued early today, with the authorization for the opening of seventeen state banks in Chicago, State Auditor Edward J. Barrett said:

"The closing of every bank in the state placed upon all citizens and depositors a serious burden. The state and national authorities have been cooperating, to the end that a constructive program be adopted, in order that banking accommodations be restored as quickly as possible to the entire state.

"To accomplish this purpose and to insure a continuance of operation of the banks reopening, also to promote confidence as quickly as possible, and with the sincere hope that all banks reopening will remain open, the following plans are hereby established, on and by the authority vested in me as auditor of public accounts of the state of Illinois:

"Such banks as have qualified under the federal reserve system and have been licensed to open by the federal authorities, and have, in addition thereto, received my consent to reopen, which consent has been delivered by telegram to all banks that are entitled thereto at this time, will open for business on Monday, March 13, 1933.

Other Banks to Reopen.

"It is contemplated that from time to time other banks not reopening on Monday will meet the qualifications of the federal reserve system and the requirements of the auditor's office, and authority to reopen will be delivered to such institutions as the qualifications required are complied with.

"It should be clearly understood, however, that the delayed opening of any institution does not reflect on the condition thereof. The colossal task of complying with federal reserve regulations, in order to obtain license to reopen, will naturally in many instances necessitate delay. It is a physical impossibility to open all banks simultaneously and banks must, of necessity, be opened progressively.

"It is hoped that, as state auditor, I will be able, at an early date, to formulate plans which will provide banking facilities for communities denied banking facilities on account of the failure of banks formerly located in said communities to reopen, and it is planned to adopt regulations whereby deposits may be accepted, placed in trust, and segregated, change effected, and drafts honored.

Conditions Are Stated.

"The conditions for reopening, until further ruling, shall be as follows:

"No bank or trust company shall be permitted to reopen on a restricted basis.

"All Illinois state banks that are members of the federal reserve system and licensed to reopen by the federal reserve system shall open for business on Monday, March 13, 1933, provided they have received the authority of this department to reopen.

"No Illinois state bank shall open without the authority of this department.

"All banks shall remain closed in accordance with national regulations as to banking holidays until such time as they have met the requirements of the federal reserve system and received the license of the federal reserve system to reopen, together with the authority and approval of the auditor of public accounts. Both the license of the federal reserve system and the authority of the auditor of public accounts' office are required at this time. This is in accordance with the view of Gov. Horner, who issued the previous proclamation, that state action and national action be harmonious.

"All banks that have met the regulations now required have been instructed by this office to open, and all banks and trust companies not having received instructions from this office to resume business shall remain closed until directions to reopen have been received from this department.

"Further regulations regarding state banks may be issued later and modifications may be made hereto from time to time."

2 DETROIT BANKS MAY BE MERGED UNDER U. S. PLAN

Detroit, Mich., March 12.—(AP)—A federal plan for the formation of one new Detroit bank out of the Guardian National Bank of Commerce and the First National bank was tentatively accepted by directors of the two institutions tonight.

The proposed new bank, to be maintained on a 100 per cent liquid basis, would release 227 million dollars in currency for distribution among depositors of the two present banks as soon as transfers can be effected.

Under the federal government's plan, large depositors of the Guardian National and the First National would raise $5,000,000 to provide capital for the new bank.

The Reconstruction Finance corporation would take $20,000,000 in preferred stock. The depositors raising the $5,000,000 would receive the equivalent in common stock.

Simultaneously the Detroit clearing house announced tonight that it had abandoned plans for issuing $26,000,000 in scrip tomorrow because it had discovered that counterfeit scrip had been printed. It was decided to release an equivalent amount of cash instead.

The cash release will approximate 5 per cent of the deposits. One payment of a 5 per cent was authorized by the banks soon after they were closed by Gov. William A. Comstock's proclamation of a statewide banking holiday Feb. 14.

Under the plan for the new bank, approximately 30 per cent of the deposits in the Guardian National and the First National would be made available. This, plus the two 5 per cent releases, would make a total of about 40 per cent.

Hoarding Also Is Hit by Regulation.

passing on the condition of banks in their respective cities applying for licenses to reopen.

Chicago First in Action.

The reserve banks reported to the treasury the banks found sound and deserving of licenses. The treasury then wired approval of the licenses to the reserve banks which late in the evening began issuing lists of the banks in their communities that will reopen tomorrow. The Chicago reserve bank was the first to release a list of approved banks.

Seven types of banks and the Reconstruction Finance corporation were granted permission to open tomorrow morning in a series of regulations handed down late in the afternoon by Mr. Woodin. The banks to which the permission was given include the 12 federal reserve banks and their agencies, all banks not under either state or national supervisions, federal and joint stock land banks, federal intermediate credit banks, federal home loan banks, and regional agricultural credit associations, pawnbrokers, automobile credit associations, and private banking houses such as J. P. Morgan & Co.

Restrictions laid down by the President in his proclamation of March 10 still apply, Secretary Woodin said in his regulations and in the case of the land banks, intermediate credit banks, home loan banks, and regional agricultural credit associations the permission to reopen was expressly made tentative.

Foreign Demand Continues.

In the preliminary studies during the last day or so, three possible developments with respect to the international price of the dollar have been discussed. The first of these is that the large and continuing favorable trade balance of this country will tend to keep the dollar not far from par.

It is pointed out that this country differs from others which have suspended specie payments in being a heavy creditor and in continuing to show a favorable trade balance.

The second possible development now foreseen is that apart from the natural demand for dollars abroad the interests of various foreign countries, especially Great Britain, in preserving the advantages of somewhat depreciated currencies will tend artificially to sustain the dollar.

The largest known factor in the artificial maintenance of the existing ratios between the leading currencies is the British stabilization fund. The belief here is that the British are very keen to continue to enjoy the advantages which they enjoy in the export market by keeping the pound about one-third below par in terms of the dollar.

ANOTHER QUAKE HITS CALIFORNIA TEMBLOR REGION

Epicenter at Long Beach; Damage Slight.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., March 12.—[Special.]—This earthquake ravaged region experienced another temblor, the most powerful since the original major shock of last Friday night, at 5:35 p. m. [10:35 Chicago time]. The epicenter of the new shock apparently was at Long Beach. A preliminary checkup indicated little damage was caused and there were no reports of casualties.

The temblor was acutely felt in Los Angeles, and was followed 12 minutes later by a lesser after-shock. In contrast to the sharp, jolting movement of the Friday night quake, tonight's shock was a churning, twisting movement which subsided gradually.

This latest earth shock did not even interrupt southern California's task of inventorying and repairing the damage wrought by the series of temblors which completely devastated some of Los Angeles' suburbs.

Death Toll 115.

Latest estimates place the death toll at 115, with 16 other persons missing in Long Beach, which with Compton was the worst hit of the suburbs. Higher totals of deaths given out previously were due to duplications in hastily gathered reports, officials said. Property damage was roughly estimated at 50 million dollars. No accurate figures can be had on the number of injured, since many of these have been unable to find room in hospitals, but the total is believed to be around 2,500.

Start Building Inspections.

While frightened tourists jammed eastbound trains and planes, building inspectors began to make their reports. Among the structures which they condemned were the old red sandstone courthouse, and those at the old county farm. They found 142 Los Angeles school buildings damaged to such an extent that it is considered unsafe to hold classes in them, and as a result the city schools were ordered closed for a week.

J. J. Backus, city building inspector, issued a statement endeavoring to minimize the quake damage in the city, which he placed at half a million dollars, but reports of other civic agencies disagreed with his optimism. County building inspectors closed the courthouse while he was issuing the statement, and officers of the board of education placed the cost of repairs to school buildings alone at between one and two million dollars.

With 20,000 bluejackets and marines from the United States fleet available for police duty if they are needed, there was practically no looting of destroyed homes and stores. Fire authorities said there was little danger of a conflagration, gas mains having been shut off in the worst stricken areas with just such a hazard in view.

Disease Presents Problem.

The most immediate problems are the prevention of disease due to possible pollution of water supplies, and the furnishing of food, drink, and shelter to refugees whose number now exceeds the 100,000 mark. To prevent disease, all water used for drinking purposes in the stricken area must be boiled.

At Long Beach, worst hit of the larger suburbs, the city water was shut off for fear that broken mains might be polluted by sewage. This action was unnecessary in Compton, where the damage was even more severe. Gas and water mains there were ruptured in the earth.

Th United States navy is in complete charge at Long Beach, where the toll of lives was the greatest and where property damage is estimated at 25 million dollars. The majority of the 140,000 citizens of that city are living in the open, fearful because of continuing temblors to return to their shaken and half demolished homes.

They slept last night curled up in automobiles, under improvised tents, or in blankets before thousands of fires which they kindled in public parks and vacant lots.

Long Beach Names Dictator.

Charles S. Henderson, former city manager of Long Beach, has been given dictatorial powers in the civil administration of the city. He was given authority by the civic rehabilitation committee to revoke the licenses of any merchants found to be profiteering.

The committee has applied to the state for $500,000 in relief funds to feed those in the destroyed areas, and requests are already being formulated in Los Angeles, Long Beach and other cities for relief funds from the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

Los Angeles and southern California will ask that these loans be made not only to municipalities and corporations but to individuals as well. Santa Ana has condemned its city hall and started wrecking the building, and city officials have decided to apply to the R. F. C. for a $750,000 loan. This money would be used both for public purposes and to assist business men who lack funds for repairs.

At Long Beach it was said that a preliminary inquiry had shown that few of the property owners in the city carried earthquake insurance and that many of them will lose title to their property unless a mortgage moratorium is declared or loan arrangements made through the banks.

The banks of the city are in good financial condition, it was said unofficially, and the rehabilitation committee is expected to ask the secretary of the treasury for special regulations permitting them to open and disburse funds for earthquake relief.

Los Angeles sent 100 building inspectors to Long Beach, and firemen and volunteer crews organized by contractors started to pull down walls, still standing, which were considered hazardous. As quickly as the inspectors pronounce buildings still standing to be safe efforts will be made to reopen them. Consent for such action must be had from naval authorities, which closed the buildings.

Trolley Service Resumed.

The Pacific Electric company reopened trolley service into Long Beach today, but automobile traffic into that city was still barred. Thousands of machines, occupied by sightseers or persons anxious for relatives in the stricken city, jammed the roads leading to it, and seriously impeded the progress of trucks carrying food into the area.

Emergency kitchens and bread lines opened at 6 a. m. and served all comers without question throughout the day. Army rolling kitchens from Fort MacArthur and Los Angeles National Guard armories helped in feeding the multitude, and tank trucks hauled safe drinking water to the city.

Compton, a much smaller city than Long Beach, is the hardest hit town in the whole Los Angeles area. The total damage there is estimated at 5 million dollars, and not a building is standing in the business district. Even one-story frame bungalows, ordinarily considered quakeproof, show the violence of the temblors. Scores of these dwellings were lifted from their foundations, with sagging walls and burst door and window frames.

Huntington Park, Watts, Santa Ana and other communities in that vicinity also suffered heavy damage. Half a dozen of these municipalities have had to condemn their city halls. Of 152 cities in southern California which reported the effects of the quake, 29 listed serious damage.

Since churches were among the buildings which suffered worst in the quake, both in Los Angeles and suburbs, most religious services today were held in the open. The ministers of Long Beach conducted five union services in public parks. Several towns have a ban on indoor assemblies.

Mrs. Rheba Crawford Splivalo, state director of social welfare, who years ago was famous as the Salvation Army's "Angel of Broadway" in New York, organized the "spiritual clinic" of clergymen of all faiths.

Estimates of Quake Losses in Southern California Area

Los Angeles, Cal., March 12.—(AP)—A summary of earthquake damage figures, some of them tentative or based upon cursory surveys, but the only ones available, indicated today the loss would be between $35,000,000 and $40,000,000. The summary:

Long Beach, $25,000,000.
Compton, $6,000,000 down to $4,000,000.
Los Angeles, *$2,225,000 down to $1,125,000.
Huntington Park, $1,000,000 down to $600,000.
San Pedro, Wilmington, and other harbor, $1,300,000.
Santa Ana, *$1,250,000.
South Gate, $600,000.
Huntington Beach, $600,000.
Norwalk, $375,000.
Anaheim, $300,000.
Seal Beach, $260,000.
Watts, $200,000.
Bell, $200,000.
Harmonsa Beach, *$100,000.
Redondo Beach, $100,000.
Inglewood, $100,000.
Laguna Beach, $100,000.
Gardena, $750,000 down to $450,000.
Sunset Beach, $25,000.
Whittier, $20,000.
Hawthorne, $10,000.
Maywood, $2,000.
Manhattan Beach, $1,000.

*Figures thus marked were given as very tentative and subject to correction. Some overlapping was probable. This was particularly true in the case of Los Angeles. The downtown damage was estimated at about $250,000, and to that was added an estimate of a loss of between $1,000,000 and $2,000,000 to the buildings of the Los Angeles school district, which extends into some of the other communities reporting damage figures.

PAUSES IN CHICAGO ON FLIGHT TO CAPITAL FOR QUAKE RELIEF

Scenes of chaos in the Los Angeles earthquake area were described yesterday by William Evans, president of the chamber of commerce in Culver City, Los Angeles suburb, who arrived in Chicago on a United Air Lines plane bound for Washington to seek R. F. C. funds for relief purposes. Mr. Evans was with a friend in the Biltmore hotel in Los Angeles when the first temblor occurred. He and his friend ran from the hotel to a nearby park, and looked back to see a heavy stone cornice topple and smash on the sidewalk before the door they had just left.

We Kept the Real Paris Story Under Our Hats!

AGNES brought the first skyscrapers to Paris.

After the first storm over high-crowns broke . . . we slipped quietly back into Paris for our real coup d'etat. We had a hunch something more was going to happen. Hats couldn't just stop at skyscrapers! So, for the first time, a millinery buyer went to the dress designers' first showings. A mad hatter, you say . . . but what a premonition! The dressmakers sprung a collection of hats that all Paris is still talking about. NEW DELINQUENT TAX COLLECTION LAWS UP TODAY

Officials to Begin Draft of Installment Plan.

Preparation of laws which will allow delinquent 1928, 1929 and 1930 taxes to be collected in annual installments will begin today at a meeting of city and county officials in the office of County Treasurer McDonough. With representatives of the Sargent committee on public expenditures and of a group of bankers, the treasurer expects to complete the skeleton outline of exact provisions in measures which must be validated by the state legislature.

The new laws must be twofold, the treasurer said. They will not only provide for the acceptance by the treasurer of annual installments against the aggregate bills, but they also will provide for the protection of property belonging to those taxpayers who agree to pay these taxes on the installment plan.

Six Year Period Planned.

When first suggested by the treasurer it was believed that the measures should provide for 25 per cent payments over a four year period. Later suggestions by members of the Chicago Real Estate board and private citizens indicated a sentiment for lengthening the period of payment to six years and decreasing slightly the percentage of annual payments. Action on these suggestions will be taken today.

The law, as sketched by Attorney Thomas D. Nash, must allow the treasurer to withhold property of those who pay in installments from forfeiture and sale. To obtain this protection, the lawyer said, taxpayers must make the initial payment and sign some sort of agreement to continue to pay on schedule.

The law will contain some such paragraph as does the standard mortgage agreement which will bring due immediately all the outstanding payments if property owners fall behind in their payments, Attorney Nash said. He added that a preliminary examination of the law indicated that the desired statutes might be obtained by amendment of certain paragraphs of the revenue act.

Little Opposition Seen.

It was explained by attorneys yesterday that even after the bills have been drafted and presented to the legislature it will take at least 10 days for their passage. The treasurer has said that he can put the bills up for second reading immediately, and a campaign among the legislators has convinced him that there will be but little opposition to the passage of the laws.

Assessor J. L. Jacobs and both George F. Nixon and Fred W. Brummel, members of the board of tax appeals, will attend the meeting of all Illinois county assessors at Springfield today. The meeting, at which methods of standardizing assessment of property will be considered, will last for two days.

The county treasurer's office remained open yesterday to receive 1931 tax payments and approximately 1,000 property owners paid in the neighborhood of $100,000.

ASK TAXPAYERS' SUPPORT

The Civic federation and Bureau of Public Efficiency yesterday took a stand in opposition to a number of bills pending before the general assembly at Springfield on the grounds that tax increases are threatened in the measures. It requested taxpayers to write to their senators and representatives urging the defeat of all bills that will increase property taxes or add new activities of government.

The bills listed in the federation's bulletin, which was signed by Alfred Cowles, president, and Douglas Sutherland, executive secretary, are the following, "H. B." denoting house bills and "S. B." senate bills:

H. B. 301—To increase tax rate for Chicago school working cash fund from 10 cents to 20 cents per $100 assessed value and make it effective in 1933 instead of 1935 as now provided.

H. B. 312—To pay school engineers and janitors out of school building tax fund instead of educational fund. Also to remove the limitation that beginning with 1934 the educational levy shall not exceed that of the previous year by more than 4 per cent.

S. B. 41—To increase state blind pension tax from 1 cent to 2 cents, and relieve counties of their share of the cost.

S. B. 42—To permit Chicago to levy a public benefit tax of 10 cents per $100 assessed value for street improvements.

S. B. 221—Would authorize Chicago to issue without referendum $2,600,000 in bonds for garbage incinerator and site.

S. B. 43 and H. B. 126—Old age pensions with initial state tax of 5 cents per $100 assessed value.

S. B. 164 and H. B. 126—Old age pensions of more generous terms than above to be financed by state appropriation with no tax limit.

S. B. 235 and H. B. 228—would permit establishemin of prevailing rate of wage on public works by governmental units.

S. B. 234 and H. B. 229—To require all governmental units to establish a prevailing rate of wage on public works.

S. B. 241 and H. B. 208—To create governmental agency to establish and operate a west side medical center with provision for selling bonds against earnings.

S. B. 154—To provide for levee improvement commissions with bond issuing power in cities outside of Chicago situated upon navigable streams.

S. B. 245 and 246—Would authorize municipalities outside Chicago to construct sewage systems by bond issue without referendum if bonds are made payable only from operating revenues.

S. B. 302—To permit schools outside Chicago to issue bonds without referendum to pay legal claims and teachers' orders. Bond taxes to be in addition to present school taxes.

"H. B. 313 represents one more effort to dip into the school building fund in order to pay the current expenditures of the board of education which now are required to come from the educational fund," the bulletin said. "The taxpayers of Chicago will be injured and not helped by shifting this burden to the building fund, and schools in the long run will be injured by the proposed change.

"Then pending bills to establish a prevailing rate of wage on public works, and to establish at taxpayers' expense—in addition to the general relief funds being raised with such difficulty—a special system of relief, improperly called pensions, restricted to needy persons above a certain age, certainly should receive scant consideration from the general assembly in times like the present."

Economy Bill Comes Before Senate for Action Today

ECONOMY BILL FOES IN HOUSE REPUDIATED BY TAMMANY CHIEF

New York, March 12.—(AP)—John H. McCooey, Democratic leader of Brooklyn and member of the national committee, telegraphed President Roosevelt today repudiating the action of representatives from his territory who voted against the administration economy bill in the house yesterday.

"Have repudiated action of Brooklyn congressmen in voting against economy bill," McCooey's telegram said. "See Monday moring papers for statement."

The statement follows:

"The action of the members of the house of representatives from this county in voting against the legislation proposed by the President does not meet with my personal approval and I am confident is likewise displeasing to the people of Brooklyn. I know that the President will deal in a fair and impartial manner in the matter of veterans' pensions and I am firmly convinced that those who are not of this opinion are unduly alarmed. Never has our country been in the sad plight which has enveloped it for over three years and the President is entitled to and must receive the support of every American citizen and their representatives in congress in his efforts to end the depression and restore the country to its former prosperous condition."

SENATE DEBATES ECONOMY TODAY; APPROVAL SEEN

Several Days May Elapse Before Vote Comes.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 12.—[Special.]—The full force of administration influence will be turned on capitol hill tomorrow where the senate, at noon, will begin consideration of the Roosevelt economy bill designed to cut veterans' costs 400 millions and the pay of federal employes 125 millions.

The passage of the measure which the house accomplished yesterday in part of one afternoon is expected to require in the senate four or five days of tedious debate. But the result, leaders of both parties agree, is bound to be the same.

The house balloting yesterday resulted in a vote of 266 to 128. Senate leaders believe they can deliver approximately the same two to one proportion and so give to President Roosevelt virtually autocratic power to lop 40 per cent off the yearly billion dollar bill for veterans and to make a maximum cut of 15 per cent in the federal pay roll.

Face Triple Threat.

As the senators await the opening of the debate, they face in President Roosevelt a triple threat player in the political game of getting things done.

For the Democrats, there is the threat of patronage disposal, a question which the President does not intend to discuss until the bills he wants are safely through.

For the farmers' friends, there is farm relief legislation, which is not going to be put through until the farmers' friends have proved themselves friends of the White House.

For the radicals who are sure to oppose employes' pay cuts and some of whom will oppose curtailment of veterans' benefits, there is the proposed bill for unemployment relief by way of a half billion dollar bond issue for public works. That, too, instead of being introduced tomorrow as some members of congress were inclined to believe, will be held up until the economy bill is safely passed and signed.

Both Democrats and Republicans of the senate are scheduled to meet in party conferences tomorrow morning before the debate begins. The meetings are not expected to be caucuses and will therefore lack the binding effect of the formal party gathering, but they will allow leaders to exercise their persuasive influence in private and to learn just how great and how long drawn out from an oratorical viewpoint the opposition is likely to be.

In giving approval to the economy bill, congress will in effect be confessing its own inability and failure to act.

Economy bills there have been before, as the depression cut into the huge federal revenues of boom days and sent the deficit mounting higher and higher.

Programs Torn Down.

In the session before last an economy bill was introduced in the house calculated to cut federal costs more than 250 million dollars. By the time it left the house the savings remaining in it were less than 50 millions. A senate economy committee built it up again only to have it again torn down. A 50 million dollar saving in veterans' benefits was stricken and a total economy program of only some 140 millions was finally adopted.

In the session just concluded, President Hoover in his budget message recommended a further federal pay cut and amendments to veterans' law which would result in a saving of nearly 200 millions, 127 millions of which would come out of veterans' appropriations. Both recommendations were cast aside by congress, and a plan adopted to bring in new classes of employes under the pay cut to save some 16 millions.

Veterans relief costs the taxpayers of the country approximately a billion dollars a year. The per capita outlay per year in veterans benefits on the basis of men mobilized is $181 for the United States, $34 for France, $26 for Great Britain, $12 for Italy, $99 for Canada, and $23 for Germany. On the basis of men killed or wounded, the annual per capita benefits of the several countries are: United States, $3,669; France, $51; Great Britain, $58; Italy, $44; Canada, $262, and Germany, $49.

URGES SERVICE MEN TO SUPPORT FEDERAL ECONOMY PROGRAM

Brig. Gen. Thomas S. Hammond, president of the Illinois Manufacturers' association, yesterday issued an appeal to former service men of Illinois to repudiate the activites of "alleged representatives of veterans in Washington who are endeavoring to block President Roosevelt's economy program."

Gen. Hammond is commander of the 65th infantry brigade of the Illinois National Guard and is an officer of the American Legion.

"The individuals in Washington who purport to represent war veterans and who in conjunction with federal bureaucrats and office holders are apparently endeavoring to block the President's courageous program do not reflect the views of the majority of ex-service men," Gen. Hammond said.

MOBILIZE GUARDS IN AUSTRIA TO PREVENT PUTSCH

Schutzbund Men Ready to Fight for Republic.

VIENNA, March 12.—(AP)—Countless rumors of imminent Nazi or Hapsburg putsches have led the Socialists to order the precautionary mobilization of the schutzbund—the republican guard—to forestall any action from either direction.

Schutzbund men remained in their barracks today. Government troops, to the number of 12,000, are concentrated in Vienna and also are subject to call in their quarters. The military guard at the chancellery was increased to 50 men, instead of 8, today.

Decrees New Economic Policy.

Meanwhile the government of Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss tonight decreed a new economic policy designed to revive trade. This includes an embargo on new business ventures in "overfilled" lines, prohibition of "fixed price" stores [those selling merchandise at extremely low prices], and the rapid extension of highways.

A fervent appeal to support the Dollfuss government in a "strong hand" régime and thus help the nation avoid the fate of Bavaria appeared today in the semi-official newspaper, Reichspost.

[Austria was placed under a dictatorship last week simultaneously with the taking over by Chancellor Adolf Hitler's régime in Germany of the governing power of a number of states. Gen. Franz von Epp, a Nazi leader, was made commissioner of the Bavarian state in Germany.]

The appeal mentioned neither Hitler nor Bavaria directly, but said:

"We see Europe's future dependent on the erection of a new order in the heart of this continent. After a century long break a new German reich must arise; the old imperishable soul of the Holy Roman Empire in new modern guise."

"Long Live Austria," Slogan.

But a German reich with "a centralistic form of state," in which Austria's rôle would be that of a province, the paper said, "could never be a true fulfillment of 1,000 years of German development."

Therefore, says the Reichpost, the national slogan more than ever should be "Long Live Austria."

Soon after the success of the Nazi party in last Sunday's reichstag election in Germany, cries for "anschluss," or union with Germany, arose. Austrian Nazis applauded Chancellor Hitler, the Nazi leader, and he was made an honorary citizen of one Austrian city.

There were recurrent rumors today that Archduke Otto, the 20 year old son of former Emperor Karl, who abdicated at the close of the world war, was returning, and even that he already had arrived in Austria. Three newspapers were suppressed last night for printing reports that Otto was en route to Austria.

5 HIGHWAYMEN IN AUTO HOLD UP 3 STREET CARS

Five bandits using old fashioned highwaymen tactics held up three street car conductors last night. Their procedure was similar in all cases.

The gunmen, riding in an automobile, drew alongside the rear platform of the trolley as it came to a stop. Three of the robbers leaped from their automobile upon the platform, held up the conductor, and jumped back into their automobile.

The victims and losses were: George Fitzgibbons, 4137 Congress street, held up on a Harrison street car at Laflin street, $11; Robert Quill, 641 South Illinois avenue, Oak Park, robbed of $12 on an Ashland avenue car at 14th street. Charles Ruane, 600 North Homan avenue, robbed of $10 on a Damen avenue car at Polk street.

HITLER EXTENDS CONTROL; NAZIS WIN ELECTIONS

Von Hindenburg Discards Republican Flag.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, March 12.—Today's provincial and municipal-communal elections held throughout Prussia were another triumph for the Hitlerites. Chancellor Adolf Hitler and his Nationallist allies even succeeded in increasing their influence over the electorate in comparison to the reichstag elections a week ago.

The victory gave the National Socialists and Nationalists a majority in the national state council which will make it easy for them to enforce legislative changes they are preparing.

Landslide for Nazis.

Nazi landslides and communist recessions were reported in all important cities of this largest and most important German state. The Nationalists slightly improved their position over past communal elections. In Berlin 2,572,073 votes were cast. They were distributed as follows:

Nazis, 934,243; Socialists, 565,443; communists, 499,847; Nationalists, 311,302; Catholic Centrists, 113,939; State party, 52,671; Populists, 17,920; Christian party, 14,335; scattered, 5,843.

The Nazis and Nationalists won a clear majority in the capital even if the communist aldermen are permitted to take their seats. A government spokesman tonight said there is no intention of barring them, although they will not be seated in the reichstag. The communists suffered an enormous blow compared to last Sunday's election, when they received 718,403 votes.

About 200,000 office holders were up for reelection in the provinces and communes.

Memorial services for the world war dead were held throughout the reich today.

President Paul von Hindenburg, Chancellor Hitler and his cabinet presided at Berlin's ceremonies, sitting in the former imperial box in the state opera house on Unter den Linden. Von Hindenburg saluted the audience with his field marshal's baton. The stage was occupied by reichswehr [army] delegations, Nazi storm troops, Hitler guards, National Youths, and students in full regalia.

After the ceremony Von Hindenburg and Hitler reviewed the troops and the president placed a wreath on Berlin's war memorial.

The Hohenzollerns, headed by former Crown Prince Friedrich Wilhelm, attended the memorial ceremonies of the Steel Helmet war veterans' organization. Each political group held its own memorial ceremonies throughout the nation.

"Victory in the national revolution" was proclaimed by Hitler in a speech in which he announced that Von Hindenburg had decreed that Hitler's swastika flag shall share full equality with the old imperial colors until the question of a national flag is settled definitely.

Thus the republican flag was pushed into the discard as the emblem of the German nation.

At the same time the chancellor demanded the strictest discipline of his storm troops and other followers, forbidding them to attempt individual actions without definite orders from responsible leaders.

"On this historical day when we are returning from the ceremonies held to honor the memory of our comrades who died in the war, we are thankful to find our fourteen year struggle is given a symbolical climax in the flag decree," Hitler said. "It is up to us to see that your power henceforth remains unassailable. As your leader and in the name of the government of the national revolution, I call upon you to stand for the honor and dignity of the new régime that it may appear untarnished in future German history.

Predicts New Revolution.

"Now that the executive power is in the hands of national Germany, the second period of our struggle begins. The fight for purification and reforms of the reich will be systematic and directed from above. I therefore order the strictest and blindest discipline from all followers.

"Whoever disturbs the administration or the business world is acting against the government.

"Your overwhelming fidelity, discipline and sacrifices made the victory possible. In a few weeks one of the greatest revolutions Germany ever witnessed will be accomplished, thanks to your work and influence."

After the services, Hitler and Dr. Wilhelm Frick, minister of interior, went by airplane to Munich to direct negotiations for the formation of the new Bavarian government.

Jews Seek Poland's Protection.

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

WARSAW, March 12.—Eighty thousand Polish Nationals residing in Germany, most of them Jews, urgently are seeking the Polish government's protection, according to a delegate from the unions of Polish Jews in Saxony. He has arrived here to ask facilities for 2,000 Jews applying for passports to leave Germany.

More than 100 Jews from Leipzig alone have crossed the upper Silesian frontier. Altogether about 500 families have already returned to Poland. The Polish Nationals complain of their treatment to the Polish consulates, which are working overtime to send them home.

The Polish commissioner in Danzig has been asked for protection by Polish Jews residing in the free city, who have been assailed by Nazi storm troops.

SENATOR DAVIS HAS UNCOMFORTABLE DAY AFTER AN OPERATION

Pittsburgh, Pa., March 12.—(AP)—Senator James J. Davis, who underwent an emergency operation early Saturday for appendicitis, passed an uncomfortable day, his physician, Dr. J. W. Shirer, reported tonight.

"A diabetic condition is upsetting normal recovery, but his condition is satisfactory, everything considered," Dr. Shirer said.

There was a slight elevation in the blood sugar during the last 24 hours, the doctor added. He is remaining at the bedside of the patient day and night during the present crisis.

Mrs. Davis is also at the hospital with her husband.

The 59 year old senator will not be out of the hospital before ten days or two weeks, Dr. Shirer predicted, even if his recovery is normal. He was to have gone on trial in New York tomorrow on charges of violating the federal lottery laws.

LOCATE MISSING PLANE IN ANDES; 2 YANKS ABOARD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SANTIAGO, Chile, March 12.—The missing Pan-American airways passenger plane was located today in a desolate Andean region 20 miles west of the Argentine city of Mendoza. The plane left Mendoza Saturday for Santiago.

The fate of the two Americans aboard, Pilot Clifford E. McMillan and Richard Diamond, radio operator, remains uncertain. Shannon, divisional manager of the company, who sighted the plane, was unable to fly sufficiently low for a close examination.

A searching party organized at Mendoza expects to reach the plane tomorrow. Although the plane showed signs of being burned, it was hopefully stated that this might indicate efforts of the lost airmen to give signals.

RUSSIAN SECRET POLICE RAID BRITISH FIRM

Four Britons Arrested in Mysterious Action.

MOSCOW, March 12.—(AP)—Four British subjects representing the firm Metropolitan-Vickers in Russia, and four of the company's Russian employés, including two women, have been arrested following upon raids on their homes and offices by secret police.

Beginning last night and continuing in the early hours of today, the raiders, numbering more than a score, who carried search and arrest warrants, first visited the home in Perlovka, a suburb, of Allan Monkhouse, Metropolitan-Vickers director here. They seized a number of papers and documents for which they gave receipts, and then took Monkhouse, his assistant, W. H. Thornton, their Russian chauffeurs, a woman typist and a woman secretary away under arrest.

Raid Moscow Apartment.

Later another raiding party visited the Moscow apartment of John Cushny, another of Monkhouse's assistants, and seized papers there. They also arrested Cushny and W. L. MacDonald, one of the company's installation engineers, who had been in Moscow only two days after several months in the field.

Metropolitan-Vickers is one of the largest English firms doing business in Russia. It is engaged in selling and installing electrical machinery and turbines and in furnishing technical advice to the soviet government.

The firm located here ten years ago and it was understood its contract still has six months to run. Its organization in soviet Russia includes approximately 15 installation engineers working in the field in addition to administrative offices in Moscow and Leningrad.

Seize Company's Papers.

The Metropolitan-Vickers business offices, located in the general headquarters of the Russian organization, "Electroimport," in Moscow, were raided at the same time and the company's records and other papers seized.

The British embassy made inquiries at the foreign office, which said it had no information on the subject whatever, but promised to investigate beginning tomorrow morning.

The raid on the residence of Monkhouse was conducted while he was dining with Thornton and two other guests. Half a dozen Gay Pay Ou agents entered the house while the remainder surrounded it.

After questioning Monkhouse and Thornton separately, but not molesting the other guests, the raiders made a thorough search of the home of Monkhouse and that of Thornton next door. The searchers even ripped open mattresses.

Former City Fireman Is Identified as Bandit

George Gottfried, 27 years old, a former city fireman who was shot by police Saturday night when he resisted arrest, was identified as a bandit yesterday at the Bridewell hospital by three of his victims. Those who identified him, Mrs. Mary Ann Ratz, 1736 East 73d place,; Inglebert Rosholt, 7627 Cornell avenue, and Fred A. Soehler, 7747 Kingston avenue, were all robbed a short time before Gottfried was shot by Policeman Charles Cohen. Elliott Graham, 22 years old, 1544 East 65th street, was captured with Gottfried.

RED AIR FORCE WIPES OUT REBEL COSSACK TRIBE

12,000 to 17,000 Are Reported Dead.

BY H. BASIL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TEHERAN, Persia, March 12.—The flight of refugees into Persia from the Caucasus has been unusually large in the last few weeks. Invariably the refugees bring frightful accounts of civil warfare at Mineralni Vodi, in the Kuban territory of Circassia, between Cossack tribesmen and military forces of soviet Russia.

A large Cossack tribe residing in the Kuban district does not submit to the Russian regime and never has, no matter what the form of government might be. So inaccessible is the mountainous territory occupied by this tribe that no punitive expedition has been able to reach the Cossacks.

Plundered State Stores.

It is stated by fugitives from the Caucasus and Circassia that under pressure of hunger inhabitants of Mineralni Vodi attacked and plundered the soviet state coöperative stores. A small Red force was rushed to the scene, but they were Cossacks themselves and refused to fire on the "rebels." Instead they joined forces.

When this military force had sided with the "rebels," as these famine stricken people were called, Moscow scented grave danger in other parts of Russia. To prevent a possible uprising of soldiers and the people against the régime, soviet authorities resorted to repressive methods which practically amounted to annihilation of everything in the district.

Planes Drop Bombs.

No more troops were sent. The punitive campaign was handed over to the air force, which utilized not only bombs to destroy the locality, but also employed gas to wipe out all life. Those not quick enough to escape, and therefore given up for dead, are believed to total between 12,000 and 17,000.

IDLE SERVICE MEN ON PATROL.

A citizens' night patrol has been organized at Topeka, Kas., to provide work for otherwise idle service men. It is used to supplement the regular police force. Shifts of twenty men are used, giving employment to sixty men.

V. FALKENAU, 70, CHICAGO BUILDER, KILLED BY AUTO

Pasadena, Cal., March 12.—[Special.]—Victor Falkenau, 70 years old, wealthy retired former president of a Chicago construction company, was dead here tonight, the victim of an asserted hit-and-run auto driver. Miss Ada Mae Brooks, 59 years old, who is widely known as founder of the Broad Oaks kindergarten and leader in California kindergarten teaching methods, was arrested. She was traced by her automobile license.

Falkenau was found fatally injured on the street and died in Pasadena hospital several hours later. Although witnesses told police they saw the woman driver stop and walk to the prostrate form, Miss Brooks told the officers she thought she struck a piece of wood. She was held without bail in Pasadena city jail.

Falkenau had resided here for the major portion of each year for 13 years. He was builder of the Congress hotel in Chicago and the Chicago Stock Exchange building, as well as a large portion of the town of Gary, Ind., which he erected for the United States Steel corporation. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Marie Falkenau; three daughters, Miss Therese, Mrs. Eugene Rouse and Mrs. A. L. Howell, the latter two residing in Altadena.

DAIRY FARMERS TO HOLD ANNUAL MEETING TODAY

Protest against the current low prices paid to dairy farmers for their milk is expected to be voiced today at the annual meeting of the Pure Milk association in the Auditorium theater. The association is composed of 18,000 farmers who supply milk to the Chicago metropolitan area.

It was expected also that problems of the milk industry resulting from the bank holiday would be discussed by the delegates. Many of the association members have been reported in financial straits because money due them from dealers has been tied up in the banks.

John Brandt, president of the Land o' Lakes creameries, Minneapolis; Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health; and H. E. Van Norman, in charge of the dairy industry exhibit at the World's Fair, will address the meeting.

UNREST GROWS IN RUMANIA; ACCUSE CAROL OF GRAFT

Professor Is Jailed for Warning to King.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Feb. 24.—[By Mail.]—Behind the recent declaration of martial law in Rumania and the subsequent clash between the soldiery and 2,000 barricaded workmen in the Bucharest railway shops, which resulted in five deaths, many wounded, and more than 700 arrests, smoulders the "Fortzu affair" and the popular agitation and indignation against abuses, which the arrest of Fortzu, a Lyceum professor, precipitated.

An understanding of the Fortzu affair, little known outside of Rumania, throws light on conditions which made it possible for agitators, possibly communist, for Rumania borders on Russia, to profit by the situation. It would be wrong, however, to lay the troubles exclusively to communist outburst. They were merely an outburst of protest. Rumania still remains a country of 80 per cent peasantry which does not sympathize with communism.

Arrested for Speech.

Prof. Georges Fortzu held a chair in the Grand Lyceum, one of the big secondary schools of Bucharest. He was also president of the Federation of Teachers. For more than a year Fortzu had been giving expression to his indignation at what he considered irregularities in the way the government of Rumania was conducting affairs in the country. But until recently his addresses did not find much echo in the country.

On Dec. 13, however, Fortzu made an address before a group of university students on the basis of which a month later he was charged with lese majesty, arrested and thrown into the Vacaresti prison.

In his address Fortzu said: "The thieves of the country have been made ministers. The king appointed them and since he did he must have wanted thieves as ministers. I have decided to shout out openly. The king should beware of his head.

Hints King Takes Graft.

"Is it a fact that the army horses are fed on credit? That the troops live on credit? That the officers pay dearly for their new uniforms which enrich Lupescu, who has army contracts?

Then Fortzu indicated that some of the money was going into the king's coffers.

"Is it a fact," he said, "that a survey of Rumanian financial affairs and an investigation by the French economist, Charles Rist, showed money allotments on the government books to a certain Mr. C. ——?" (implying this was Carol).

Fortzu maintained that he was not against the monarchy or the king, but was only protesting against gross abuse. On Jan. 15 Fortzu was arrested. There was an immediate outburst of protest by students, professors, and the populace on the grounds that he at least had the right of free speech. Fortzu was released and then a few days later arrested again.

Goes on Hunger Strike.

In prison he went on a hunger strike and when arraigned he admitted what he had said and also what he had written in some newspaper articles, but declared that he had in nowise intended thereby to insult the sovereign, but had only intended to arouse popular opinion to defend the country against politicians and privileged persons who were committing abuses.

Although the court confirmed the second arrest of Fortzu on lese majesty charges, the professor a few days later was set at liberty, for a popular storm had broken out in his behalf which became a menace to the newly formed Vaida cabinet. The government was compelled to deny that it knew anything about the arrest, indicating that it had simply been an act of the police.

Public Agitation Grows.

Popular agitation had already been growing because of a 10 to 12 per cent pay cut which Minister of Finance Madgearu had just enforced on all public officials. Fortzu thus became a sort of spokesman for those who argued "Why should our pay be cut when there is so much abuse?"

Crowds of students, professors, of the intelligensia and others organized imposing manifestations. Police reinforcements were called out to keep order and there were a few mild clashes.

Martial law was proclaimed in Bucharest and in Ploesti. There were disorders in the law faculty of the university which brought the closing of this for thirty days; students began forming what is known as "the iron guard" and started antisemite and nationalist agitation. Trouble also broke out among the workmen in the railway shops of Bucharest, Ploesti, and Oradia as the immediate sequel, fomented, according to the government, by agents from Russia and Bulgaria.

On Feb. 15 the clash between the soldiery and the railway workmen took place. It is the general belief that the situation is full of uncertainties for King Carol and his friends.

BOLIVIANS LOSE 32 HOUR BATTLE IN JUNGLE WAR

ASUNCION, Paraguay, March 13.—(AP)—The Paraguayan war office in a bulletin today said the Third Bolivian division had been overwhelmingly defeated after a 32 hour battle with Paraguayan forces in the Gran Chaco jungle, where the two nations have been in conflict for several months. The communique said the Bolivians suffered more than 2,000 casualties while fleeing from Paraguayan cavalry.

Bolivian troops, it was added, had launched a general attack in the Fort Saavedra sector, where heavy fighting was going on. At Fort Nanawa, Paraguayan forces were said to have annihilated a company of Bolivians.

Claim Bolivian Victory.

LA PAZ, Bolivia, March 11.—(AP)—The general staff today announced that Bolivian soldiers had captured Fort Alihuata, in the Gran Chaco territory.

PARKS AND ROADS LURE THRONGS ON SUNNY SUNDAY

Hundreds of Thousands Enjoy Outings.

BY HAL FOUST.

A typical spring day, with an afternoon temperature of 60 degrees, was enjoyed by Chicago yesterday with the rest of the middle west. Parks and boulevards were crowded as thousands of families deserted their apartments and houses for the outdoors.

Observers estimated that the warm day lured at least 250,000 city motorists onto the highways of the metropolitan area, and the city parks attracted even more. Police figured that 200,000 visited Grant park; 125,000, Jackson park; 100,000, Lincoln park, and 70,000, Garfield, Washington, Douglas, Humboldt, and Columbus parks combined. An additional 50,000 persons visited the forest preserves.

Forget Money Worries.

The sunny day helped the people to forget financial troubles and spending was general and liberal. Gasoline stations reported a rushing business as did park concessions. Some 20,000 persons paid a dime each to tour the grounds of the Century of Progress. This was the largest single day crowd recorded there.

Country highways presented a thriving picture, packed with automobiles.

The broad pavements radiating from the city carried the tourists into a countryside already showing traces of green. A few hours south of Chicago, away from the weather influence of Lake Michigan, buds are beginning to swell and the early songbirds are returning to the woods.

Wider Roads Eliminate Delays.

The important rural roads, widened following years of editorial advocacy by THE TRIBUNE, handled the traffic without the delays of congestion that were common when these pavements were narrow. In Chicago, however, the boulevards were jammed part of the time. Gov. Horner has taken steps to initiate the first comprehensive state highway construction program within the city.

There were stalled automobiles along the highways, remindful of the early days before the motor car was developed into a reliable vehicle. Radiators, clogged with a winter's accumulation of sludge, were boiling volatile anti-freeze solutions. There were mechanical troubles from exhausted winter oils and greases. Furthermore, a large portion of the automobiles were antiquated models that have spent their mileages of satisfactory performance.

Holiday for Thousands.

But notwithstanding mechanical troubles, and notwithstanding the depression, the sunny Sunday was a holiday on the road for a quarter of a million men, women, and children.

It was evidence that the public has not forsaken its most popular form of recreation. It was evident that the city automobile owner will continue at least another year to use the countryside as his playground and that the automobile owners of the midwest will continue to visit Chicago with its World's Fair this year.

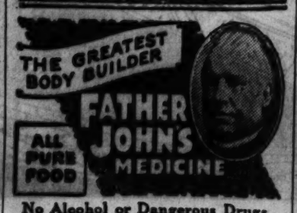
KING OF BRITAIN SENDS SYMPATHY TO QUAKE VICTIMS

LONDON, March 12.—(AP)—King George today telegraphed to President Roosevelt of the United States as follows:

"I am deeply concerned at the heavy loss of life which was occasioned by the disastrous earthquake in California and I would ask you, Mr. President, to accept this expression of my sincere sympathy with all those who have sustained bereavement or injury as the result of this calamity."

After Illness

If a member of your family has been sick recently look out for after-effects. Now is the time for extra caution—they need Father John's Medicine right now. Watch their appetite improve, see the healthy color come into their cheeks, notice how weight picks up, how colds become fewer. Institutions, hospitals and thousands of homes have proved its value by regular use.



No Alcohol or Dangerous Drugs

Part of Exhibit

Twelve large trees, part of the World's Fair exhibit of the forest preserve nurseries in Palos Park and planted on the exposition grounds. When the exhibit is completed, trees and shrubbery from the preserves will line the principal avenue of Northerly island.

MYSTERY BLAST WRECKS WALL OF CUDAHY CHURCH

Teaching Sisters Are Periled by Debris.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., March 12.—[Special.]—An explosion of mysterious origin early today blew down the rear wall of St. Frederick's Catholic church at Cudahy and wrecked the boiler room supplying heat to the church and school. An investigation today by Deputy Fire Marshal William Greenwald failed to locate the source of the explosion. The damage was estimated at $15,000.

In the home occupied by the teaching sisters 15 feet away débris from the explosion fell through an open window, narrowly missing two sisters who were asleep in the room. Ten sisters occupied the buildings and were endangered by the explosion.

Breakfast Is Postponed.

Plans had been made for a post-communion breakfast of the Cudahy Holy Name society today and tables had been laid in the room adjoining the one where the explosion occurred. The breakfast was ordered postponed by Floyd P. Gonyea, president of the Holy Name society.

The school will be closed tomorrow, the Rev. John P. Herbst, pastor, said today, both because the heating system temporarily was put out of commission and because he did not wish to subject the 400 school children to danger from débris that might fall or further accidents.

The explosion occurred at 2 o'clock this morning. Joseph Wegerbauer, janitor, locked the church about 9:30 last night after leaving everything ready for Sunday services and the Holy Name breakfast. Everything was in order, he said.

No Gas Leak Is Found.

The fire department said the explosion could not have occurred from the oil heating system as the door of the apparatus was closed and in operation when the department arrived. A gas leak was suspected but officials from the electric company and the fire department today examined all gas connections closely and could find no leak.

Indications were, Father Herbst said, a fire was started first and the explosion followed. Woodwork was charred as from a slowly burning fire beyond the place where the explosion occurred.

St. Frederick's is one of three Catholic churches in Cudahy. It was built in 1921. The Rev. Mr. Herbst said he had no suspicion of any persons who might have malice against the church and school and dynamited them.

Urges Veterans to Back Roosevelt Economy Bill

Chattanooga, Tenn., March 12.—(AP)—Members of the American Veterans' association were called upon tonight by Maj. Silas Williams, national commander, to wire senators from their respective states and urge unqualified support of President Roosevelt's economy program.

PILE SUFFERERS LIVE IN SHADOW OF THE KNIFE!

If you want to be rid of the torment of piles without an operation, throw away your laxative drugs. Generally it is abuse and neglect of your bowels that causes bleeding, itching, aching piles in the first place, and as long as you continue to irritate the delicate membranes with laxatives you are living in the very shadow of the surgeon's knife.

Start Cream of Nujol treatment instead, stop the irritation, and take the first step toward the relief of pile suffering.

This new form of Nujol is specially suited to sufferers from piles. It soothes and heals the delicate bowel membranes and makes you as regular as clockwork without any interference with your work or play.

It is delicious to take, and will cost you only a few cents a day. Buy it at any drug counter.

Start the new harmless Cream of Nujol treatment at once. Give it a real test. Stop at your druggist's and get a bottle tonight.

WARNS PROPOSED LAWS MAY RAISE SCHOOL EXPENSE

The board of education at its meeting this afternoon will scrutinize pending legislation at Springfield to decide its attitude on measures affecting the Chicago public school system. Ralph Condee, assistant attorney for the board, has prepared a digest of the bills.

A part of the proposed legislation that will be scanned most carefully is contained in house bills 171 and 172, which provide for creation of a text book commission. The commission would be empowered to provide a uniform curriculum for all schools in the state and arbitrarily cancel the use of certain text books.

Passage of the bills would mean an increase of $2,000,000 in Chicago educational expenditures, in the opinion of Mr. Condee. He also pointed out that Chicago, operating under the free text book act, has expended millions of dollars on books, which would have to be scrapped if the pending bills becomes law.

SLEEP WALKER FALLS TO DEATH.

Stanley Zielinski, 48 years old, was killed yesterday when he fell from the second floor rear porch of his home at 1345 North Paulina street and was impaled upon a picket fence below. His widow told police that her husband frequently walked in his sleep.

CHICAGO DANE'S OPERA SELECTED FOR DAY AT FAIR

Prime Minister Stauning to Attend.

BY JOHN AHL-NIELSEN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, March 12.—"The Jutland Track," an original American opera composed by the Chicagoan, Prof. Marinus Poulsen, will be presented for the first time in Chicago on June 21, Danish day, at the Century of Progress World's Fair.

Denmark's prime minister, Thorvald Stauning, has accepted the Danish committee's invitation to attend and appear as speaker of the day. Negotiations are going on for the foremost singers in the Royal Danish opera to visit Chicago and take part in the première.

Text by Former Chicagoan.

Dr. Normann Hansen, for 20 years a Chicago physician, who now lives here, wrote the text for the Poulsen opera. Dr. Hansen won European fame for his Greenlandian opera, "Kaddera," which was presented first by the Royal Danish opera.

"The Jutland Track" draws its story from the Cimbrian march on Rome in 100 B. C. The Cimbrians ravaged Germany and Gaul, then the Teutons joined them in crossing the Alps and invading Italy. There the Romans routed the horde and took most of them prisoners.

Romans Capture Blondes.

The opera deals with the division of beautiful Nordic blondes among the Roman noblemen, and the strapping northern warriors as slaves among the aristocratic women of the imperial city. Only a few Cimbrians escaped. In the opera, the tribe's leader wanders back to Jutland to the woman awaiting him.

Old Danish Viking instruments, which in an acient time sounded all along the European coast, will be used in the opera.

New York Barless Prison Receives First Inmates

Wall Kill, N. Y., March 12.—[Special.]—New York state's first unwalled, barless prison, recently opened in Wall Kill, is beginning to receive drafts of "model" prisoners from the Auburn, Great Meadows, and Sing Sing penitentiaries. The institution, known as he New State Medium Security prison, will house only less vicious types of malefactors.

NEW STRIKE THREAT MADE BY FARMERS OF HOLIDAY GROUP

Des Moines, Ia., March 12.—(AP)—Militant agriculturists of the National Farmers' Holiday association convention here today threatened another farm strike unless their legislative demands are approved by congress by May 3.

Approximately 400 persons, representing 17 states attended the session today at which resolutions were adopted demanding a national moratorium on foreclosures be granted, that the Frazier bill be passed by congress and that the federal government take over and operate banks as a public utility.

They also voiced a demand for enactment of the Swank-Thomas bill, which, they said, will insure cost of production for the farmers' products.

Another resolution demanded "a steeply graduated federal income, gift and inheritance tax up to the point of confiscation to prevent the accumulation of private wealth dangerous to society."

NAVY RADIO HERE KEEPS IN TOUCH WITH QUAKE ZONE

From a frame shed on the roof of the naval armory at the foot of Randolph street Chicago has been in steady communication with the stricken area in California since shortly after the first earthquake shock was felt there Friday night. As twilight drew on yesterday the crew of five wireless operators, their eyes red from lack of sleep, prepared to carry on for another night to get through emergency messages.

All five of the men, members of the naval reserve corps, reported for duty at the radio station as soon as news of the catastrophe was received. Ensign Arthur L. Kretlow took charge and the operators were soon in touch with reserve corps stations in the quake zone. Damage to telephone and telegraph lines made it imperative for a while that radio be employed to reach various towns and sections.

"Where telegraph and telephone service had been cut off we did our best to get the messages through by radio," Ensign Kretlow explained, "but we refused to handle any that might be sent through ordinary commercial channels."

Porto Rico Asks Roosevelt for an Elective Governor

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, March 12.—(AP)—The insular senate, speaking for the island, has sent a message to President Roosevelt requesting that he ask congress to give Porto Rico an elective governor until the status of the island has been decided definitely.

3 Seized in Attempt to Break Through Store Wall

Three alleged burglars were captured in the loop last night after they had broken into a vacant store at 175 North Clark street, and had started to break through the basement wall to the delicatessen at 179 North Clark street. The prisoners are Abe Hadan, 27 years old, 1531 Wicker Park avenue; Harry Corley, 32, of 119 West Ontario street, and George A. Maygren, 37, of 4544 Hazel street. Police said Kadan and Corley confessed.

The Store of Service, Quality and Low Price

ILLUSION:

A large packing case is exhibited on a raised platform. A young woman climbs into the box. Head, hands and feet protrude, and are held by spectators while the magician takes a crosscut saw and, with the help of an assistant, saws through the center of the box and apparently through the woman.

EXPLANATION:

There are many explanations for this illusion. One method of performing this illusion requires the presence of two girls in the box. One girl curls up in the left half of the box with her head and hands protruding, giving the effect you see illustrated above. The other girl is doubled up in the right half of the box, with only her feet showing. Nobody is sawed in half.

It's fun to be fooled— ...it's more fun to KNOW

Cigarette advertising, too, has its tricks. Consider the illusion that "Flavor" can be achieved by some kind of magical hocus-pocus in manufacturing.

EXPLANATION: Just three factors control the flavor of a cigarette. The addition of artificial flavoring. The blending of various tobaccos. And the quality of the tobaccos themselves. Quality is by far the most important. Domestic cigarette tobaccos vary in price from 5¢ a pound up to 40¢ a pound. Imported tobaccos vary from 50¢ a pound to $1.15.

No wonder, then, that cigarettes differ in taste—since distinctive, pleasing flavor depends so largely upon the blending of the costlier tobaccos.

It is a fact, well known by leaf tobacco experts, that Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand.

Try Camels. Give your taste a chance to sense the subtle difference that lies in costlier tobaccos . . . a difference that means all the world in smoking pleasure . . . in pure, unalloyed satisfaction.

TAXPAYERS FIGHT TAXEATERS IN FRENCH POLITICS

Precarious Life Is Led by Government.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, March 12.—Underlying the present intricate but monotonous convulsions of French politics is a conflict of living forces which is sometimes dramatically termed the "battle for the state."

It is some weeks since this correspondent called attention to the growing tendency of private interests to organize into groups or syndicates constantly wrangling among themselves but all attacking the authority of the central government. The movement has spread even wider than originally predicted and, although no spectacular clashes have yet occurred, has developed into a sort of guerrilla warfare.

Two Camps Formed.

The usual meaningless distinctions in the nomenclature of French political parties has been virtually wiped out by the division of the country into two great warring camps. On one side is the vast army of pen pushers and civil servants of all kinds, actually less than a million but backed by at least one-fourth of the population through the strong family ties prevailing in France. On the other side is the host of taxpayers which unites both consumers and producers in common cause against the functionaries whom they support by their contributions.

In the middle is the government which is supposed to keep peace and to extract from both groups the sacrifices necessary to maintain the credit of the state. The difficulty the government is having in doing this has awakened a surge of anti-parliamentary feeling throughout the country. In almost any French café talk is heard which would make your blood run cold if it came from another people. Marching on the chamber of deputies and throwing the members of that august body into the nearby Seine is the most popular remedy suggested.

This sentiment is not entirely spontaneous. The charges made by partisans of the left parties that the parties of former Premiers Tardieu and Laval are deliberating fomenting disorder and financing meetings and demonstrations of taxpayers seems to be not without foundation. The purpose of these maneuvers is obviously to demonstrate that a left government is impotent to maintain order and run the country properly.

The anticipated solution is the return of the right to power, either through dissolution of parliament and new elections or with the consent of the more moderate left parties, who could be expected to consent to a coalition with the right rather than assume the responsibility for a revolution or another collapse of the franc.

The left seems powerless to block this attack because no left government can govern without the support of the Socialists, and the Socialists, being champions of union labor, back the unionized civil servants in all their demands, especially in the matter of pay cuts. Premier Daladier's government barely survived this issue last month. A left government, thus, lives perpetually under a Socialist sword of Damocles. And as long as the civil servants push their demands, the taxpayers will continue to fight new, or even existing taxes.

Socialists Are Key.

The political problem is therefore to find a government which does not depend upon Socialist support so it can clamp down on the rebellious functionaries. Such a government can be based on only two possible majorities—a national union, including parties of the left, center and right, and a "concentration" uniting the moderate left and the center parties.

This is mathematically easy but practically very hard, as personal jealousies and party rivalries stand in the way.

Meantime the guerrilla warfare between taxpayers and taxeaters grows more intense and the general public grows increasingly disgusted with the whole business. The papers now carry standing heads, such as "Protests of Taxpayers" and "Demonstrations of Merchants and Taxpayers," and run daily a column or more of telegrams from local correspondents telling about the meetings, parades, petitions to the government, and other forms of agitation carried on by this or that group.

Boycott Threatened.

Recently in Niort, a good-sized town, there occurred a particularly illuminating passage at arms between the local civil servants' unions and the merchants. The functionaries, annoyed by a big demonstration against the high cost of government, sent an ultimatum to every merchant in the town warning him that he would be boycotted by functionaries and their families if he continued to agitate for a reduction of government salaries.

To this feudal menace of the haughty "servants" of the state, the no less haughty merchants through their associations, replied by a four-hour lockout during which the mere customer was unable to buy any article of any category, not even food or medicine.

WRITES 'REAL NAME' AND HE'S ARRESTED AS A BANK ROBBER

Morgantown, W. Va., March 12.—(AP)—Herbert Retzloff, 31, is enroute tonight to Cleveland to face charges of perpetrating a $33,000 bank holdup—police say largely because he "forgot" and wrote his "real name."

A shopkeeper Saturday thought Retzloff was offering a $10 counterfeit bill. He called police, who arrested him at a hotel, as "H. Retzloss."

Police said they asked Retzloff to write his name on a fingerprint card, and he wrote it correctly. They said he then confessed to holding up the Cleveland bank and waived extradition.

Cleveland police had broadcast a request that if arrested a Herbert Retzloff be held for questioning about the bank robbery.

Retzloff had $61 in cash when arrested. Police said he claimed to have spent the remainder of the alleged loot.

SUPREME COURT READY TO HEAR CASES RAPIDLY

Washington, D. C., March 12.—(AP)—The Supreme court has reached its goal.

After years of hard work it is prepared to hear cases as rapidly as counsel can present them, and when it convenes tomorrow only 21 cases will be awaiting hearing. In its ordinary procedure the court could hear all of these in one week.

Realizing, however, it will be impossible for counsel to get ready to present on oral argument other cases until April, the court has ordered that nine of the cases now ready be heard during the week and the remaining 12 the following week. A few years before William Howard Taft became chief justice, cases waited on the docket for one or two years before getting a hearing.

With Homer S. Cummings, the new attorney general, present, and with a new department of justice force cooperating, the court tomorrow will return from a recess during which it has been writing opinions in 42 cases.

HABITUAL FELON HELD AS CRIME TUTOR OF BOYS

James Naples, 1635 West 37th place, who admits that he has spent 30 of the 40 years of his life in correctional or penal institutions, was held at the detective bureau yesterday as the tutor in crime of two boys.

Naples, according to the police records, was first placed in a school for truants in New York when he was 7 years old. He served 15 years in Sing Sing for the murder of two men in a cabaret brawl and has also been convicted of rape, burglary, and other crimes. His sentences totaled 108 years, but they were shortened by commutations and paroles.

Charles Swick, 17 years old, 1718 West 44th street, and Walter Rajca, 16 years old, 1650 West 39th street, told police that Naples coached them in ten burglaries and eleven holdups and bought the loot from them. Among their robbery victims were several stockyards night watchmen. The boys escaped from the walled enclosure of the yards after the robberies by floating a raft on Bubbly creek.

THOUSANDS VISIT POLICE GUARDED TOMB OF CERMAK

Thousands of persons yesterday visited the mausoleum in the Bohemian National cemetery, where the body of Mayor Anton J. Cermak was laid at rest Friday. Cemetery officials said so great was the attendance that twenty policemen were required to keep order. It was the same Saturday, they said.

There were no services at the Cermak vault. The thousands who thronged there in a steady stream wished a sight of the Cermak crypt and a souvenir flower which they were permitted to take.

Greater Chicago lodge of the Loyal Order of Moose held memorial services for Mayor Cermak in an auditorium of the Moose club at 632 North Dearborn street yesterday afternoon. Circuit Judge Joseph Burke delivered the eulogy. Mayor Cermak was an active member of the Moose lodge.

BRITISH ASSERT FRANCE IS BENT ON NEW ENTENTE

Paris Alarmed by War Clouds, Says Press.

LONDON, March 12.—(AP)—The part Great Britain would play in the event of another European conflict attracted the attention of the London press today.

"At no time since 1914 has there been so much open and alarmed talk about war or a situation more immediately threatening," said the Sunday Times.

The opinion is widely held here that what Prime Minister MacDonald and Foreign Secretary Sir John Simon may have intended to be a conference with Premier Daladier of France on resuscitation of the disarmament conference was turned by the French into an opportunity to make an appeal for a new Franco-British front in the event of renewal of European hostilities.

Says Danger Spots Plain.

The Sunday Times added:

"The danger spots are plain to all—so plain that it ought to be possible for clear sighted statesmanship to sterilize them.

"Saber rattling, which used to be a familiar feature of prewar German imperial policy, has begun to be heard again from across the Rhine and in the Polish corridor. In the last fortnight the tension between Berlin and Warsaw has heightened alarmingly. Both France and Poland are anxiously on the alert.

"In the southeast, the situation is no more reassuring. There are fears of a Nazi putsch in Vienna which might bring anschluss [union with Germany] nearer, with all the dangers that it would involve.

"The tension between the little entente powers and their big neighbor, Italy, is not slackening."

New World May Emerge.

The Sunday Observer stressed that the announcement resulting from the Paris conferences, which presumably were about disarmament, "somewhat pointedly refers to the Geneva 'problem,' to the 'actual European situation,' and to a 'means of preserving the peace of the world.' . . .

"The very seismic intensity of the present political eruptions in three continents gives a clew to statesmen," the Observer added. "Within a month at the most we are bound to know what sort of a new world is to emerge."

The Sunday Express said:

"The situation in Europe is acute. France, terrified by the new fierce wave of nationalism now sweeping Germany, is making desperate efforts to lure Great Britain into a new entente—and apparently thought after the talks between the British and French premiers that she had succeeded.

"A statement indicating this result was promptly denied by a British spokesman."

MacDonald Talks to Gibson.

GENEVA, March 12. — (AP) — Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain, who has come here with his foreign secretary, Sir John Simon, in an attempt to arouse the world disarmament conference, conferred for a second time today with delegates to the conference. Among those talked to were Hugh Gibson and Hugh Wilson of the United States, Count Rudolf Nadolny of Germany and Baron Pompeo Aloisi of Italy.

MacDonald described British quarters as undaunted by the conference difficulties and as determined to continue the Geneva conversations, expecting to bring the conference to an early and useful termination.

FREE COLLEGE WORK FOR IDLE TO BE OFFERED

New York, March 12.—(AP)—Four free college centers for the idle, which will enroll about 1,500 students and provide work at $15 a week for 86 teachers are being formed, it was announced today by the temporary emergency relief administration, with the cooperation of the state department of education and officials of state universities.

The centers are to be in Buffalo where 560 have already enrolled; Albany, with an enrollment of 260 so far; White Plains, with an expected enrollment of metween 400 and 600, and Garden City, with between 200 and 300 prospective students.

The centers will give courses on a basis which will permit the students to have credit at state universities.

"The quality of the teachers available is remarkable," Dr. Lewis A. Wilson, assistant commissioner for vocational ad extension education, said today.

"We have one teacher who is listed in 'Who's Who.'"

Denver Kidnap Victim Is Taken to Hospital

Denver, Colo., March 12.—(AP)—Charles Boettcher II. was in Mercy hospital here today recovering from nervous strain which followed his recent abduction. Boettcher went to the hospital last night. Physicians said he was resting easy. It is problematical whether he will be able to make a planned airplane flight to South Dakota with Denver authorities to identify the ranch house in which he was held prisoner for 17 days.

CHINESE WAGE ALL DAY BATTLE FOR WALL PASS

Jap Machine Guns Repulse Counter Attack.

TOKIO, March 13.—[Monday.]—(AP)—A Rengo [Japanese] news agency dispatch from Chinchow, Manchuria, today said that after an all day battle yesterday at Slfengkow pass in the Great Wall, Maj. Gen. Heijiro Hattori's 14th brigade of Japanese infantrymen had repulsed a desperate Chinese attack.

The Chinese troops, the dispatch said, had brought up reinforcements in an effort to recapture the pass, which was taken by the Japanese last week after their victorious march across Jehol province to Jehol City, the capital.

544 Casualties.

Japanese machine guns mowed down large numbers of the attackers, who had massed inside the pass, the Rengo correspondent said.

[With the reported capture of Koupeikow Pass last week, the Japanese were said to have stopped up all entrances through the ancient wall into Jehol.]

The Chinese casualties were estimated at 500, while the Japanese said 13 of their men had been killed and 31 wounded.

Meanwhile, indications were growing that the Japanese invaders seem likely to consider themselves compelled to cross the Great Wall—the boundary between Jehol province and north China proper—to smash Chinese concentrations of troops immediately south of the wall.

Chang to Seek Health.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, March 13.—[Monday.]—Marshal Chang Hsueh-liang, resigned head of the Chinese forces in north China, arrived here yesterday in his private plane from Peiping. He confirmed his resignation and said he intended to "devote myself to an effort to restore my health and train my mind for the duties of a private citizen." He plans to go abroad for his health after a temporary stay here, he said.

Decision of United States naval authorities to withdraw the U. S. S. Rochester from Shanghai harbor to Manila has given rise to a report here that the United States Asiatic squadron now at Manila bay will not pay its usual visit to the China coast this summer.

Economy has been advanced as the official reason for this break in custom, but it is also reported that the unsettled political situation is responsible.

BOY FLYER RACES FOR CAPE TOWN AHEAD OF RECORD

CAPE TOWN, South Africa, March 12 [Monday].—(AP)—Victor Smith, 19 year old flyer who is attempting to beat Amy Johnson Mollison's time for a London to Cape Town flight, arrived at Walsh Bay at 5:20 p. m. yesterday. He was ten hours ahead of Mrs. Mollison's time at this point. Her record for the 6,200 mile flight is 4 days 6 hours and 5 minutes.

An hour and twenty minutes after his arrival here he was off on the last leg of his flight with a little more than 300 miles to go before reaching his goal. He had until 9 a. m. today to break the record.

At 12:35 a. m. Smith was reported to have passed over Alexander Bay, 350 miles to the north.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

A MORATORIUM ON LOBBIES.

Some disposition has appeared in congress to delay enactment of the President's economy bill. It is difficult to believe that the opposition will get far, for there can be no shadow of doubt that the public opinion of the country is as nearly unanimously in support of the President on this issue as public opinion has ever been unanimous on any political question in our time.

Nevertheless the proposals to reduce payments to veterans by as much as 400 million dollars a year will be seized upon by some members of congress as an issue upon which to make a grandstand play for the veteran vote. Likewise the proposals to reduce pay in the federal services generally can be expected to meet the opposition of the intrenched bureaucrats who lobbied with great effect against wage reductions proposed during the last session.

While there is no use hoping for any concerted action in favor of a sound treasury by the government's employés, even though they have a paramount interest in a solvent treasury, it is not expecting too much to look for support of the President from the American Legion and other veteran groups. The Legion has lost caste in recent months by its persistent support of bonus legislation at a time when every dictate of prudence demanded not an increase but a reduction of federal expenditures. The heavy drain on the treasury for veteran relief, coupled with the constant threat of a bonus payment, have contributed to the unsettlement of business and to the national deficits and are therefore in part responsible for the closing of the banks.

No doubt many Legionnaires who a few weeks or months ago were convinced that veteran aid could be safely granted have now changed their minds. A treasury which is almost empty within less than a week of the time when 694 million dollars of debts must be met cannot be saddled with any further obligations to the veterans, even if the justice of the veterans' claims were far more clearly established than it is. Our treasury must conserve every penny of its resources for the immensely important business of restoring the credit structure of the nation. Without a sound treasury and a sound banking system we shall experience hardships and a decline in the standard of living which will make the depression period from November, 1929, to March, 1933, appear delightful by contrast.

This is the day of moratoria. No moratorium could be more useful to the country as a whole than a moratorium on all kinds of lobbying aimed at extracting money from the treasury for private advantage. The only lobby which patriotic men and women can now support is a lobby for economy. Under the circumstances the least that the Legion and its associated organizations can do is to pass resolutions clearly evidencing support of the President in his proposals for economizing on pensions.

It would be immensely helpful to the President if the national organization of the Legion, acting through its executive committee, were to forward such a resolution to congress at the first moment, but whatever the national organization does much can still be accomplished by individual posts. If they declare their support of the President in this emergency and communicate their sentiments to their representatives in Washington, the task of rescuing the country from its plight will be hastened.

New times and new situations call for changed attitudes on the part of the citizens. Thus far the new President and the new congress have done everything which the people could reasonably expect of them. The question now is not whether the leadership is worthy of the people but whether the people can show sufficient unselfishness and regard for the general good to be worthy of their leaders. The Legion can do much to settle many doubts on that score by declaring its unqualified support of the President in the emergency.

ANTI-SEMITISM IN GERMANY.

The recrudescence of anti-Semitism in its most offensive form was one of the results of Nazi accession to power predicted. It was not foreseen in this country that it would affect American citizens. We have no doubt the state department will express American indignation and leave no doubt in Berlin that it does not intend to tolerate these offenses against American citizens now in Germany.

Neither do we doubt that all well disposed Germans regret these unpleasant incidents. Whether Chancellor Hitler has sufficient influence to prevent them remains to be seen. If he has any regard for civilized opinion and for the maintenance of the friendly attitude of the American people toward Germany he will use all his power to prevent any recurrence of them. Unfortunately they are a natural, if not an inevitable, result of Nazi preachment, and under present conditions difficult to keep within bounds.

Where citizens of the United States lawfully in Germany are concerned our government can not only protest but find means of giving weight to the protest. Where Nazi enterprise does not infringe American rights we have no diplomatic standing and no intention to dictate any internal policy. But the relations of civilized nations involve more than legal considerations and these are not negligible. Even the belligerent nationalism of the Nazi party cannot afford to ignore them. A persecution of Germans of Jewish faith is a survival of the dark ages. None of the excuses offered for it are convincing to the American mind and it will have an effect upon American opinion which in Germany's present international situation a responsible government will wish to avoid.

GET THE BARGE TERMINAL IN OPERATION.

Now that the waterway is open the Illinois assembly should lose no time in passing the legislation necessary for the establishment of the terminal at old Bridgeport. Under the settlement of state claims arrived at several years ago, $200,000 contributed by the Santa Fé and the Illinois Central is ready for development purposes. The site includes 21 acres near Damen avenue, includes one grain elevator of a million bushels capacity, owned by the state, and is provided with deep water slips, docks, and railroad tracks connecting by way of the Belt Line with all railroads. The produce terminal and fruit market is located here, and the Chicago Regional Port commission, after a thorough study of the proposition, has given strong approval and initiated appropriate legislation which failed of passage at the last session.

What is required from the assembly is authority to the division of waterways of the department of purchases and construction to proceed. The port commission says: "There is no apparent logical reason why legislation of this order should not be passed. No expenditure of state funds is required; merely authority to use funds supplied by the railroads which must be used, under the terms of the agreement, only for this purpose. A terminal is necessary and the proposed location is satisfactory."

The site is in fact ideal, as the commission testifies, being located at almost the geographical center of the city and connected with all twenty-nine railroads of the Chicago switching district. The bill which failed of enactment in the last assembly, not from objection but through not being pressed energetically, was drafted in the attorney general's office and should be passed without fail at this session. A waterway without terminals is dead, and no further delay in getting the Chicago terminal in operation is excusable now that the waterway itself is open. The Cook county delegation should press the measure, for the opening of this terminal concerns all the districts downstate which expect to use the waterway.

THE CALIFORNIA DISASTER.

Southern California has the sympathy of the nation in its latest visitation of earth's relentless forces. The property loss is substantial, the loss of life, though deplorable, less than might have been expected. Modern construction has limited the latter and complete destruction seems to have been confined in the main to older buildings. Copings and insecure parts of structures were wrenched loose and caused a good deal of damage and many deaths and injuries were caused in this way in the streets.

A result of this experience, we suppose, will be a survey of buildings for weaknesses of this kind and also perhaps more emphasis on public instruction in what do do in case of earthquakes. The natural instinct is to run out of a shaking building into the streets, but this may be the more dangerous alternative. Unless the building is likely to collapse completely it would seem to be safer shelter than a street where loosened copings or other objects are falling. But we are not dogmatizing on proper tactics, never having had to meet the unpleasant problem of conduct in a region where earthquakes are unknown. Californians may be depended upon to work out the best code.

Yet the question of copings and other detachable parts of buildings has had of late an interest for Chicagoans. A recent accident, fortunately not fatal, has called attention to the danger of copings. Fortunately modern architecture is averse to elaborate ornamentations. Its tendency is to simplicity and reliance for its effects upon harmony of line and mass. Many of the old buildings meet these conditions and have survived the heaviest shocks. Modern steel construction has also proved remarkably reliable under severe strains. The greatest danger to property is through fire created by the disturbance of wiring and enhanced by the dislocation of water supply.

The problems involved are complicated and difficult, but they will be gradually solved and loss of life and property reduced to a minimum. Americans are not a people disposed to take punishment lying down and have a capacity for adjustment to conditions which is one of their most marked and useful qualities.

AFRICAN TRIBESMEN COULD TEACH TAX DODGERS TECHNIQUE.

[Waterloo, Ia., Courier.]

How Chicago's tax dodgers must envy the lot of the Hlangane tribe in Africa!

The tribe was cut in two several years ago by the Transvaal-Portuguese border commission. The tribesmen soon learned that the Transvaal government collected its taxes in winter, leaving the Low Veld alone during the summer fever season. The Portuguese collected their revenue during the summer.

It is comparatively simple for the members of the Hlangane tribe to evade tax payments by planting crops in the Transvaal, reaping them in summer and autumn and then moving to Portuguese territory to spend the winter.

The modern American tax dodger's technique is cruder. He is too lazy to move, so he just stays on, insisting that he doesn't owe the taxes. He repeats his disavowal of indebtedness until he comes to really believe it—a sort of self-hypnosis. Unfortunately, mesmerism cannot be utilized in paying for the numerous municipal conveniences which the tax dodger enjoys along with others.

A TIMELY GESTURE.

Jones was presenting a purse and watch to a fellow workman who was leaving the concern.

After a very flattering speech the manager wound up with:

"The contents of this"—holding up the purse—"may in time disappear. But"—holding up the watch—"here is something that will never go."—Answers.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Ret. S.S.

F. D. it seems to be. Nobody can claim to have started it; it just burst out of itself. "The President" is a long phrase and there's so many presidents in this country, whist clubs, auto washers, card and dance associations and drug store cowboys' unions. And Pres. Roosevelt takes time to write and say; besides, there was another great President Roosevelt. But F. D.! There never was a President of the country before known as "F. D." It's a slogan as well as a name. F. D.! Three rousing cheers.

THE HARVESTER.

When I was a child
Nature was wild,
Cruel and menacing,
When seedtime was nearing,
My father was gone,
In the frost-silvered dawn,
To work in the clearing:
To war on the wood
That, unconquered, stood
In Destiny's way.
So, each tedious day,
With ax and with maul,
He fought, foot by foot.
Now a great oak would fall,
Now a serpentine root
Would be torn from the soil—
Foot by foot, till his toil
Had conquered and won
And the task was done,
With ten acres more
To his homestead score.

Then he grubbed and hoed,
And planted and sowed.
By the sweat of his brow,
In the dew-silvered morn,
With a one-shovel plow,
He tended his corn,
Contending with weeds
That stifled the seeds;
With upspringing shoots
From sinister roots,—
For the forest had found
A retreat underground;
And, behind every stump,
Was hidden a clump
Of sapling recruits.
And the forest had spies
And insect forces,
In deceitful disguise,
That tortured his horses.

When I was a child
Nature was wild;
But to him, pioneering
There, in the clearing,
Was nothing to fear,
With nothing to dread,
In the spring of the year,
With God's sun overhead.
And he warred on the wood,
And he warred on the weeds;
And the harvest was good,
And meager his needs . . .
He looks no more on
The frost-silvered dawn:
For long, long ago
His ax and his hoe
Grew heavy to wield
In woodland and field.
He rests, O my child,
And nature, grown mild,
Forgot and forgave,
Becoming a slave.
The forest surrendered;
Oaks, virginal, tendered
As hostages. Still,
In home and in mill,
They serve us; and now,
In the dew-silvered morn,
Naught hinders the plow
That plies through the corn.

Naught hinders the plow:
And none can tell why,
And none can tell how—
For nobody knows—
But the season goes by,
Wit' its rain and its sun,
And the harvest is done;
Then home in the dusk
With only a husk,
The harvester goes.

AND ANOTHER THING you must get up on so as not to be embarrassed at a dinner party—if and when, etc. If the person on the right or left, as the case may be, nibbles smugly on the celery and asks you what you think of Gresham's law don't say you believe it will be repealed or that if it's a law nobody probably pays any attention to it. You just brighten up when the question is put and say: "Oh, that thing about bad money driving out good. Well, I hope it will drive some good money my way; I'll grab it." Thus you will show yourself well informed. You might go on in an easy, best social manner and say, "And now that I've tipped you off that I'm wise on the Gresham thing, lay offen me, smart guy." And then if somebody else horns into the conversation and asks you if you ever met the Mr. Gresham whose name is associated with the famous law say airily that you never had that pleasure, as he demised away back in fifteen hundred and something, long before your time. All the dinner party will laugh in well bred merriment at this witty retort and you will immediately be hailed as a truly marvelous person and invited again.

SOMETHING ABOUT JAUNDICE.

Of all the organs, none is more important than the liver. While it contributes but little to fatal illness it is responsible for much discomfort, inconvenience, and incapacity. Probably it suffers more from abuse than any other organ of the body, except it be the stomach. We pay some part of the penalty for unwise habits in the development of symptoms which spell a wornout liver.

One of these symptoms is jaundice. It is not an early one and it has other limitations, but it is so plainly in evidence that it rarely goes unheeded. Other symptoms may ring the bell every day and be wholly disregarded or, if noticed, be misinterpreted. But when jaundice appears we generally pay attention. When more than a certain amount of bile or its coloring matter appears in the blood it stains the skin, the eyeballs, the urine, and the sweat, and it is observed from the start. The bile in the skin does no great harm, although it usually causes unpleasant itching. All the tissues of the body, the brain, the kidneys, and all other organs are stained in the same way, but the rule is the same as in the case of the skin—the bile staining is not very apt to harm the cells it stains. The bile pigments result from partial breaking down of blood pigment. It may be found in the blood stream, the spleen, the liver, or, as every fellow who has ever had a black eye knows, it may form locally under the skin around the eye or in any other tissue.

Jaundice, or bile stained tissues, therefore, may result from absorption of bile from the bile ducts or from the liver itself, or it may originate in the blood stream and have no relation to the liver.

When a new born babe turns sallow it is because he is readjusting his blood supply to his blood needs, and the liver has nothing to do with the case. There are other kinds of jaundice that are not closely related to the liver, some being due to the breaking down of blood in other parts of the body. But the great majority of people who have jaundice have something wrong with the liver or the bile ducts leading therefrom. Some of the liver jaundices are very important because, unless diagnosed and properly treated, disaster results. In this group is the jaundice due to gall stones in the common bile duct, the main duct emptying the liver and gall bladder. Some are important because they indicate cancer of the liver, bile ducts, pancreas, or intestine. But most of them are important because the liver is being injured and needs relief. Jaundice, whatever its cause, is apt to be a late rather than an early symptom, and the liver has already stood about all it can without being crippled.

DYE ON SHOES.

M. C. writes: I had a pair of shoes dyed, and the dye is on the inside of the shoes as well as on the outside. Is it safe to wear this pair of shoes?

REPLY.

People have been poisoned by wearing dyed shoes. Much depends on what dye is used, how it is used, and the length of time elapsed since the shoes were dyed. The great danger is in wearing shoes immediately after they have been dyed with a harmful dye.

You can judge of how well your case fits these specifications.

PROBABLY NERVE PRESSURE.

Mrs. S. H. writes: I am a woman 30 years old. For some time I have had a strange feeling under my collar bone. Also, my right arm becomes numb at night a- often while in use, causing my fingers to become stiff.

REPLY.

Your description indicates that something in your lower neck or upper chest is pressing on the nerves which run to your hands. Have a physician determine what it is.

THE RIO GRANDE.

L. B. writes: My attention was called to your recent article on the significance of feeling cold. I was particularly interested in two parts.

1. Does "rheumatism in the gulf region" apply to the lower Rio Grande valley section, that is, further inland?

2. You said that a popular treatment for arthritis at the present time is surgical. Recently I have seen several cases of arthritis respond marvelously to a mechanical massage treatment, even in ankylosis. Would the results obtained be due to warmth secured through forced blood circulation?

REPLY.

1. Yes.

2. That was not the chief effect. Massage is of service in most forms of arthritis

THERE IS NO MARK.

J. J. M. writes: 1. Is a child a bastard if the mother and father are married immediately after its birth?

2. Is there such thing as a "bastard's mark," that is, is it possible that a bastard be detected by a red spot on its cheek?

REPLY.

1. This is a legal question. The legal status of a child born out of wedlock is fixed by law. The different states have different laws.

2. No.

STATE HIGHWAY POLICE.

Chicago, March 5.—[Friend of the People.]—In view of the fact that I have taken and passed both of the last examinations for the police department given by the west parks and the city of Chicago, I wonder if you could tell me how, when, and where I might seek appointment to the state motorcycle police.

N. H.

Section 309, chapter 121, Smith-Hurd Revised Statutes, provides, relative to state highway maintenance police: "The employment of such maintenance police shall be made by the director of public works and buildings, without reference to civil service."

Therefore you will note from the above quoted section of the law that state highway police are exempt from the classified civil service of this state. Applications for this position should be obtained from the chief, state highway police, Centennial building, Springfield, Ill. DEAN G. CURRY.

Secretary Illinois Civil Service Commission.

RENEWAL COMMISSION.

Chicago, March 6.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—The present holder of my mortgage, a large bank, is insisting upon 5 per cent commission to renew my paper. Five years ago only 1½ per cent was paid, and as I personally see no necessity for an increase of tenfold, I would like to inquire if I am not justified in refusing such terms. In other words, the holder of this mortgage, who is perfectly agreeable in the renewal of the paper, no doubt is uninformed as to the exorbitant rate this bank charges their clients. S. A.

We agree with you that this is an abuse, but we see no way for you to force the bank to put you in touch with the mortgage holder. If you simply refuse to pay, foreclosure will be probable and the expense up to the time when you would be in touch with the holder would be likely to exceed the commission.

If you wish to try to remedy this situation for the future you might write to your representative in the legislature urging him to support house bill No. 192, which requires brokers to disclose the names of security holders.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT

APARTMENT LEASE.

Chicago, March 6.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I live in a fifteen apartment building and have a lease running to May 1 of this year. There have been rumors that the apartment is in the hands of receivers, but so far I have had no notice of this. 1. If I pay the rent to the real estate agent named in the lease will I be liable for payment to the receiver, if and when I receive notice of the receivership? 2. Is my lease canceled in the case of a receivership?

R. J. W.

1. It would do no harm to look up the receivership proceedings or to get in touch with the receiver if you know his name.

2. Clearly you would be liable to one or to the other for the fair value of the use and occupation of the premises or under the lease.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

MARCH 13, 1917.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Although pledging organized labor to stand by the colors and offering its services to the country to defend and preserve the republic against its enemies, the executive council of the American Federation of Labor, speaking for representatives of nearly 100 unions and railroad brotherhood organizations, with memberships totaling 3,000,000, issued a statement calling upon the government to stand by the principles of trade unionism in all its dealings. The statement embraces a lengthy explanation of the attitude of trade unionism toward war and a consideration of existing conditions respecting capital and labor. Then it declares that if the nation faces danger unionism will be loyal. The statement is approved by more than 150 representatives of national and international unions.

CHICAGO. — It was persistently rumored last night that every railroad in the United States is to be tied up by a "progressive strike" to begin on March 17. The only alternative was declared to be a flat concession by the roads of an eight hour day. It was said that only a few roads would be affected at first, but that by March 21 all lines would be without men to operate. The report was not confirmed by brotherhood chiefs.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — President Wilson instructed the navy department to arm American ships carrying war munitions to the allies as well as other American vessels, whether loaded with contraband or noncontraband cargoes. By this step the government not only serves notice that it will employ force to protect the rights of American ships, of whatever character, but challenges Germany's contention that armed merchantmen and munitions ships are legally subject to destruction without warning.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The state department has received information tending to establish the opinion that Gen. Obregon and a clique of politicians who surround Carranza have actually entered into an agreement with German agents whereby they have qualifiedly given promises that they will consider the Zimmermann proposals for an alliance between Germany and Mexico in the event of trouble between Washington and Berlin.

ZURICH. — Laden with cigars, cigarets, and food showered upon them by the hospitable Swiss, fifty-nine of the Yarrowdale prisoners arrived in Zurich. They had arrived at the German frontier at Lindau yesterday, after a continuous trip of fifty-two hours from the prison camp at Brandenburg.

WAR SUMMARY. — Allied reports say both the British and French gained ground in attacks along the western front. The Russians captured the town of Bisitun and pursued the Turks closer to Kermanshah. Attacks by the Germans in Volhynia were beaten off by the Russians. The fall of Bagdad caused the greatest surprise in Berlin and Vienna because quite recently the Austrian and German papers announced that owing to the large Turkish reinforcements sent from Aleppo and Smyrna, Bagdad could hold out indefinitely. Berlin claims 114,000 tons of allied shipping was sunk by submarines in three days.

CHICAGO.—They'll be keeping the city hall open on Saturday, March 17, which is St. Patrick's day, and the blame be on the city council, for it's the first time in fifty years [more or less] that they haven't closed the hall in honor of the saint. Ald. William R. O'Toole introduced a resolution yesterday to declare a city hall vacation on St. Patrick's day, but he was not able to muster the votes. "It's been the policy for fifty years to close the hall on St. Patrick's day," said Ald. O'Toole. "It's about time we cut out this tomfoolery," retorted Ald. Utpatel. "Why not have a Kaiser day or a Czar Nicholas day?"

CHICAGO.—Cheering, singing and waving placards on which were inscribed such sentiments as "Can a girl live on $8 a week? That's why we're striking," "We want arbitration," and "Aren't we entitled to a living wage?" more than 100 girl strikers went on a motor omnibus expedition into the heart of the city's garment manufacturing district yesterday. Having been restrained from picketing, the girls hit upon the automobile invasion as a substitute. The sally was short lived, however, as policemen boarded the buses and ordered the drivers to proceed to the South Clark street station. Ninety-eight girls were booked on charges of disorderly conduct.

RETRENCHMENT NEEDED IN CHICAGO.

Chicago, March 8.—With all due respect to the efforts of the mayor, now dead, aimed at the reduction of the cost of government, few, if any of us, are gullible enough to believe for an instant that governmental expense in the city of Chicago has been reduced to the lowest level consistent with proper governmental functions. In walking through the city hall and the county building the most puerile of observers can readily see the numerous political workers whose function is primarily the getting of votes for their political sponsors and not the delivery of an honest day's work for an honest day's pay. No partisan politician, however good his intentions, would dare run for the office of mayor on a platform pledged to the elimination of jobs. The man we need as mayor is a man who owes political allegiance to no party and whose sole aim will be the making of this city one of the best as well as the most economically operated municipality in the country.

At the present time there is a movement on foot to give to the new President of these United States transcendental authority to reduce the expenses of the federal government to a point where the taxpayer can foot the bill without bankrupting himself in doing so. It is my firm conviction that the people of Chicago are big enough to demand of all political factions and parties the immediate cessation of their efforts to advance the cause of their particular candidate in favor of a strictly nonpartisan candidate who is pledged to the reduction of the present operating expenses of the city of Chicago to what can truly be said to be the irreducible minimum. This man, given the necessary authority—some might call it dictatorial power—could do considerable to lighten the burden of taxes we all have to carry at the present time.

The citizens' committee, of which Mr. Fred Sargent is chairman, as well as other civic associations may well justify their existence as well as render a signal service to the people of Chicago by immediately using all of their power to save the city of Chicago the turmoil and confusion that would result from the holding of a primary and an election, with all the attendant battle for power on the part of those who would be the leaders of their factions and parties.

OBSERVER.

HE LAUGHS AT SCARS.

Paris, Ill., March 8.—Our country has been suffering from appendicitis. We have tried hot and cold applications, and the very questionable expedients of opiates and, latterly, physic. Now we have had our operation and there is every prospect of an early recovery. Of course, the scar on our abdomen will remain. But who cares for a scar!

OLD SCRIP.

Blue Island, Ill., March 7.—In reading THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE of March 7 I noticed that some old scrip of the 1907 panic had been brought to your office which Mrs. G. P. McNamara had preserved as souvenirs.

I can go her one better, as I have in my possession some Union military scrip issued by the state of Kansas, dated June 1, 1867, which my grandfather received in payment of military service during Price's raid, which occurred in 1864.

I also have in my possession a copy of the Daily Citizen of Vicksburg, Miss., issued July 2, 1863, which is printed on wall paper, which, according to an item in the paper, was the last issue printed on wall paper. CLARA E. HEINECKE.

ALMOST AS BAD AS TODAY.

Chicago, March 6.—In THE TRIBUNE of March 5 you published a letter written by Mr. Medill to a friend concerning the abuse of strong drink. This letter was written about the time when I was about old enough to realize what baneful effects wine and beer caused. Had Mr. Medill lived where I was at that time and about six years longer it would not have been necessary to institute a diligent inquiry. I can recall six different men who were drunk whenever they were able to get schnapps. One of them hanged himself in a drunken stupor. Another one lost a very good position on account of drink. Another man used to go to church on Sunday. He was a Christian such as Mr. Medill mentions. After church he would get drunk and stay drunk if his boys were able to carry enough schnapps home to him. Another man was murdered in a drunken brawl. Two sons of this man are living in Minneapolis at the present time. I could mention several more, all within a radius of not more than one-half mile, and that is a fair example of all the European countries represented in America. Those who care to may draw their own conclusions. J. A. B.

MORE IMPORTANT, SAY WE.

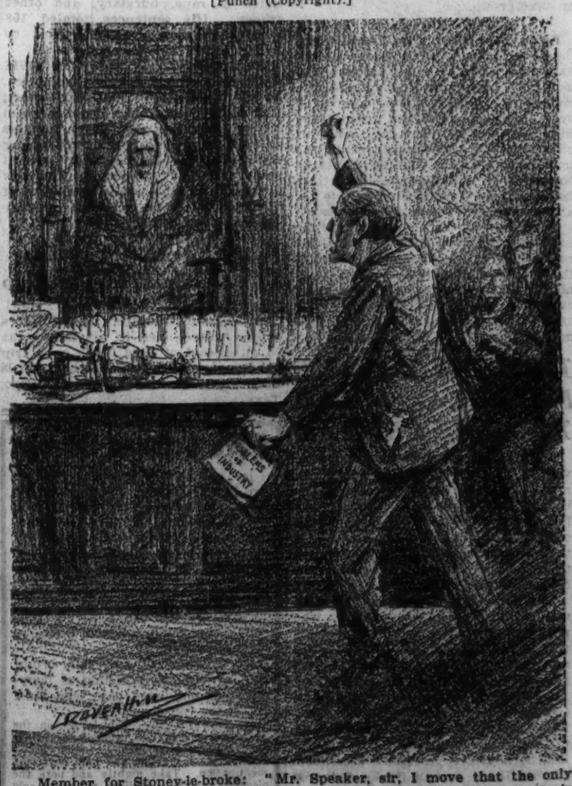
Chicago, March 7.—Have we not had about enough of Smitty's ordering so-called manservants around? It is also about time that people start realizing that butlers and houseworkers in general are sane and decent people and are not to be sneered at nor to be looked down upon. I think they are just as important in this world's makeup as any other folks. LOTTA.

THE ROAD BACK.

Chicago, March 8.—Our banking system must be made sound; taxes must be curtailed as well as honestly applied, and funds economically administered. Confidence, which is inherent in the heart of every American, will then revive and be reflected in a restoration of business activity. ROYAL W. BELL.

MR. PUNCH'S CURIOUS DREAM

[Punch (Copyright).]



Member for Stoney-le-broke: "Mr. Speaker, sir, I move that the only important business before the house is the relief of taxation for the country's recovery. The government must take this risk. . . ." (Loud and prolonged cheers from every quarter of the house.)

At the hearings Mr. Chambers analyzes the heating problems that often are the cause of the smoke pollution and gives advice as to the proper methods of firing furnaces. He also warns that on a second violation of the ordinance suit will be started in the Municipal court to abate the nuisance.

W. PARKS BAN ON NONUNION MUSIC MEETS PROTEST

The announcement of West Park Commissioner James C. Petrillo, who is also president of the Chicago Federation of Musicians, that nonunion musicians would not be permitted to furnish music at functions in the park system met with protests yesterday. Several women said they would ask passage of resolutions by their clubs asking Gov. Horner to take notice of Petrillo's edict.

Commissioner James O'Keefe, member of the park board's recreation committee, of which Petrillo is chairman, said Petrillo's ban is not applicable in every instance. Recently, Mr. O'Keefe said, a boys' organization was having a dance in one of the park buildings. Petrillo inquired about the music and found that ten or twelve players had been engaged at a certain cost. Petrillo said he would furnish a small orchestra at less cost, according to O'Keefe, and the offer was accepted.

"Commissioner Petrillo told Commissioner Samuel Kostelny and myself, of the recreation committee, that he was trying to keep his union men working, and would make concessions on the price to be charged," O'Keefe said.

Bay Slain in Alleged Attempt to Steal Car

AUTOMOBILE THEFTS.
Automobiles stolen, 65; recovered, 77; stripped, 24 [from police records for 24 hours ending at midnight Saturday].

George Staudt, 16 years old, 1522 Hollywood avenue, was shot and fatally wounded early yesterday by Walter Morton, 5037 North Ashland avenue. Morton told police that he looked from the window of his home and saw the boy trying to steal his automobile. He ran out and opened fire when the boy tried to escape, he said.

Police took Morton into custody. They found two gallons of alcohol, a dozen pints of gin, and several firearms in his home.

POPE TO CRITICIZE ORTHODOX RITES FOR ROYAL BABY

Bulgarian King and Queen Will Be Reproved.

VATICAN CITY, March 12.—(AP)—Pope Pius will voice open and sharp disapproval of King Boris and Queen Giovanna of Bulgaria tomorrow morning, say Vatican prelates, when he delivers an allocution to the cardinals in the holy year consistory. The pontiff, they say, will denounce the Orthodox baptism of the little princess, Maria Luisa, born in January.

The consistory is called to create six new cardinals, among whom are Archbishop Fumasoni-Biondi, until now apostolic delegate at Washington, D. C., and Archbishop Villeneuve of Quebec. Three cardinals also will be nominated to open the holy doors of three Rome basilicas Saturday, April 1, at the moment the pope opens the holy door of St. Peter's to inaugurate the holy year.

Pope to Speak an Hour.

The consistory promises to be one of the longest on record, since a large amount of ecclesiastical business has accumulated since the last consistory in 1930. The pope will speak nearly an hour, delivering an allocution of approximately 6,000 words in discussing the world situation.

In addition to nominating the six new cardinals and naming of the three to open the holy doors, the consistory will approve the elevation of Cardinals Sincero and Cerretti to cardinal bishops and Cardinal Mori to cardinal priest, along with three canonizations and a number of appointments of bishops and archbishops.

The prelates said this evening that the pope would present to the consistory about 20 nominations for new bishops, among which probably would be the cities of Seattle, Wash., and Syracuse, N. Y. It also was expected 300 nominations which have been made since 1930 would be presented for confirmation.

Second Reproval of Rulers.

The pope, prelates believe, will recall Boris and Giovanna's verbal and written promise to him that all their children were to be baptized Roman Catholics, including the heir to the throne. He will remind them that it was on this promise that he granted permission for the Catholic princess, Giovanna, to marry the Orthodox King Boris in a Catholic wedding service.

This would be the second time the pope has publicly reproved Boris and Giovanna. The first time was in his Christmas address to the cardinals in 1930. Then he expressed his displeasure at the Orthodox marriage ceremony that followed upon the Catholic ceremony. This, he pointed out, was also contrary to the royal couple's written promise. The pontiff, through his delegate at Sofia, Magr. Roncalli, has already protested to the Bulgarian government against the royal baby's baptism.

His holiness will nominate the dean of the sacred college, 81 year old Cardinal Pignatelli di Belmonte, to open the holy door of the basilica of St. Paul; Cardinal Marchetti-Selvaggiani for St. John Lateran and Cardinal Cerretti for St. Mary major.

Americans Are Listed.

Tomorrow's consistory, which is secret, will undoubtedly follow the established custom of confirming or preconizing appointments of archbishops and bishops made by the pope since the last consistory in July, 1930. These include a number of Americans. Among them are:

Archbishop John Gregory Murray, St. Paul, Minn.; Bishops Karl J. Alter, Toledo, O.; Urban John Vehr, Denver, Colo.; Thomas K. Gorman, Reno, Nev.; Stanislaus Bona, Grand Island, Neb.; John B. Peterson, Manchester, N. H.; Joseph E. McCarthy, Portland, Me.; James E. Kearney, Salt Lake City; Daniel Desmond, Alexandria, La.; auxiliary bishops, James A. McFadden, Cleveland, and Elmer J. Ritter, Indianapolis.

BY FRENCH LANE.

The big sleep holiday is on at the Chicago Stadium. It started at 2 minutes after 9 o'clock last night when 24 cyclists from many parts of the world began the long trip to no place in the 29th international six day bike race.

After four hours of pedaling, jamming, and spills, the boys were 96 miles along on the journey and going stronger than ever when the 1 o'clock sprints got under way. A few minutes later they had passed the 100 mile mark. "And not a town is in sight," Harry Mendel, the public relations boss, flashed up to the press box.

Mendel Demands Action.

Mr. Mendel was making short cuts across the infield keeping a close tab on the boys. No harm came to any of them, although there was a bad spill ten minutes after the start when three riders went down in a heap. They were Charley Ritter of Newark, Alfred Letourner of France, and Norman Hill of San Jose, Cal. None was hurt and Mr. Mendel ordered the pedaling caravan to "keep moving, there, keep moving!"

When the 1 o'clock sprints started, 36 laps had been gained and four teams were tied for first place. The leaders were the American team of Bobby Thomas and Norman Hill, the Canadian team made up of Mickey Rodak of Chicago and Torchy Peden of Vancouver, the Montreal-New Jersey team of Jules Audy and Bill Grimm, and the Chicago team of Tony Schaller and Steve Wagner.

Somebody Must Be Last.

Then Thomas and Hill forced their way to the front, and at 3 a. m. were still a lap ahead, with four teams tied for second place.

Trailing the field in last place was the Italian-American team of Al Klingbell of Chicago and Giovanni Manera of Italy. They were five laps behind, but thought they would be right up there when they reached the next town.

That delay of 2 minutes at the post—the starting time was scheduled for 9 o'clock—was unfortunate and unavoidable. It was due to a bad trigger finger on the part of Kate Smith, who officiated with the pistol in the starter's stand. Kate simply could not make the pistol blast out the bark that would send the boys on their way.

Oh, Oh, She Did It!

Referee Frank Kramer had to reload the gun and after the field had whizzed around the saucer ten times. Kate coaxed a shot out of the hand cannon and the race was on.

There were 7,500 customers in the crowd at midnight. The customers and the riders all were fresh faced with a sparkle in their eyes. What they will look like at the end of six days is something else again.

Yet in some way or another the riders and customers for many, many years have been able to endure the ordeal.

Results of the 1 a. m. sprints:
1. Horan, Schaller, Manera, Croley.
2. Spencer, Audy, J. Walthour, Peden.
3. Lands, Grimm, Horan, Ritter.
4. Spencer, Hill, Audy, Peden.

Pick New York Golden Gloves Team Tonight

BY ARCH WARD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 12.—New York tomorrow night will pick the team it will send against Chicago in the inter-city Golden Gloves bouts at Chicago Stadium on March 29. The championship round will be fought in Madison Square Garden and the Daily News A. A., which promotes the tournament, is hopeful of a capacity crowd despite the bank holidays.

New York has supported Golden Gloves as enthusiastically as Chicago. Since the first meet eight years ago the finals and inter-city matches never have failed to fill the Garden. If the 1933 tournament falls short of that goal it may be attributed to the moratorium.

The system that prevailed in Chicago for the purchase of tickets has been adopted here. Checks will be accepted in payment for tickets provided the buyer brings along a canceled check to show he has a bank account.

16 Bouts on Program.

The program tomorrow night consists of eight championship bouts in the open division and eight in the novice class. Sixteen boys from this group, two in each weight, will be chosen to face Chicago. The squad will go into training immediately under the supervision of Jack Elliot.

Considerable interest centers in the effort of Winthrop Rutherford Jr., Princeton alumnus, champion oarsman and all-around amateur sportsman, to win the heavyweight title. His brother John, who rows No. 5 on the Princeton crew, won his Golden Glove in the same weight last year but withdrew from the inter-city bouts because of illness.

Faces a Gigolo.

Rutherford's opponent is Steve Dudas of Edgewater, N. J., who styles himself an "unemployed gigolo." Dudas has no regard for boxing science. He is a devastating ripper and tearer. Dancing and fancy stepping are for George White's Scandals, he says.

Among the veterans who have reached the final round is Jimmy Siclari, who was an inter-city flyweight winner in 1929. Julie Katz, 118 pounds, and Bob Pastor, light heavyweight, are other holdovers. Pastor, they say, is the most improved fighter in the meet. He was good enough a year ago to win his intercity match. If Pastor survives tomorrow's bouts he will meet Max Marek, Chicago's most improved boxer, at the Stadium on March 29.

ERSKINE NAMED COACH AT LOYOLA OF NEW ORLEANS

New Orleans, March 12.—(AP)—The appointment of Robert H. [Doc] Erskine as head football coach at Loyola university of New Orleans to succeed Clark D. Shaughnessy was announced today by athletic officials.

Shaughnessy is leaving Loyola to take over the coaching job at the University of Chicago, succeeding the veteran Alonzo Stagg.

Erskine has made a brilliant record as coach of the Jesuit High school football team here during the last six years.

Erskine finished high school in his home town of Waukegan, Ill., and later was graduated from the New Mexico Military institute.

Ruppert Will See Ruth Today About Contract

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 12.—[Special.]—Col. Jacob Ruppert, owner of the Yankees, arrived here today, accompanied by George Weiss, general manager of the club's farm system, for the purpose of reaching an agreement on salary with Babe Ruth and signing the slugger for the coming season.

Col. Ruppert said he would see Ruth at the workout tomorrow "and then we will get together."

"Do you care to say whether you are prepared to increase your offer to Ruth?" Col. Ruppert was asked.

"On that I have nothing to say," he answered, with a smile.

Ruth was busy on the links of the Pasadena Golf club, where, with Billy Burke, he defeated Lloyd Gullickson and Bob Lassing, 3 and 2, in an exhibition in the interests of the Crippled Children's hospital here.

The Babe has been offered a contract for $50,000 this year, a cut of $25,000 from his salary last year.

St. Mel, Leo and St. Philip Lights Win

St. Mel, Leo, and St. Philip last night earned the right to continue in the race for the Catholic High school league lightweight basketball championship by winning quarter-final games at De La Salle gymnasium.

St. Philip scored its ninth straight league victory by brushing aside Mount Carmel, 20 to 18, in the closest of the three games. De Paul was no match for Leo, losing 34 to 23, and St. George was easy for St. Mel, 33 to 20.

St. Philip and Leo will play at De La Salle tomorrow night. The winner will meet St. Mel later in the week for the league title.

JACOBSON BEATS CLARK FOR U. S. PING-PONG TITLE

Jessie Purves Becomes First Women's Champ.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Jimmy Jacobson of New York hammered his way to the national ping-pong championship by defeating Coleman Clark, defending champion, in the national tournament finals yesterday at the Palmer house. The score was 23-21, 21-9, 21-13.

Jesse Purves of Des Plaines, became the first national women's ping-pong champion by beating Flossie Basler of Chicago, 16-21, 21-19, 23-21, 21-13.

The men's doubles title was won by two Chicago youngsters, Paul Pearson and Edwin Lewis, who conquered the experienced team of George T. Bacon and Jacobson, 21-19, 21-17, 22-20.

Jacobson at Peak.

Jacobson's forehand smash was perhaps the deciding factor in his victory over Clark. Through protracted rallies he played steadily on the defensive until he had maneuvered into position for a killing shot. Then he slapped them to the corners. Time and again he sent the ball bounding off the table into the galleries with bulletlike speed.

Clark's topspin drive was working with an effectiveness which would have worn down almost any player who was not in perfect form, but he happened to meet Jacobson at a time when the New Yorker was at the peak of his game.

Working with smooth teamwork, Pearson and Lewis overthrew Bacon and Jacobson by virtue of their fast, twisting drives. Using the penholder style of racket grip, the Chicago boys took the offensive from the first serve and attacked throughout the match.

Driving Game Wins.

In spite of her speed, Miss Basler was unable to cope with the cool, driving game of Miss Purves. The champion is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. M. Purves of Des Plaines. She is director of women's athletics at Maine Township High school, where she has been stationed since her graduation from the University of Illinois in 1927.

Miss Purves was the dark horse of the women's competition inasmuch as this was only the second major tournament in which she has played. She tried for the western championship two years ago, but was eliminated in an early round.

In winning his national championship Jacobson topped a field of 180 players who have been competing since Friday. The tournament was sponsored by the Interfraternity club of Chicago, with the coöperation of the American Ping-pong association.

Larranaga, at 3 to 1, First in $50,000 Race

HAVANA, March 12.—(AP)—Larranaga, carrying the silks of Allan Ryan's Anall stable, romped home the winner of the Cuban Grand National handicap, richest race in Cuba's turf history, today and clipped three-fifths of a second off Oriental Park's track record for the mile and a quarter.

Stoutly ridden by Charley Kurtsinger, the 4 year old gelded son of Apprehension-Garden of Allah II., stood off the rousing challenge of Mrs. F. A. Carreaud's Kincsen in the stretch to win by a length, going away. Another length behind was the Foxcatcher farm's White Clover II.

Pays More in Mutuels.

Larranaga ran the distance in 2:03 to better the track record of 2:03 3-5 hung up some years ago by the 4 year old Herron, and in the mutuels paid $14.80 for $2 to win, $6.40 to place, and $5.20 to show. Kincsen paid $9.60 and $4.60 and White Clover II. returned $3.80.

Handbook prices at the track, on which most bookmakers in the United States pay off, were: Larranaga, 3-1 to win, even money to place, and 1 to 2 to show. Kincsen was at 4 to 1 to place and 2 to 1 to show, and White Clover II.'s show price was 4 to 5.

Larranaga's victory earned $39,150 for Ryan while the winner's trainer, E. J. Bennett, received $2,000, and Kurtsinger $1,000.

The race, witnessed by an enthusiastic if not overly large crowd, was run in bright sunshine over a fast track. Larranaga's victory brought a round of applause, for the Anall stable star was well played.

Gold Step Sets Pace.

The field of nine broke cleanly at the barrier and the horses were well bunched passing the grandstand. Mrs. S. H. Fairbank's Gold Step and the Cuba and Chile stable's Cambridgeshire set the early pace and finally managed to race each other out of contention.

Out of the maneuvering for position on the far side of the track, Larranaga, previously held under restraint, emerged leading the field into the stretch and, under able handling by Kurtsinger, held Kincsen's fast finishing drive in check.

8 to 5 Choice Is Fifth.

C. Leroy King's Pari-Mutuel, carrying only 105 pounds and the favorite at 8 to 5, never got under way. Blocked at the last turn, Pari-Mutuel could do no better than fifth, a head behind Gold Step, which trailed White Clover II. by five lengths.

The Grand National featured a program of ten races which marked the closing of Oriental Park's 51 day race meeting.

NEW NATIONAL CHAMPION

Sox Look for Two Southpaws, One to Pitch and One to Hit

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pasadena, Cal., March 12.—Lew Fonseca, the White Sox manager, is in pretty fair shape for talent, considering what the team has owned for the last 12 years, but he isn't quite satisfied. He wants to bolster his reserve forces. He desires a utility infielder who can assure protection for second base, an outfielder who swings from the left side of the plate, and a left handed pitcher.

The athletes needed to round out a personnel that should revive baseball interest on Chicago's south side do not have to be stars, because they aren't wanted for regular service. At present there is nobody able to handle second base in the event of an injury to Jack Hayes. Hal Rhyne can play there, but is better at shortstop.

The outfield, if made up of Simmons, Haas, and Kress, will have only one southpaw hitter—Haas—and one more of the kind might be handy for emergencies. A left handed pitcher always is helpful when the enemy conducts a sustained bombardment against a right hander.

Will Be More Waivers Asked.

Obtaining three such men may not be easy, but at least one of them might be picked up. Present conditions favor a team which is sitting back waiting for a break of that kind. All except a few of the big league clubs are going to conduct their season's affairs with as few employés as possible. That means there will be more seeking of waivers than in normal times.

Fonseca intends to keep a close eye on the waiver list so that no player he might use can get out of the league. This year the cutting of rosters to 23 must occur by May 15 instead of June 15.

The matter of a left handed pitcher is important because there is only one on the present squad. He's Clarence Fieber, the 19 year old giant. He is a great prospect, but should be drilled in a minor league for at least one year. If another southpaw can't be located Fieber may be retained, if only to furnish his teammates batting practice against left handed pitching.

Might Use Kress.

Fonseca wants to carry six infielders and there are only five on the list, not counting rookie Joe Chamberlin, who has forgotten to report. The only extra one is Hal Rhyne. In a pinch Red Kress could be moved from the outfield to the inner defense, but the redhead, like Rhyne, isn't of much good at second base.

Billy Sullivan, who will not report until he finishes school in June, can be used at first base if anything happens to Fonseca, but the present plan is to restrict the young man to a catcher's rôle. He will be rated third string catcher until he learns more about the position in which his dad sparkled 25 years ago.

Whip Merchants, 9-2.

The Sox's exercises today consisted of another frolic with the Pasadena Merchants' team. The major leaguers, having slept soundly after the earthquake scare of Friday night, were more like themselves, so won easily, 9 to 2.

Among the high lights were 14 strikeouts inflicted on Pasadena by Ed Durham, Vic Frasier and Paul Gregory. Seven were the work of Durham, who worked the first three innings. Another item was a home run over the left center field wall by Al Simmons after Fonseca had singled in the third. Besides this, Simmons beat out two infield hits. Jack Hayes also slapped one over the fence and singled twice. The score:

AGUA CALIENTE MAY RESUME RACING FRIDAY

AGUA CALIENTE, March 12.—(AP)—Joseph M. Schenck, president of the Agua Caliente Jockey club, said tonight racing probably would be resumed here Friday. A definite decision will be made Tuesday, he said.

Jockey club officials announced yesterday purses for the three remaining stake races scheduled for the suspended 80 day meeting had been slashed, the handicap to $25,000, the Derby to $2,000, and the Futurity to $1,500.

The three races will be run, although today was the day set for the Derby. It is not likely, Schenck said, that the meeting will be extended beyond March 26, handicap day.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., March 12.—Manager Bill Terry's homer with two on in the ninth this afternoon gave his New York Giants a 10 to 7 victory over the Chicago Cubs and a 2 to 1 edge in the series at Wrigley field.

Terry's deciding hit, registered off Lynn Nelson, was the fifth homer in a day of strictly second string pitching. Babe Herman made two of the round trip drives, Woody English one, and Gus Mancuso one. Yerkes, Newsom, and Nelson struggled for the Cubs, and Starr, Bell, and Luque were the ones who made the Sabbath a day of rest for the Giants' first line pitchers.

Are They Over Their Terror?

The Cubs tomorrow will play their lone 1933 game with their stepbrothers, the Los Angeles Angels, and Tuesday will wind up the year's exhibition calendar with the Giants. Then on Wednesday and Thursday will come the transplanted Chicago city series between the Cubs and White Sox.

The players said they had got over their earthquake terror, but nevertheless there were five errors, several surprising throws to wrong bases, and a failure to cover a base.

Bill Herman opened the game with a single to right. When Ott surprised Terry by returning the ball to first base, Herman raced for second. The Giant manager then made a wide throw to second, enabling Herman to arrive there safely. English and Cuyler were infield outs, but Babe Herman singled to left center, scoring Bill.

Pair Doubles for Run.

Demaree pushed off the second inning with a double to center field wall and ran on to third on Davis' poor return. H. Taylor also doubled, Demaree scoring.

Three runs in the latter half of the second inning gave the Giants the lead. Terry got credit for a two base hit when Demaree misjudged his high fly and went to third on a wild pitch. Ott flied to Babe Herman, Terry scoring. Bill Herman threw out Jackson. Vergez walked and Mancuso knocked a homer into the right field bleachers.

Babe Herman gave the Cubs a 5 to 3 lead in the fifth in the following fashion: Bill Herman reached first on Critz's low throw and English walked. Cuyler sent a high fly to Ott. The Babe picked one of Herman Bell's offerings and socked it far over the left field wall; Bill Herman and English scoring ahead of him. Vergez threw out Demaree and H. Taylor flied to Davis.

Giants Hop on Newsom.

The Giants picked on Buck Newsom in their end of the fifth for two runs and a tie. Vergez flied to Cuyler, but Mancuso and Bell walked. Critz caromed a hot single off Bill Herman's glove, Mancuso scoring and Bell stopping at second. Davis singled to center, scoring Bell.

A double by Ott and Vergez's single gave the Giants the lead in the sixth.

Two homers put the Cubs in front in the seventh. English knocked one over the left field wall with one down, and Babe Herman got his second of the afternoon and his third in two days when his drive hit the lighting fixture over the left center wall.

Critz opened the Giants' half of the seventh with a triple to center and got home with the tying run on a single by Davis.

The Cubs had the bases full with one out in the eighth, but could not produce.

The Cubs went out in order in the first of the ninth. After one out in the New York ninth, Davis doubled and Moore walked. Terry then ended the game by knocking the ball over the right field screen.

GRIMM STAKES ALL ON VISIT TO DOCTOR TODAY

Los Angeles, Cal., March 12.—[Special.]—Manager Charles Grimm of the Cubs tonight made the following statement:

"Tomorrow I'm going to Dr. Charles Spencer in a last desperate effort to keep from being a bench manager. If he can't fix my ailing back it looks like I won't be getting in that lineup very soon, if ever, as a regular. I hate to think of having to manage the team from the dugout, but I now am forced to admit that it looks like Dr. Spencer is my salvation or else."

Grimm had a "catch in his back" while packing his trunk in preparation for the trip to California. At first the trouble was diagnosed as lumbago. Since then Grimm has had both spinal and dental X-rays made, none of which reveals what's askew. Dr. Spencer is a physician and osteopath, hailed by ball players as "very rough with the muscles but able."

Von Elm, Smith Win Golf Match from Jones, Diegel

Los Angeles, Cal., March 12.—(AP)—A gallery estimated at 3,500 persons saw George Von Elm and MacDonald Smith win a best ball golf match from Bobby Jones and Leo Diegel, 3 and 1, at the Wilshire Country club today. Smith and Diegel had 76s, Von Elm had 77, and Jones 79.

Hagen's Open Golf Tourney Won by Hagen

Jacksonville, Fla., March 12.—(AP)—Shooting a sparkling 139, Walter Hagen today won the 36 hole open golf tournament he sponsored himself, but he declined to accept the $300 first prize and passed it on to Al Espinosa of Akron, O., and Dick Metz of Deal, N. J., who tied for second with 140.

Hagen, who played just for the sport of it in a tournament that included the winners of every major golf championship this winter, turned in a card of 34—33 –67 today to add to his score of 71 yesterday.

Cooper Shoots 141.

Espinosa, with 70—36—34—140, tied with Metz, who toured the Florida Country club course in 73—33—34.

Harry Cooper of Chicago, Charles Guest and Craig Wood, both of Deal, N. J., tied for next place with 141 each.

Paul Runyan of New York and Denny Shute of Cleveland each had 143.

Rouse Ties Dutra.

Olin Dutra of Los Angeles, Willie Macfarlane of Tuckahoe, N. Y., and John Rouse of Chicago tied with cards of 144, while the next lowest scorer was Bill Mehlborn of New York with 147.

The money winners and other finishers:

SAMPSON MEETS BAKER TONIGHT AT WHITE CITY

The Card

Marty Sampson vs. Rosy [Kid] Baker [8].
Jackie Sharkey vs. Jackie Stewart [8].
Georgie Nate vs. Joey Cohen [5].
Johnny Nate vs. Eddie Evans [4].
Laddie Tonelli vs. Mickey O'Shea [4].
Ralph Lubansky vs. Freddie Dolph [4].
Phil Pernice vs. Frankie Keevil [4].

Marty Sampson, New York middleweight, will meet Rosey [Kid] Baker of Indianapolis in an eight round bout tonight at the White City roller rink, 63d street and South Park. The weight has been set at 160 pounds.

Baker replaces Bud Saltis as Sampson's opponent. Saltis pleaded a hand injury and was taken off the card Friday.

Jackie Stewart, Louisville, Ky., featherweight, and Jackie Sharkey of Minneapolis, Minn., will clash in the eight round semi-final. Immediately after the match Sharkey will leave for St. Paul where he is to face Wayne Short next Monday.

Laddie Tonelli, Marseilles, Ill., welterweight, will seek his eighth victory against Mickey O'Shea in a four round contest. Georgie Nate, South Bend, Ind., featherweight, will face Joey Cohen of Milwaukee in a five round match. His bantamweight brother, Johnny Nate, is to battle Eddie Evans in a four round encounter. Two other bouts at four rounds will complete the card.

Six bouts will comprise the weekly show at the Midway arena tomorrow. Jackie Parker and Steve Gotch, Chicago middleweights, will meet in the six round windup. Johnny Hays battles Freddie Gravelle in the five round semi-windup.

An amateur card will be presented tonight at Marigold gardens. Eight bouts will be offered. Eddie Klecka of Crane college, and Charlie Hibler, Hamlin park, will wrestle.

WATSON TAKES LEAD FOR MATCH BOWLING TITLE

Stewart Watson took the lead for the Chicago match game bowling championship yesterday at the 29 West Randolph Recreation by scoring 1,287 in six games.

Watson's total for 18 games is 3,829, only 36 pins ahead of Lloyd Strouse, whose score of 1,145 yesterday put his total at 3,793. Strouse led the field consistently in the preliminary rounds.

Lee Calloway is in third place with 3,610 and George Morrison has 3,574. The best games yesterday were Morrison's 279 and Watson's 275.

The tournament will be concluded this week-end. The four bowlers will roll six games at the North Town Recreation Friday, at the Windy City alleys Saturday, and the Madison-Kedzie arcade Sunday.

GLEN SMITH WINS GLEN VIEW CLUB SHOOT WITH 99

Perfect shooting weather brought high scores at the Glen View club traps yesterday, Glen Smith winning with a card of 96 plus 3 for a total of 99. It was Smith's second triumph of the season. C. A. Tilt and S. A. Charles won the semi-final club tournament shoot. The finals will take place next Sunday. H. M. Harper and J. H. Blakney were winners in the protection shoot. Bagley won the junior event. High gunners:

TROPICAL PARK OPENS 17 DAY MEETING TODAY

Miami, Fla., March 12.—(AP)—Tropical Park will pick up the Miami winter racing season tomorrow with inauguration of a 17 day meeting.

Most of the thoroughbreds which carried colors during the 45 day meeting at nearby Hialeah Park will be transferred to the Tropical Park grounds. Some which ran in today's Cuban National sweepstakes, notably Larranaga, the winner, also will compete in the events.

This will be Tropical Park's second season under legalized pari-mutuel wagering. Hialeah Park closed Saturday with the running of the Florida Derby.

Tennes Sets Record in Winning Outboard Trophy

New Smyrna, Fla., March 12.—(AP)—Horace Tennes of Chicago won the Gov. Scholtz outboard motor boat trophy today. Tennes set a world record for amateurs in class F outboards when he raced around the five mile oval at 48.59 miles an hour. The previous amateur record was set by Chesley Allen of Plainfield, N. J., at Philadelphia in 1931 at 48.25 miles an hour.

New Teams to Enroll in Midwest League Tonight

More teams will be enrolled in the Midwest Baseball league at tonight's meeting at 218 West Madison street. The following teams registered last week: Chicago Heights A. A., Blue Island, Elmhurst, Speranta Boosters, Spokes A. C., Bellwood Panthers, Peru Athletics, All Chicagos, and Chicago Union Giants.

Newton and Wallace Win Miami Tourney

Miami, Fla., March 12.—(AP)—Tex Newton of Lido, N. Y., and Al Wallace of Detroit won the invitation amateur four ball team tournament today, defeating Tommy Goodwin of Monroe, N. Y., and Albert R. Hakes of Dunkirk, N. Y., 2 and 1, in the 36-hole final round.

Ailing Hawks to Return for Treatment

Manager Tom Gorman notified the Blackhawk offices yesterday that three and possibly four men would return to Chicago from Montreal this morning for medical treatment following the Hawks' 6 to 2 defeat at the hands of the Montreal Maroons Saturday night.

Taffy Abel, Gorman said, suffered a serious spinal injury in the Maroon game and will be unable to play again until next season. He was taken to a hospital in an ambulance after the game. Teddy Graham, the other regular defense man, and Lolo Couture will arrive with Abel, Gorman said and Burch also may be sent home.

Abel, Graham, and Burch were injured Saturday in what Gorman said was the roughest hockey game he has ever seen. Couture's ankle was sprained at Ottawa last Tuesday.

Coulter, the only remaining defense man, suffered a ruptured blood vessel in his foot against Montreal, but went to Boston, where the Hawks meet the Bruins tonight.

RANGERS, 8; AMERICANS, 2

New York, March 12.—(AP)—The New York Rangers routed the Americans, 8 to 2, tonight in the final all-New York game of the National Hockey league season. The defeat, the second in as many nights, left the Americans two points behind the Montreal Canadiens in the International division race with only three games to play.

RED WINGS, 3; CANADIENS, 1

Detroit, Mich., March 12.—(AP)—Detroit's Red Wings moved back in first place in the National Hockey league's American division tonight by defeating the Montreal Canadiens, 3 to 1. Thirteen penalties were called in the rough match.

Gets Heap Big Thrill in Low, Swampy Plains

BY BOB BECKER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Seminole Indian Reservation, Fla., March 12.—Time was turned back several decades this morning when, in company with W. Stanley Hanson, authority on Seminole history and customs, and Johnny Cypress, a member of the tribe, we were traveling through the flat lowlands and cypress hammocks here in the Seminole country. Our flivver was bouncing along through the saw grass and skirting the edges of big saucerlike lake beds which in a few months will be inundated because when the rainy season starts most of this Big Cypress country is under water.

A hot summer sun overhead . . . buzzards describing wide sweeping circles in the air while searching for carrion . . . southern meadowlarks flushing ahead of the car . . . long cypress hammocks draped with moss all around us on the horizon . . . no roads, no houses in sight . . . a feeling of complete isolation in a tropical wilderness.

Then Johnny said something in the Seminole tongue and pointed ahead. Way in the distance an object was moving on the flat surface of this swampy low plain. It was an oxen cart—the final touch that was needed to give this wilderness area an atmosphere that fits the Seminole and his surroundings.

Our flivver soon came abreast of the travelers and their primitive conveyance. We had hoped that Indians would be driving the team of brown, patient oxen. But no. Johnny's sharp eyes had figured out that these were white men slowly, painfully coming out of the big swamps with their team of oxen and big wagon.

When the modern flivver stopped next to the old fashioned wagon we met three trappers and alligator hunters of La Belle. And were they glad to see us! Unshaven, burned by the sun, this trio had been in the "bush" for several days beyond contacts with other whites. They were out of tobacco. So they eagerly and thankfully received a supply from us.

In the wagon, which had arching supports over the top so a canvas cover could be stretched over the conveyance to make it a real "covered wagon," we saw a bale of raccoon skins and one pelt of a wild cat. However, the trappers reported little luck with alligators because of high water in the swamps. But the significant thing in the meeting with this trio of pelt hunters was the fact that the Seminoles way down in the heart of this dreary swamp country have to meet competition with the whites.

Not even this last stand in the wilderness is wholly their

Those Living Longest Have Greatest Hope

Three Beloved Ladies Tell Philosophies.

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

They have lived through three panics. They have known the gold rush of '49, the assassination of Lincoln, and the free silver campaign. They have thrilled at the invention of the electric light and the telephone, the airplane and the radio. They have seen Grant and Garibaldi, Sheridan and Sherman make history.

And still they agree, "The best is yet to come." Three of the most beloved women in Chicago society—Mrs. Stephen Garretson Browning, Miss Cornelia Gray Lunt, and Mrs. Richard R. Donnelley—are hopeful about the present, optimistic about the future. As Shakespeare's Othello has said, "My life upon their faith."

Each one of these three ladies is to celebrate a birthday within the next six weeks. Mrs. Browning will pass her 96th milestone next Wednesday. C Sunday, March 19, Miss Lunt will become a nonagenarian, and a few weeks later, on April 21, Mrs. Donnelley will have her 88th birthday.

There will be a trio of parties, but in keeping with the times each one will be a simple affair—a birthday cake, a cup of tea, and a friendly handclasp.

Yesterday Mrs. Frank J. Loesch was busy making plans for the first of the three while her mother, Mrs. Browning, was deeply engrossed in the latest issue of the Freeman's Journal, the paper her father, Col. John Holmes Prentiss, founded in Cooperstown, N. Y., more than 100 years ago.

Mrs. Browning likes to talk about Cooperstown, for it was there that she was born on the banks of lovely Lake Otsego, and it is there that she spends her summers in the old family homestead. She has written many of these experiences into her book, "Full Harvest," that was published last summer.

This—the book—and the depression were the two most important events of Mrs. Browning's 95th year. In fact the first was something of a tonic for the latter. For letters of commendation have filled her mail box the last several months, giving her new interest and enthusiasm.

"I am calling it a gathering," explained Mrs. Loesch yesterday, in speaking of the plans for the party to be held at the Drake hotel, where Mrs. Browning makes her home with the Loesches. "There will be no formal invitations this year, but we do want all of mother's friends to come in Wednesday between 4 and 7."

It is almost a novelty for Mrs. Browning to celebrate her birthday at home, since many of her parties have been in a foreign country or on the high seas. Her 91st celebration was on the Caribbean and her 88th in Jerusalem.

The party that Miss Rachel McFerran is planning this year for Miss Lunt will be similar t that of Mrs. Browning except that it is to be an evening rather than an afternoon affair. Friends of Evanston's "first lady," whose father, Orrington Lunt, helped make the town possible, are invited to come to Anchorfast, the big brown frame house at Judson avenue and Clark street, at 7 o'clock on March 19.

There will be three birthday cakes—one the gift of Mrs. Theodore W. Robinson, who never forgets Miss Lunt's birthday, another the present of several Norwegian friends, and the third the "billet doux" of a group of Evanston neighbors. Then there will also be the Madrigal club from the University of Chicago led by Mack Evans. The members are to sing all of Miss Lunt's favorite songs.

Miss Lunt is well and happy this winter and thinking about another European trip, for she is convinced "that times are getting better." In line with her pleasant philosophy that "life is a falling down and getting up again, both spiritual and physical," she has faith in the President and the country.

"I was in London last summer," she said yesterday, "when England came off the gold standard. The British were plucky then, but not as plucky as Americans are right now."

It is this same optimistic spirit that lovely Mrs. Donnelley reflects in talking about "conditions."

"I've lived through three panics—those of 1857, 1893, and 1907—and not one of them has equaled this," she explained. "Still I am convinced the trend is upward. The best is yet to come."

Mrs. Donnelley, who makes her home in her original homestead on Woodlawn avenue, has been confined to bed the last several months, but she has been gaining so rapidly of recent weeks that she expects soon to make plans for her party on April 21—when friends will gather to talk of better times as well as the days of chaperons, carriages, and crinolines.

Appeal for Lincoln Relics for Exhibit at World's Fair

All owners of Lincoln relics were appealed to in a statement issued yesterday by J. F. Cornelius, chairman of the Lincolniana committee of the Illinois commission of A Century of Progress, to lend them for exhibit at the World's Fair. The committee will make its first official visit to the Host building, now under construction on the exposition grounds, at 11 o'clock this morning to inspect the three rooms allotted to Lincolniana. Accompanying the committee will be Dr. Otto L. Schmidt, president, Illinois Historical society, and Charles R. Pike, president, Chicago Historical society; State Senator Roy E. Woods, and Richard J. Barr; Representatives William E. King and Elmer J. Schnackenburg, George F. Harding, Republican leader, and others.

Good Morning!

The title tells the story.

As wise old Mamma Seward says in this picture:

"Men will always fight. It's the nature of the beast. Just like a lot of roosters. Till woman rules the world—there'll be war!"

[And if some women rule the world there'll STILL be war.]

For awhile I thought "Men Must Fight" was peace propaganda. Then, it seemed just the opposite. Developments proved it to be just as philosophical sitting back, with hands in lap, and a what-will-be-will-be air.

The action starts during the world war.

Laura, a Red Cross nurse, loses her flying corps lover during his first scout patrol. Her son—and his—would have been born under stigma but for her marriage to Edward Seward, who has loved her long, sincerely and, he has believed, hopelessly, and who at this crisis in her life begs for the privilege of protecting her and her child.

Years pass. The boy, Bob, believes Seward, now secretary of state, to be his own father.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Seward are actively interested in the cause of peace, till one of our ambassadors is assassinated, and Eurasia hurls forth a defi. WAR! And now Seward, his nation's honor at stake, abandons his pacific stand and requests his wife to do likewise. She refuses. Again she is faced with the possibility of a loved one becoming cannon fodder. The boy, reared in his mother's beliefs, declines to fight. Until . . .?

I found the film rather lethargic and long winded.

Diana Wynyard, Lewis Stone, Phillips Holmes, May Robson and Hedda Hopper do the best they can with leading roles that aren't especially fruitful. Ruth Selwyn, as Bob's sweetheart, lacks manner and appeal. Minor parts are satisfactorily portrayed and direction isn't bad.

Good shots: the one in which Mrs. Seward's peace meeting is interrupted by hoodlums, and those showing cities destroyed by newfangled bombs.

Dialogue is uninspired but does, occasionally, put a finger on the truth. Our next war will undoubtedly be a chemical one—and very, very thorough.

On the stage, big, happy, crooning Kate Smith holds sway. No depression about Kate except an occasional dimple.

See you tomorrow!

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, March 12.—[Special.]—C. Shelby Carter and Dean Carl W. Ackerman have gone to Washington, D. C., to be with friends for a few days.

Mrs. William L. Abbott and Miss Ruth Abbott have returned from Europe to Mayfair house.

Mrs. Hall Herrick has returned from Europe.

Mrs. Philip H. Withington and Miss Marguerite Withington of Cleveland are at the Savoy-Plaza.

Mr. and Mrs. Dudley C. Lunt of Wilmington have joined Miss Anne Deas Duane at the Westbury.

June Bride

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy A. Kling of 2306 Orrington avenue, Evanston, announced the engagement of their daughter, Nancy Elizabeth, to John Hossack Oliver, son of the late Mark Oliver and Mrs. Oliver of River Forest, at an informal gathering of young people at their residence Saturday night.

Miss Kling attended the Roycemore school in Evanston and the Mount Vernon seminary in Washington, and then went to Vassar for two years. In her sophomore year she was selected to be a member of the traditional daisy chain. She is attending Northwestern university now.

Mr. Oliver attended Los Alamas ranch school and the Lake Forest academy, and then went to Williams college, where he was a member of the Alpha Delta Phi fraternity. His great-grandfather, John Hossack, was one of the pioneers of Chicago, settling here in 1833. The wedding is planned for June.

MINUTE MYSTERY CAN YOU SOLVE IT?

BY H. A. RIDLEY

[Copyright: 1933: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Dr. Fordney is professor of criminology at a famous university. His advice is often sought by the police of many cities when confronted with particularly baffling cases. This problem has been taken from his casebook covering hundreds of criminal investigations.

Try your wits on it! It takes but ONE MINUTE to read! Every fact and every clew necessary to its solution are in the story itself—and there is only one answer. How good a detective are you?

THE RIVER ROAD TRAGEDY.

"I can't help it if his wealthy old 'ma' don't want a scandal in the family . . . he committed suicide!" insisted Ben Hanson who lived in a shack on the river bank near the spot where the body of Clyde Church was found.

Ben was undoubtedly responsible for the absence of money on the dead body, mused the professor. Well, he'd attend to that later.

The finding of Church's gun on the river bed ten yards from shore had been delayed due to the recent heavy rains which had roiled the water and increased the current.

Could the two ticket stubs, found on the body, be a clew wondered Fordney.

"I was on my way home and when I got there saw Church ahead of me. He was actin' queer," continued Hanson. "I watched 'im a minute and went inside. I jest closed the door when I heard a shot. I looked out the window and saw 'im fall. I ran out but there weren't no 'un in sight . . . and YOU needn't think I took his money 'cause I never touched 'im," concluded Ben as if reading the professor's thoughts.

Fordney smiled. He knew from the purplish cast of the face, with its instantly fatal head wound, that the body had fallen forward and remained in that position long enough for postmortem lividity to set in. The police found the body on its back!

"I'm not concerned about his money, Ben. I thought you might be able to tell me something about his MURDER!" said the professor quietly.

HOW LONG DID IT TAKE YOU TO REALIZE CHURCH HAD BEEN MURDERED?

Polish Pavilion to Be Used for Fair Concerts

Friends of Music Get Aid of Republic.

BY KATHLEEN McLAUGHLIN.

Because "a love of music is a part of the heritage of every Pole," Chicago's A Century of Progress is assured a building to shelter and enhance the great musical events in prospect for the exposition. Formal announcement was made yesterday that the republic of Poland has tendered its pavilion, to be erected on the site originally designated for the temple of music, to the Friends of Music for that purpose.

The concert yesterday afternoon of Paderewski, the great Polish musician, was selected as particularly appropriate for the revelation of this heartening news. Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank, who had been one of the leaders in the campaign to raise a fund of $100,000 for the music building, abandoned only a few days ago, made known the glad tidings during the intermission of Paderewski's concert at the Auditorium.

The throng of music lovers present, already in transports over the musicianship of the artist, signaled its enthusiasm with a burst of applause that swept the house from orchestra circle to gallery. Many who had left their seats as Paderewski took his last bow drifted back to the entrances as they sensed that something unusual was happening within, and swelled the ovation as they grasped the import of Mrs. Fairbank's message.

"When economic conditions forced the abandonment of our plans for the temple of music," Mrs. Fairbank said, "it came as a bitter blow to all our members. Now, through the generosity of a single group, all our dreams are to be realized to their fullest extent. The administrative committee of the Polish pavilion, which is to be erected on the same site that the temple of music was to have occupied, has tendered us the building for the duration of the fair.

"It seems eminently fitting that this announcement should be made during the concert of so great an artist as Paderewski, whose genius transcends national lines and makes him not only a great Pole but one of the greatest citizens of the world today."

Mrs. Fairbank was accompanied to the stage by two officials who participated actively in the arrangements for the present plan. Dr. Walter Frederick Kalisz, chairman of the Polish administrative committee of his government's exhibit, and Jerzy Bojanowski, professor at the Warsaw conservatory, who was sent to Chicago by Poland to supervise that nation's Century of Progress activities, were presented to the audience by the speaker.

A telegram was also read from Frederick Stock, conductor of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, who is in Ann Arbor, Mich., congratulating the Friends of Music on the plan and expressing appreciation and gratitude to the Polish republic and Americans of Polish descent.

Contracts were let on Saturday for the erection of a $100,000 pavilion for Poland on the exposition grounds. That country thus becomes the second nation to complete arrangements for its exhibit. Fourteen others have advised fair officials that they will participate.

Poland Plays a Big Role in Music of Day

Paderewski Untouched by His 72 Years.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Poland was responsible yesterday afternoon for many good things in the world of music. Ignace Paderewski, the most distinguished Polish pianist and the most famous pianist in the world, played a program by Chopin, the most distinguished Polish composer and one of the greatest if not the greatest composer in the world. To complete the tale came Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank's announcement of how the Poles had saved the day for the Chicago Friends of Music with their building at the Century of Progress exposition.

What with one thing and another, it began to look as though Poland were leading the world in matters musical.

As to Paderewski, years have not touched his mastery. He happens to be a tremendous personality who expresses himself through the piano keyboard. That is the secret of his greatness, and it is a secret which his seventy-two years of age do not affect in the slightest. He would have been great no matter what he did. As it worked out, he is a great pianist.

So speaking through, interpreting, recreating Chopin, the Fantasia, the Sonata of the Funeral March, the F minor Ballade, other extended works, he spoke in terms of lofty eloquence, and many pieces of less length he spoke more briefly but quite as fascinatingly. The composer and the pianist, two great men, merged into one rather super-performance.

The semi-final concert of the Woman's Symphony orchestra at the Drake hotel late yesterday afternoon presented Frank Mannheimer, pianist, as its soloist. Mr. Mannheimer, formerly a Chicagoan and now a resident of Europe making an American tour, is an artist of whom Chicago may be proud. He excels in the playing both of delicate, fine spun phrases and of broad emotionality, and he proved this by playing Weber's Concertstueck, a curious affair of the crinoline age, and Leo Sowerby's Concerto in F, which belongs to this century and is also a much more important piece of music.

The orchestra gave a first class performance of Beethoven's Fourth Symphony under the direction of Ebba Sundstrom. Each time that this band of young women is heard their tone is progressively better, and their eager ambition to accomplish remains unquenched. These are qualities that make for good performances.

Goeta Ljungberg, a famed Swedish soprano, came to Orchestra hall yesterday from the Metropolitan Opera company to sing under the auspices of the American Daughters of Sweden, and for the benefit of their charities. She was greatly applauded in Elsa's Dream from "Lohengrin," and more so in a group of Swedish songs and another by various composers. She was assisted by Mischa Mischakoff, brilliant and talented first violin of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, who was heard in a stirring performance of Sinding's Suite in A minor.

Benefit Event.

Members of Joanna lodge No. 9, United Order of True Sisters, will hold a spring fashion show, musical and tea from 2 to 4 o'clock next Saturday afternoon in the gold room of the Congress hotel. Part of the proceeds will help support a committee for voluntary Braille transscribing at the Chicago Public library.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., March 12.—[Special.]—President and Mrs. Roosevelt yesterday afternoon received the chiefs of missions (ambassadors, ministers and charges d'affaires) and their wives at the White House. They had assisting them the secretary of state and Mrs. Hull, and assistant secretaries of state and their wives. Tea was served in the state dining room, another precedent established by the new President and first lady, as refreshments have not been served at any state functions in the White House since the first administration of President Woodrow Wilson.

The chief justice and Mrs. Hughes were entertained at dinner last evening by Mrs. Alvin T. Hert, vice chairman of the Republican national committee.

Parents Announce Three Girls as Debutantes of Next Season

Jean Hyman, Virginia Thatcher, and Pauline Seipp to Make Bows; School Vacation Plans.

BY JUDITH CASS.

ALONG with spring crocuses and straw hats comes the announcement that three lovely girls, Miss Jean Hyman, Miss Virginia Thatcher, and Miss Pauline Seipp, are to be among the debutantes of the 1933 season.

They are an interesting trio, for they represent three distinct types of beauty. Miss Seipp is admired for her beautiful titian hair. Miss Thatcher is a pretty blonde, and Miss Hyman is a striking brunette.

Both Miss Seipp's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin A. Seipp, and Miss Hyman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Hyman, considered introducing their daughters to society last season but decided to wait another year.

These three debutantes-to-be are among the dozen or more girls who will be returning to Chicago within the next few weeks for an Easter holiday from studies at finishing schools and colleges in the east.

Miss Hyman will be one of the first arrivals. She will come from the French school in New York City on Thursday to spend the next fortnight at her home in Delaware place. On Saturday afternoon Miss Helen Marie Castle is entertaining for her at a small luncheon and bridge.

Miss Thatcher, the daughter of the G. William Thatchers, whose home is also in Delaware place, is returning from Sarah Lawrence college next Sunday with Miss Allene Withers, whose parents are the Allen L. Witherses of Winnetka. Before their return, however, Miss Thatcher and Miss Withers will go down to New Haven for the freshman prom at Yale.

Miss Seipp is coming home on March 24 for a ten days' visit with her family. She is a Vassar student this year.

Forgans to Enjoy Family Reunion.

The James B. Forgans, who live out in Lake Forest, will have a happy reunion the end of this month when Louise comes on the 20th from Farmington, and Nancy, the younger of the two girls, arrives five days later from her studies at Miss Wheeler's school.

The Eugene E. Talbots' daughter, Margaret, is due to arrive on the 23d for a two weeks' holiday from Miss Master's school.

Another Sarah Lawrence student is Miss Mary Louise Morris. She will return to Chicago on Saturday. Miss Gwendolyn Juergens will be here March 22 from Smith and Miss Nora McCurdy is coming about the same time to spend part of her vacation from Bryn Mawr with the Owen B. Joneses of Lake Forest. Mrs. Howard W. Fenton hasn't heard yet whether her daughter, Honore White, will return to Evanston or take a trip with some of her classmates at Vassar.

Miss Martha Lee, Miss Bobette Boysen and Miss Caroline Bullard, all of them students at eastern colleges, have decided not to come west for their Easter vacations. Miss Lee, with her mother, Mrs. T. George Lee, will spend two weeks in Bermuda. Miss Boysen is going to visit school friends in Boston and New York, and Miss Bullard will spend a fortnight with her mother's aunt, Mrs. William H. Moore, in New York. Miss Barbara Bullard, her sister, is still in California visiting her grandmother. She won't be back in Highland Park before the middle of April.

French Bull Pup Popular at Tea.

The French visitor, Pierre de Lanux, had only one rival as far as popularity was concerned Saturday afternoon at the tea given by Robert Hall McCormick in his handsome mahogany finished apartment atop the McCormick building on South Michigan avenue. That was Gamin, Mr. McCormick's French bull pup.

When Gamin wasn't resting happily in the lap of one of the juniors of the French Alliance whom Mr. McCormick had invited to meet M. Lanux he was making a polite bow to the French consul general, Rene Weiller, or some equally "finished" Frenchman. Gamin, although a great favorite, is a very discriminating dog. Born and reared in France, he responds only to French and then only to the best accents.

The party was a lively hour and a half of tea [or punch if you preferred], sprightly conversation, and admiration of the splendid objets d'art Mr. McCormick has assembled in his home. It was a perfect climax to the lecture on international ethics that M Lanux had given at 3 o'clock before the members of the senior alliance in the large lecture hall of the Fine Arts building. M. Lanux is unusually well qualified to tell of international problems and their possible solution, official representative as he is of the league of nations in Paris.

Ira Nelson Morris chatted long and vigorously with M. Lanux and pleasantly denied (to any one who asked) that he was to be the next ambassador to Germany. Mr. McCormick had especially requested him to come to the party, and also his good friends, the Eames MacVeaghs.

In the study where Mr. McCormick and his daughter, Miss Patty McCormick, received the guests, young and old, there are miniatures of yachts owned by the McCormicks, also a photograph of the Adriatic sailing ship San Marco, that boat of quaint cut and ancient design that Mr. McCormick refitted luxuriously for extended cruising. Now the boat is harbored in Venetian waters.

"Bud" Dewey was at the tea with his mother, Mrs. Charles S. Dewey, and his debutante sister, Miss Louise Dewey. And so was Miss Marjorie Goodman, the new chairman of the juniors since Mrs. Malcom Henderson (the former Paula Wilms) has gone to honeymoon in England.

Young Harris Cape Town.

Mrs. Hayden B. Harris, down at the Nautilus in Miami, heaved a great sigh of relief about a week ago when she received her first cable from her son, Huntington, announcing a safe arrival in Cape Town, South Africa. Young Mr. Harris, 18 years old, is on a pygmy hunt with Dr. Hugh Roe O'Neill for A Century of Progress.

He left Chicago the middle of February with the genial consent of his parents, but ever since he sailed from New York they have been wondering just how he would stand strange climates and diets and quick airplane hops across one country after another. Now they are certain that the rest of the three months' trip will be quite as successful as the beginning.

From Cape Town Dr. O'Neill and Mr. Harris, who won his job with the doctor by convincing him that he needed a secretary, are setting out on a 15,000 mile airplane flight over Africa. And among the things they are going to study from the air as well as the ground are the Congo river jungles, the walled city of Timbuctoo, the village of Khartum, an oasis, and a Dar Nuba theater.

For these are a few of the African highlights A Century of Progress officials intend to reproduce on the south end of the fair grounds by the first day of June. Dr. O'Neill and Mr. Harris are to bring back with them all the necessary material for building a walled city of Timbuctoo, a Dar Nuba theater, and a village of Khartum [the place that Sir Herbert Kitchener fought several of his famous battles], as well as natives to paddle canoes on a Chicago Congo and a pygmy village if they can induce the pygmies to stir from their huts and palm trees.

Mr. Harris is a second year student at the University of Chicago.

Mr. Harris Sr. returned to Chicago from Miami last Wednesday. Being a banker, he came by way of Washington and New York in order to take part in several of the moratorium conferences. Mrs. Harris, who has practically recuperated from the broken leg she sustained several months ago, will follow in the next fortnight.

Miss McFadden to Be Bride.

The two Hume brothers—Charles and James—have rented their apartment at 185 East Chestnut street and moved to a hotel, for James is going east this week to be married some time before Saturday to Miss Marion McFadden, daughter of Mrs. Parmalee J. McFadden. Mrs. McFadden and her daughter are leaving today for Greenwich, Conn., where the ceremony is to be performed. The first hint of this simple and impromptu wedding came two weeks ago when the report of a marriage license issued at Greenwich was received. After a short honeymoon Mr. Hume and his bride will return to Chicago to live, for Mr. Hume is a patent attorney here.

News that Chicagoans wintering on the west coast are safe and sound in spite of the earthquake in California is heartening to friends and relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus H. McCormick are at the desert retreat, Palm Springs, staying at El Mirador. Last week they mingled with Dr. and Mrs. Albert Einstein, the guests of Samuel Untermeyer. Will Durant, Vicki Baum, Peggy Hopkins Joyce, and the famous Piccard brothers, Auguste and Jean. Auguste of stratosphere fame entertained the assembled society folk by racing his brother in the hotel pool and staying up all night to gaze at the stars over the desert.

Since this escapade Prof. Piccard has been in Chicago delivering lectures and renewing acquaintance with the Arthur Comptons. He left for the east this last week-end.

Mrs. Arthur Dean Bevan at the Huntington in Pasadena, gave a luncheon last week in the famous crystal room of the hotel. Among her Chicago guests were Mrs. Edmund Hulbert, Mrs. George E. Marcy, Mrs. Bernard A. Eckhart, and Mrs. Charles M. Hewitt.

Mrs. William F. Burrows with her daughter, Miss Louise Burrows, of Lake Forest have just arrived at the POOR FISHERMEN.

The dory rocked like a solitary dark leaf on that vast blue glitter of water; the water in turn rocked within the unbroken circle of a translucent sky, as though it were held in a sphere of glass, half-filling the sphere.

Meryl Henderson, leaning forward from the bow, looked at her brother while he set the boat into its course. She thought, with the dismay of a rude and sudden discovery, how like those other, older fishermen of the north shore he had become during this past season. And he was only twenty-four. A dozen white hot summers beating down, and as many fierce winters roaring across Lake Superior, had left their shrewd mark upon Flinty's lean cheeks, and upon the narrowed blue of his no-longer boyish eyes. More than that—twelve years of sharing with his father the ever-recurring and ever-fresh problem of where the next barrel of flour was coming from, and what miracle was to produce shoes for young Margaret, or how a new herring net was to materialize out of the shreds of the old, had worked a weathering of soul behind those eyes of Flinty's.

Meryl winced at the sequence of her thoughts. Ned Bremner, that blond young giant who lived only a stone's throw from the Henderson's—he, too, was gradually being worn down by the erosion of poverty in a harsh land, unknowing, perhaps, and uncaring. And she herself—well, what about herself? At a little over twenty, she looked with eyes that were somber and straight and questioning, out over this lake that she had loved and feared and hated, and loved again, since her ninth year. What was to become of her, and Flinty, and Margaret, whom the lake had mothered upon its dazzling and forbidding bosom?

"What's on your mind, kid?" Flinty asked.

"What's on your mind, kid?" Flinty asked negligently, as he nosed the boat once more westward.

"O—nothing much," Meryl temporized. "I was just wondering whether Ned would have got back from Thunder Bay this afternoon."

"Ned got back, all right," Flinty assured her. "He wouldn't miss Saturday night supper at our place for anything."

Ned would be there, of course. The family had fallen rather easily, during the past summer, into the habit of supposing that on any occasion, whether it was a gala Saturday night supper of something besides fish, or a dance somewhere in the settlement afterwards, or a fit of hysteria on the part of Aunt Letty, or the swamping of one of the Henderson boats, Ned Bremner would be there.

Meryl frowned. The family was beginning to take Ned for granted, and Ned was beginning to take himself for granted. Worse, she herself, because here had been grafted into her like some vivid, short-seasoned flower, the fierce, brief abandon of this land, had begun to take Ned for granted.

"I guess Saturday night wouldn't mean much to you without Ned," Flinty observed with a grin.

Meryl looked quickly at her brother, and strove for a reply. "Don't be silly!" she said, almost breathlessly. "Ned is all right in his way, but he's—he's not—well, he's just a fisherman!"

Flinty turned his head and looked at her slowly, with a surprise that cut deeply into her unexplored sensibilities.

"Ho! He's not good enough for us, eh?"

"Of course, he's good enough," Meryl replied lamely. "But—well Flint—" She tightened her lips and thought desperately for the right words.

"Maybe you ought to scout around some of those swell places at Agate Bay," Flint suggested. "Some of those guys from the city might be more in your class."

"You know I don't mean that," she protested. "But one of these days Ned is going to ask me to marry him. I know it."

"Well—what if he does?"

"I can't!"

Flint's broad shoulders hunched deprecatingly as he turned back to the steering shaft. "That's up to you," he said. "I think Ned's a good guy."

"That's not exactly a reason for marrying him," she retorted.

"You haven't offered any reason for not—"

"Can't you understand!" she interrupted. "Perhaps it's the way we have been brought up that makes the difference. I don't know. If father hadn't failed and gone to pieces after mother died, we'd probably be living in Chicago still. We should have had a proper education—and everything. For old Aunt Letty's tutoring is only a hint of what we might have had. But it is a hint. What I mean is that we've got something back of us—something besides—"

"Back of us is right!" Flint observed darkly.

Meryl stared at him across the glamour of light from sky and water. "That sounds as though you're resigned to being—just nothing, Flinty," she said accusingly.

"Is that so!" he blustered. "Wait till you see me and Ned with the biggest export business on the lake! In five years—if we get the breaks—"

"O, Flinty!" Meryl burst out vehemently. "You know you've got to have capital to compete with the big shippers. And before you can save enough even to get the start you need, this life will have worn you both out!"

"What's the matter with this life?" Flint demanded doggedly. "I like it!"

"I like it, too," Meryl said with resolute warmth. "But—it isn't enough—by itself, I mean. It's funny, but the older I get, the more I seem to remember those days in Chicago, though I was only nine. You might almost think that mama knew something horrible was going to happen to us—the way she took us to all the concerts and things that last year. You were older, of course, and would remember more about it than I do."

"I remember plenty," Flint said in his somber way. "It was probably a good thing she died before dad's crash. She couldn't have done without theaters and things."

"I can remember that she was lovely," Meryl mused. "She smelled like candy—and she always had flowers around, everywhere, didn't she?"

"She was pretty," Flint said awkwardly, hating emotion.

Flint had had but two loves in his life; his mother, and his north country which had taken unto itself his broken young heart after that first incredible loss.

Meryl leaned forward, her elbow resting on her knees, her chin in her hands. "Flinty," she said suddenly, "Margaret is old enough now to keep house. I've been thinking—I'd like to go away."

Her brother looked at her quickly, then gave a scoffing grunt. "Go away? On what?" he inquired. "We made seventy-five dollars last month."

"That's just it," Meryl replied. "I ought to be helping to ease the burden. I could get some sort of job—and I could go to night school and take a business course—if I were in the city. Anyway, I can't stay here and settle down."

"What you mean is you can't stay here and marry Ned Bremner," Flint said abruptly.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

If there is any question pertaining to beauty and personal hygiene upon which you wish advice write to Antoinette Donnelly, The Chicago Tribune. Enclose stamped, addressed envelope for personal reply.

KITTY: IT IS MOST DIFFICULT to recommend a coiffure style without seeing you. I think it a good investment once in a while to go to one of the artist hairdressers who design hairlines that bring out your best features. Or, you could study the fashion magazine prints and experiment yourself.

GLADYS: FULL GROWTH IS usually attained around eighteen. Five feet six is not an abnormal height at all. It's very common.

F. D.: I THINK IN YOUR CASE where the busts are so enlarged, it would be wise to consult your physician.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Address Doris Blake, The Chicago Tribune regarding problems of the heart. Enclose stamped, addressed envelope for personal reply.

If She Asks for Them.

"Dear Miss Blake: I went with a girl, then I fell in love with another one. I quit the first one. Should I return her letters and pictures and any other items I have of hers?

"R. A."

That sort of thing isn't ordinarily done unless the girl demands their return.

Ingratiate Yourself.

"Dear Miss Blake: I'm in love with a girl, but her parents interfere. What must I do? A. B."

See if you can't place yourself into their good graces. Do it with a little flattery and favors.

GASOLINE ALLEY—OPPORTUNITY RAPS

LORA AIN'T DOWN YET BUT YOU'RE MR MAYBEE, AIN'T YOU? I'VE BEEN HEARIN ALL ABOUT HOW YOU'RE GOIN' TO HELP THE FARMERS OUT.
YES, UNCLE JOHN, CONTINENTAL CORNCOB DEVELOPMENT CO., INC., WILL HELP THE FARMERS TO HELP THEMSELVES. I'VE BROUGHT YOU ONE OF OUR PIPES.
THAT'S NO ORDINARY CORNCOB — THAT'S A BEAUTY. YOU MEAN TO TELL ME FARMERS CAN MAKE PIPES LIKE THIS — AN' SELL 'EM?
WE MAKE THE MACHINERY AND THE MARKET. YOU FARMERS MAKE PIPES AND MONEY. BUT UNCLE JOHN IF YOU SHOULD CARE TO INVEST IN CONTINENTAL CORNCOB YOU'D MAKE MONEY GOING AND COMING.
THIS IS A SWELL PIPE. BUT ALL THE MONEY MAW AN' ME HAVE GOT IS TIED UP IN A CLOSED BANK AN' MORTGAGED FARM.
I'M MIGHTY SORRY. ESPECIALLY BECAUSE $100 TODAY MEANS $1000 TOMORROW. IF THE FARMER THRIVES WE WILL THRIVE AND THERE WILL BE MILLIONS IN IT FOR A FEW FAR SIGHTED INVESTORS.

Use Patience in Teaching Child Hygiene Habits

Don't Expect Too Much of Mere Baby.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

The mother of grown children laid down the article on "toileting" she has been reading.

"As I remember," she said, "it seems to me that our children got the idea without my ever turning handsprings over it. Of course, I couldn't have been scientific about it—perish the thought—but I don't remember a particular fussing or long performances, nor do I remember any sessions during the children's early babyhood of living by the clock 'to gain bladder control,' as they express it here.

"I know I don't know anything," she went on with what I suspect was only mock humility, "but it seems to me there comes a time when a child who is brought up intelligently 'gets the idea,' with a little encouragement and a reasonable amount of regularity."

To a very large degree I agree with that expression of opinion. There was for a number of years such great emphasis placed on early bladder and bowel control that it absorbed a lot of time, energy and interest that mothers should have devoted to more important things—to more important habit formations, to be exact. Some nurses and some methodical mothers trained the babies successfully to early control, but we're not at all sure it wasn't at some cost to the child.

This control is an important matter mostly for our conveniences, but it shouldn't be exaggerated to the point where attention is centered on it too much. This makes for nervousness and impatience on the mother's part and tension on the child's—and this for a natural functioning which absolutely requires the opposite of tension, relaxation.

Personally, I believe it better to establish good elimination habits a little later and do it in an atmosphere of ease and good will.

March Judges Beauty Queens of Year Books

Actor Selects Co-Eds for Many Colleges.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., March 12.—Since Fredric March was chosen winner of the motion picture academy's plaque for the best acting performance of the last year, he has become the nation's most sought after judge for co-ed beauty competitions.

It started with a request to select the photographs of the girls at Cornell college, Iowa. Then came follow-up requests from Henderson [Ark.] State, the University of Alabama, Colorado Women's college, Parsons of Iowa, Conway college of Mississippi, and Galloway of Missouri. The request that topped them all came a day or two ago when March received the first batch of likenesses of Badger beauties. Himself an alumnus of University of Wisconsin, he is supposed to judge the photos for the most attractive girl for the Madison, Wis., annual.

Gordon Westcott has been placed under a five year successive option contract by Warner First National. The young ex-adventurer from Utah will be starred under the studio's plans.

Tom Keene [George Duryea] started his film vacation on the eve of the studio shutdown which, many here fear, may become indefinite. Keene took his wife and started by automobile for Deadwood, S. D., where he wishes to satisfy a personal hobby by learning something first hand of the life and exploits of the hero of his youth—Wild Bill Hickok.

Elissa Landi and her mother, Countess Zenardi-Landi, were perhaps the two most seriously perturbed persons in the film colony at the time of the quake. They left their home and stayed out in the open until midnight.

Marian Nixon moved out, too; but her quarters were on the fourth floor of a tall apartment, where the quivers of the earth seemed accentuated. Marian moved in with friends who have a two story place in the hills.

A grand trek of other Hollywood notables began the night of the quake, and with today's announcement of the complete studio shutdown tomorrow, to release them from necessity for showing up, many more quit the colony today for stays at nearby stopping places, or short vacations east.

The Paramount company, filming "Dead on Arrival" last Friday, made an actual sound record of the earthquake. The sound man did not shut off his apparatus and yesterday ran off the sound track, giving the rumble as it interrupts the voices of Gloria Stuart, Jack Larue, and others, the first yell of "earthquake," the break in the dialogue, more shouts and a scream, the clamor of running footsteps, the rattling and straining of the wooden stage, and the noise of falling equipment.

FOLLY ISLAND

By Wallace Irwin

INSTALLMENT XLIX.

PURE DEVOTION.

At Port England Bart hired a launch from the carpenter's son, who, true to the bayman's instinct, began to ask questions at once. "Goin' over to the Bayleys? Well, why didn't you git here a little sooner and go over with them? They jest started across few minutes ago. Shouldn't wonder if you could beat 'em there at that. Hen Love's Baby ain't built for speed.

Desperately, as though by some mischance he might lose the girl again, Bart helped shove the boat into the water. Then full speed ahead he went churning into the inlet. In the westerly sun he could see the clumsier craft just rounding the headland; there were three upright figures silhouetted against the sun. Then in a wide arc he curved his prow toward the well remembered beach. Among the trees along the bluff he could see the roof and chimneys of Mrs. Bayley's new house. Far below it, on the white crescent of sand, three figures half distinguishable in the distance were going ashore; first a man, then two women. They delayed a while over square, brown objects, probably baggage.

Headily Bart Burgess shot toward them and the figures grew larger, marching in single file. Mrs. Bayley's was less erect than it had been. Alice, in a lilac dress, moved with a new vitality as though the air of the island had revived her. Little Hen Love, mysteriously returned to bondage, struggled ahead with the bags.

They had crossed the sand and were winding their way upward toward the new house when Bart rammed his prow against the shore; so recklessly that he all but lost control of the wheel.

"Alice!" he cried, floundering toward her across the loose pebbles. "Alice!" It seemed an hour before she turned. "Alice!" She poised there a long time among her native rocks then started slowly down.

He was dizzy with the glory of her face coming toward him. She was flying now, a meteor, pulled toward the planet that has attracted it. Straight into his arms, her dark face wild and beautiful.

"My dear," was all she said.

"My dear."

Not much, but it told everything.

Was her mother looking at them? Was the sour old fisherman making faces at the candid two, laughing and crying and kissing in broad daylight?

"Alice——"

"Don't try to tell me. I know." She was clinging to him, afraid that he would leave her again. "Just let me cry."

She was crying against his heart; how long ago had it been since he had called it a foolish dream even to think of holding her like this and petting her and adoring her? "Bart," she was saying, "when I went away from you—that time—I didn't want to live. O, it was worse than when daddy—when he went away. Don't say anything. I'm all right." Then, a little calmer, "Lora told me."

This was confusion, but he was too happy to care. There was one more question to ask.

"Alice, does your mother know?"

"About daddy?" She shook her head, her face hidden from him, her wild, clear eyes turned up the stony path. With a new thought of her mother Alice clutched Bart's hand so tightly that her nails dug into his palm. Then the whisper, "When she goes to your mother's house again she'll see his picture the way I did——"

"We'll have to tell her. Let me."

"No. She'd take it better from me."

"It'll be hard for her."

"She'll understand." Alice smiled at Bart, her eyes bright with tears. "She was so happy with him—while he was here—nothing else matters to her. She'll understand."

He looked up the cliff and saw Mrs. Bayley silhouetted against the sky, a strong woman who had kept her own council so long out of the purity of her devotion.

List Three Girls as Debutantes of New Season

Parents Tell of Plans to Present Daughters.

Huntington and so have Mrs. Albert T. Evans and Miss Kathryn Evans.

Mrs. Aldis Still in Hospital.

Poor Mrs. Owen F. Aldis—she came to Chicago for a visit about three weeks ago and almost immediately broke her ankle, so instead of being entertained here and then going down to visit Mrs. Bryan Lathrop in Florida she has been in the Passavant hospital, where she probably will have to stay another month. Mrs. Aldis will not go to Florida at all, but will return to France as soon as the doctor permits it.

Among others recovering from broken bones are Mrs. Ferdinand W. Peck, Mrs. Robert S. McGann, and Mrs. Charles B. Pike.

Mrs. Peck slipped and broke her leg early this winter, but now she is up and about walking with the aid of a cane. Unfortunately, Mrs. McGann has not made as rapid progress, for the hip she broke last fall in stepping out of her car continues to keep her in bed in her Lake Forest home.

Mrs. Pike is rejoicing that the sling has been removed from the arm she broke the beginning of December. It's quote an experience, she says, to be using this hand again.

Mrs. Franklin P. Smith's many friends will be delighted to hear that she is well on the road to recovery from the illness she has been suffering since her return to Chicago from Switzerland a few weeks ago. Within a few days she hopes to move from the hospital to the Drake hotel, where her son, Durand Smith, has an apartment.

Girl Scouts to Mark Birthday.

Mrs. Charles R. Lindsay Jr. has made only one date for today and that is the luncheon to be given this noon by the Chicago Girl Scout council at the Woman's City club in celebration of the 21st birthday of girl scouting in America. Mrs. Lindsay, a member of the national board and acting commissioner of the Chicago council, is to be the principal speaker, telling about Juliette Low, the founder of the movement.

Miss Elizabeth J. Mundie, the Chicago director, will supplement Mrs. Lindsay's talk with a short history of scouting here, and Samuel G. Gorsline, the Boy Scout commissioner; Perry A. Lint, the Boy Scout executive; Miss Elizabeth Webster of the Council of Social Agencies, and Mrs. Katie Lee Johnson of the National Girl Scout camp advisory staff will bring greetings.

Five scouts are to dramatize Anna Hempstead Branch's "Ceremony for Bringing in a Birthday Cake." The cake is to be the gift of Mrs. Abraham K. Selz, chairman of the luncheon committee.

Among those who have made reservations are Mrs. Benjamin Carpenter, the first Girl Scout commissioner here; Mrs. George J. Farnsworth, the former deputy commissioner; Mrs. E. R. Newman and Mrs. Julius Weil, former members of the council; Mrs. Richard Bentley, Miss Helen Bournique, Mrs. John B. Bremner, Mrs. Britton I. Budd, Mrs. Nathan S. Davis III., Mrs. Edison Dick, Mrs. Arthur Farwell, Mrs. Paul B. Magnuson, Mrs. William S. Monroe, and Mrs. Carroll H. Sudler Jr.

Two Lectures to Be Given Today.

Two more events on today's calendar are a Lenten lecture this afternoon by the Rev. Edwin V. Hoover and a discussion of "France and the World Situation" tonight by that popular Frenchman, Pierre de Lanux.

Mrs. Henry C. Murphy and Miss Gertrude McCarthy will be hostesses for the Cenacle lecture at 2:30 at the Lake Shore Drive hotel. Father Hoover, who is head of archidiocesan music in Chicago and director of the Cardinal's Cathedral choristers, is to speak on "Music and Its Part in the Liturgy of the Church."

Mrs. William Gold Hibbard will introduce M. Lanux this evening at the Winnetka Community house. In the audience will be, among others, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond E. Durham, Mr. and Mrs. William Sherman Hay, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin S. Fetcher, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest S. Ballard, Mr. and Mrs. Matthew P. Gaffney, and Mr. and Mrs. Donald S. Dixon.

The Durhams' daughter, Elizabeth, who was graduated from Vassar the middle of February, is in Geneva, Switzerland, with her aunt and uncle, the Arthur Sweetsers. Mr. Sweetser is connected with the league of nations.

Mrs. Lingle Will Sing Own Songs.

Mrs. Bowman Lingle is to sing a group of her own compositions at the Tiffin musical tomorrow morning at the Evanston Cradle. Mrs. Lingle has written both the words and melodies and Irwin Fischer has arranged them for the piano. She will be accompanied by Miss Evelyn Goetz.

The second part of the program is to be given by Mrs. Helen O. Roesing, who will read several scenes from "Dinner at Eight," the play by Edna Ferber and George Kaufman.

Mrs. Ira L. Couch with the wee little Couch left yesterday to visit her family in Omaha, where, as Jane Stewart, she lived before she was married to the son of the Ira J. Couches.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Silverthorne are arriving home tomorrow from two months spent in the South Sea islands. Their trip was interrupted by the death of their son, John H. Silverthorne, so they have not been away as long as they had originally planned. They have been visiting their son, Henry F. Silverthorne, on the island where he is studying archaeology.

Exercise Series from West Point Now Available for Your Family

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

I have an announcement to make today that gives me untold pleasure, because of its incalculable benefit to you, my readers.

I've had the great good fortune to ararnge a tieup with the United States Military academy at West Point. Through the courtesy of Maj. Gen. W. D. Connor, superintendent, and the coöperation of Harold M. Rayner, major of cavalry, master of the sword, and officer in charge of all physical training, I am in a position to give you a series of exercises unparalleled in worth.

The West Point cadet represents, as you know, the finest and best possible specimen of physical training. His posture, for which he is distinguished, did not come by accinent. Posture at the academy is stressed and re-stressed as the foundation of proper body building.

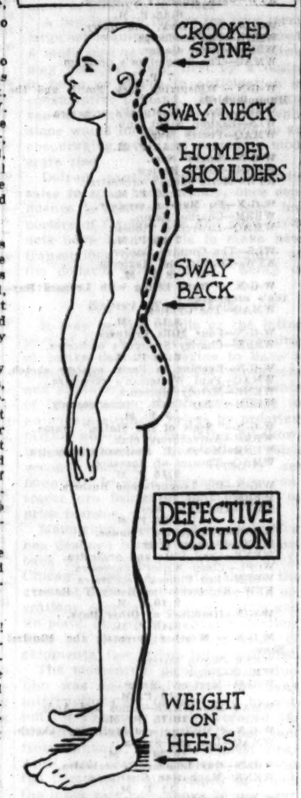
A new cadet enters the academy July 1 of each year. In some cases, Maj. Rayner reports, he has a correct set up to his body, but in most cases the set up is not correct. For most of the summer the new cadet in need of corrective work is required to take gymnastic exercises out of doors under Maj. Rayner's supervision, with particular attention paid to the gradual formation of correct posture.

From his experience with the "raw" cadet and the later finished product, Maj. Rayner bases the exercise series we start tomororw.

Don't miss it! It's for everybody! For every member of the family: Father, mother, grown son and daughter, and the small members of the family, too. Get in on it, each and every one of you! It's a rare opportunity to get the posture and other corrective training enjoyed at West Point!

Study the illustration given here today, showing the weak points of the average anatomy as seen by Maj. Rayner: the sway neck and back, the humped shoulder, and so on.

Snap up your posture! Smarten your walk. Take the weight off your heels—yes, and off the waist and hips, too, with these West Point instructions. If you're underdeveloped, get in on the course. Line up the youngsters so the spinal kinks and curves to which they're subjected will be prevented or remedied.



The drawing shows weak spots most commonly observed.

Gray Footwear Is Offered in Every Shade

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Were you one of the thousands of frenzied females who shopped wearily for gray footwear last fall, and even as far back as last spring? Were you one of the trusting souls who bought gray clothes without a thought as to a possible dearth of proper gray shoes to properly and perfectly match the various articles of intriguing gray that you were buying for a gray wardrobe?

If so, then you will be extremely relieved to know that practically any and every shade of gray, any and all kinds of leather and fabric, as well as "gray and" combinations have stepped out into the white glare of a shoppers' spotlight.

This is the year to indulge your graying fancies . . . you can wrap yourself in silvery clouds, in smoky tones, in gray blues and look down from under a fetching gray bonnet or pan lid, and see twin toes circumspectly covered in the right complementing or contrasting gray tint.

And what a grand time you can have shopping for these new shoes . . . look for the moderately low heeled oxfords of stone gray suede, patched over toe and instep, or heel, with rather intricate and geometric swatches of the same suede leather . . . ½ for the pearl gray kidskins, that even have a suggestion of the luster of a pearl . . . and if you demand wearability with fashion, try the new specially treated gray calfskin footgear.

Good looking sports shoes of gray suede have thick crêpe rubber soles and well flattened heels . . . and other graytone shoes that are knockouts with tweeds are the reptileskin affairs that can be matched to a swanky well tailored handbag skinned from the same snake.

These reptileskin pumps and street oxfords with medium heels together with the matched handbags are effective because of heir clear gray cast, a black and white gray, that goes with everything, a gray with lots of white in it, making a perfect spring gray for suits, coats and summer cottons later on in the season.

White Collar Contributes Youthful Air to Chic Frock of Black Satin Crepe

WOMAN'S DRESS.

The scalloped hipline of this dress lengthens the bodice effect, and the skirt has inverted plaits, both front and back, stitched part way, lending height to the figure. A black crinkled satin crêpe will be as smart as anything you can choose, and the white crêpe used for the collar gives it a youthful air.

The pattern, No. 3412, comes in sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, and 46 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3¾ yards of 39 inch material with ⅝ yard of 35 inch contrasting.

Spanish Steak Is Prize Winner in the Food Line

Gives Kitchen Budget a Delicious Cut.

BY MARY MEADE.

Whittling down the pennies is an adventure that's common to about all of us these days—and not always the easiest thing on the docket to manage. So when some canny soul turns up with a money-saver in the food line that not only makes the dollars go farther but actually reaps cheers and enthusiasm from the family—then it's a real red letter day.

Just such a dish, then, is Spanish steak, served up with carrots cooked in slim strips and buttered, crisp celery hearts, hot baking powder biscuits, canned peaches and crunchy little chocolate cookies. It's an alluringly penny-saving meal, yet it's quite delicious enough to grace even a Sunday dinner with guests present.

Here is the way of it:

SPANISH STEAK.

2 pounds round beef, cut thick.
4 tablespoons flour.
1 teaspoon salt.
¼ teaspoon pepper.
1-3 cup fat
1 quart canned tomatoes [No. 3 can]
1 package [8 or 9 ounces] macaroni.
1 large green pepper, chopped fine.
2-3 cup grated cheese.

Mix the flour, salt, and pepper together. With the edge of a thick plate, or a meat pounder, beat the flour mixture into the steak until the meat has taken up all it will hold. Divide the steak into portions for serving and brown the pieces on both sides in half the fat in a hot frying pan. Now add the tomatoes and cover, cooking over a low heat till very tender. This will take a little over two hours. Twenty minutes before the steak is tender, cook the macaroni in boiling salted water until tender. Drain and set aside. Now in a saucepan melt the rest of the fat and brown the onions and pepper in it. When the meat is tender, lift it out onto a hot platter. Add the browned pepper and onion to the tomato in the pan, together with the cooked macaroni. Season to taste and when piping hot, pour over the hot steak sections, sprinkle with cheese and serve.

The following recipes have been requested by readers.

COFFEE DATE SOUFFLE.

1 level tablespoon granulated gelatin.
¼ cup cold water.
¾ cup strong hot coffee.
½ cup sugar.
1 cup whipping cream.
White of 1 egg.
1 cup chopped dates.
½ cup chopped nuts.

Soak the gelatin in the cold water for five minutes, then dissolve it in the hot coffee. Add the sugar and let cool and partly thicken. Whip the egg white and the cream, separately, and fold into the stiffening coffee gelatin. Add the dates and mix carefully, then pile into sherbert glasses and chill until very cold. Sprinkle the top of each dessert with the chopped nuts and serve.

PINEAPPLE-ALMOND PIE.

¼ cup cold water.
1½ cups crushed pineapple and juice.
¼ teaspoon salt.
2 tablespoons lemon juice.
½ cup sugar.
1 cup evaporated milk.
½ cup cut orange sections.

Soak the gelatin in the cold water for five minutes. Heat the pineapple and pour it, very hot, over the soaked gelatin. Add the orange sections, sugar, lemon juice and salt and cool till partially set. Have the evaporated milk ready for whipping. For this, place the milk in its can in a pan of cold water, bring it to a boil and boil for five minutes. Then cool quickly until icy cold. Whip till stiff. When the gelatin mixture is partly set, whip it till light. Then fold in the whipped evaporated milk. Heap into a baked pastry shell and chill. To serve, sprinkle with whole blanched almonds.

A FRIEND IN NEED

If you are in need, perhaps I can help you. If you have household articles or clothing you can do longer use, please tell me. I can place such things with needy families. Address Sally Joy Brown, The Tribune, Chicago.

Babies Have No Crib.

"My sister, who has a year old girl and a baby 8 weeks old, needs a crib for them, but as her husband is not working she cannot buy it. A chest of drawers also would be welcome. We have tried to help all we can, but my father lost his job last week and we will have all we can do to get along ourselves now. E. A."

If your infant has outgrown his first crib perhaps you'd like to pass it on to make another baby comfortable. Here's a family who could put it to good use.

THE STAGE

Lenore Ulric, the actress who recently claimed an income tax reduction for expenses in entertaining dramatic critics and then apologized with the explanation that her lawyer had been overenthusiastic, will figure in Chicago's spring theatrical activities. She is hopeful of a run well into the period of the Century of Progress exposition.

Miss Ulric, formerly a Belasco star, has come under the managing direction of Arch Selwyn, who intends to stage a play for her use, opening Easter Sunday in Scranton, Pa. After three weeks of tour, or on May 8 or 9, the production will begin an engagement at the Selwyn theater, Chicago, which has been inactive for almost a year.

The title of the play has not been announced because Mr. Selwyn is hesitating between two new manuscripts in his possession. He is also considering a revival of one of Miss Ulric's past successes—"Kiki," perhaps, or "Lulu Belle."

"Counsellor-at-Law," the drama by Elmer Rice which had a notable success in Chicago last winter and spring, is scheduled for a return engagement beginning in mid-April. The company will contain Paul Muni, the originator of the title rôle and its actor for many months in New York, in place of Otto Kruger. Mary Servoss, who had the rôle of the snobbish wife here last season, will be missing from the cast, but the other parts will be filled by the familiar and able "Counsellor" players.

The major producing managers of Broadway have failed to come to a unanimous agreement to close all the first class theaters in the eastern metropolis as a step to secure more satisfactory economic coöperation from the stage hands' and musicians' unions. Their organization will continue, however, its fight against pay roll burdens, and will reopen discussion of the problem at a meeting today.

Dr. Henry Moscowitz, executive adviser of the group, said yesterday that the managers hoped to reduce the expenses of play production in many ways, including a cut in the wages of stage hands. To date the stage hands' union has refused to make concessions, but has expressed a willingness "to rearrange productions so that they might be handled with a minimum number of stage hands."

The Theater Guild has acquired a new play by A. A. Milne for future production. It bears the title of "Sarah Simple." C. C.

Modern Girl Sensible Over Loss of Beau

BY DORIS BLAKE.

When your best girl friend steals your beau right out from under your eyes what's a poor girl going to do?

It's "Eve M.'s" query. It's been an Eve query come many a courting century.

Today's "Eve" is a lot better off than her predecessors in this game of "beau-snatching." She has so much more sane and sensible judgment to guide her. First, she can be perfectly honest with herself and with her friends about her loss. She doesn't have to go into a decline. She doesn't need to suffer the doldrums longer than it takes her to catch up with another beau.

Of course, her pride will suffer a blow! None of us is quite so big and understanding as to pass a like event off with a laugh, a shrug. It hurts surely it does. But any blow that can be frankly discussed or openly admitted as "one of those things over which you have no control" admits of a reasonably early recovery.

You young moderns have this philosophy on your side. Your style of meeting heart "blows" is a vastly improved one over that of earlier generations. Some of you have the good sense, even, not to blame the girl in the case. You say: "Well, she has something I haven't got," and you look about for a new boy-world to conquer. And that's smart! No time lost!

On the other hand, some of you smart ones, too—say: "Here, I'm not going to let her get away with that." And you train all of your best charms on recovering the object of your affections. Sometimes you win. Sometimes you don't.

CHURCHES FIND OFFERINGS SHOW SHARP INCREASE

Pastors Unable to Explain Situation.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Chicago pastors were happy though puzzled yesterday. They said that their Sunday offerings increased yesterday in spite of the bank holiday and the money crisis.

One usher in a fashionable north shore Episcopal church said he "nearly fainted" when a stranger in his church nonchalantly dropped a twenty dollar bill in the plate. He added that as the aisle was traversed there were enough bills piled on the plate to make one think that some sort of a currency inflation had got completely out of control.

Dr. John Thompson, pastor of the Chicago temple, Washington and Clark street, spoke yesterday of his surprise concerning the offering.

More Bills in Plates.

"I have been astonished the last two Sundays since the bank holiday was declared when I have noted the offerings," said Dr. Thompson. "There were more bills in the plates than I have seen in a long time. I have no way to account for it. The offerings have been the heaviest and biggest in many years.

The same situation seems to prevail in all sections of the city and in smaller churches as well as in the large ones. Dr. C. L. Hubbard, pastor of the large First Methodist Episcopal church, Oak Park, while stating that offerings during the last two weeks have been "normal," pointed out that a normal offering under present conditions is worthy of remark.

Robert Reynolds, treasurer of the Edgewater Presbyterian church, said yesterday's "loose offering was the best we have had in a long time." He explained, however, that the size of the offering was "probably the result of a very large congregation—one of the largest since Christmas—at the Edgewater church."

Smaller Churches Report Increase.

Grace Episcopal church, Oak Park, reported a similar experience. The rector, the Rev. Harold Holt, said: "There has been much more currency in the offering than usual."

Speaking for one of the smaller churches, Charles S. Elkington, treasurer of St. Luke's Episcopal church, 743 South Western avenue, located in the heart of the jobless building trades area, said that the offerings the last two Sundays have been nearly 50 per cent above normal. In St. Luke's church the ushers do not "pass the plate." Members of the congregation place their offerings in a special box at the door. Mr. Elkington also said that the attendance at services had shown a marked increase since the plan was instituted and that offerings have not diminished.

U. S. MAKES IT HARDER TO GET FLYER'S LICENSE

Tightens Requirements for Pilot Rating.

More rigid qualifications for federal airplane pilot licenses have been put into effect during the last two months by the aeronautics branch of the United States department of commerce. The higher qualifications become effective at a time when the number of pilots licensed by the government is approaching the 20,000 mark. There are 18,539 federally licensed pilots and 7,582 student pilots.

A new rating has been created for pilots flying interstate with passengers for scheduled air lines. They now are required to have 1,200 hours of solo flying time, including 500 hours of cross country flying and 75 or more hours of night flying. The applicant must be able to pass a blind flying test under a hooded cockpit.

New Rating Held by 422.

This rating went into effect on the first of the year, and is now held by 422 air line pilots, including all who must have it. Of the 725 pilots now flying for air lines, those without the rating are flying mail only, or on foreign routes that are not covered by the new rating requirement.

Air line pilots formerly were required to have only 200 hours of solo flying experience. There was a lower classification of limited commercial pilots for those permitted to carry passengers for hire within a limited radius of their home airport, the requirement for which remains fifty hours of solo flying experience. A third classification, that of private pilot, was for those not caring to fly professionally, the requirement for which was ten hours of solo flying experience.

Tests Made More Rigid.

The second tightening of requirements effected by the department of commerce has been for the private pilot rating. Effective the first of this month fifty hours of solo flying is required for that type of license, and the flight tests have been made more rigid. Holders of such licenses at present must pass the more rigid tests by June 1, after qualifying with fifty hours of flying.

With the raising of standards for private pilot licenses a new category has been created, that of solo pilot. The solo pilot takes the status formerly held by the private pilot after passing a flight and written examination at the end of ten hours of flying, but he cannot carry passengers. The reason for this change is the high percentage of accidents incurred by pilots with less than fifty hours of flying experience.

BODY OF HOWELL BEING TAKEN TO HIS OMAHA HOME

Washington, March 12.—(AP)—Accompanied by the widow and stepson and a senatorial committee, the body of Senator Robert B. Howell of Nebraska, who died here yesterday after a two weeks' illness, was placed aboard a train tonight for Omaha.

The funeral party will arrive in the Nebraska city at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday morning. Services will be conducted at the home of the late senator unless Mrs. Howell and her son by a former marriage, Sidney J. Cullingham, decide to hold them in the family church.

Senator Howell, who was 69 years old and a member of the Republican independent group at times, died yesterday afternoon at Walter Reed hospital. He had been ill of pneumonia since Feb. 25, but this condition had cleared up considerably when an abscess formed on his neck. This sapped his strength and affected his heart.

Howell was serving his second term in the senate, which would have expired in November, 1934.

OFFICE MANAGER OF HOSPITAL IS KILLED BY AUTO

James C. Hemphill, 65 years old, 1320 State parkway, office manager at the Presbyterian hospital for the last ten years, was fatally injured yesterday by an automobile.

Mr. Hemphill had left the hospital to take a walk, and was struck in Ogden avenue, nearby, by a car driven by Miss Mae Cutaia, 21 years old, 3812 North Ashland avenue. He died almost immediately and his body was taken to the county morgue before employés of the hospital identified it.

Mr. Hemphill is survived by his widow and two children, James Jr., and Mrs. Theodore H. McNees.

This death with one other increased the automobile toll in Cook county for the year to 160. The other victim:

Helen Reese, 4 years old, of 14510 Jefferson street, Harvey. Died at the Ingalls hospital last night of injuries received during the afternoon when she was struck by an automobile in Halsted street near her home. The driver was Mrs. Dorothy Saller of Beecher.

Nephew of Mont Tennes Dies of Bandit Injuries

Charles J. Tennes Jr., 35 years old, of 6528 Lakewood avenue, died yesterday in the Edgewater hospital of a skull fracture supposedly suffered from a beating at the hands of a bandit. He was a nephew of Mont Tennes, owner of a racing news service. Tennes, a clerk, was found in a stupor at Western and Catalpa avenues Saturday night.

Sister of Senator Coolidge Dies at Pittsburgh Home

Pittsburgh, Pa., March 12.—(AP)—Miss Cora Helen Coolidge, president of the Pennsylvania college for women and a sister to Senator Marcus A. Coolidge of Massachusetts, died tonight at her home. Miss Coolidge's health had been poor for several months. She became seriously ill a week ago.

Identified by Girl

After questioning relatives of Fred Russo, 24 years old, 709 North Cicero avenue, found murdered in the rumble seat of an automobile in an alley at the rear of 5916 North Western avenue early yesterday, police said last night they were without a clew to the mystery. Russo, missing since last Wednesday, had been beaten and strangled to death and his body bound with ropes.

Miss Mary Angelini, 18 years old, 2911 West Erie street, his sweetheart, identified the body. She said Russo had no enemies and had not spoken of receiving threats. A sister of the slain man, Josephine Russo, said her brother left home Wednesday evening to visit Miss Angelini. She said her brother had been engaged in the cartage business with his father and had no business or personal troubles.

Police were convinced that robbery was not the motive of the crime. They found $62 in cash in the victim's pockets and an onyx and diamond ring, given to him a year ago by Miss Angelini.

DR. F. A. CHAPMAN, MAJOR IN WORLD WAR, DIES HERE

Dr. Frank Amos Chapman, who served as a major in the American army medical corps in Italy during the world war, died yesterday at the Washington boulevard hospital. He had offices at 30 North Michigan avenue, and lived at 5407 Greenwood avenue.

Dr. Chapman was educated at Marion Sims Medical college in St. Louis and Rush Medical college here. He began practice in Chicago in 1913 and enlisted at the start of the war. After the armistice he was placed in charge of the American military hospital in Rome. At the time of his death he was assistant clinical professor of medicine at Rush Medical college. He was a fellow of the A. M. A.

Surviving Dr. Chapman are his widow, Dr. Katharine Howe Chapman, also a graduate of Rush Medical college, and three children, Warren, Grace, and Philip. Funeral services will be private.

Thomas A. Groven, Retired Rail Veteran, Dies at 84

Funeral services for Thomas A. Groven, who was a resident of Chicago for more than sixty years, will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 3421 Fullerton avenue. Burial will be in Rosehill cemetery. Mr. Groven, who was 84 years old, died Saturday evening at his home, 7733 North Hermitage avenue. He was born in Norway, came to the United States as a young man, and was employed for most of his life by the Chicago and North Western railroad, retiring thirteen years ago. Two daughters, Mrs. C. A. Macomick and Mrs. William Schwarer of Chicago and three sons, Fred of Detroit and Melchor and Jack Groven of Seattle, survive.

Honor German War Dead in Chicago Ceremonies

Yesterday was Memorial day for the German war dead. Ceremonies held at Lincoln Turner hall under auspices of the United German-American War Veterans organizations were participated in by Howard P. Savage, past national commander of the American Legion, who laid a wreath at the foot of a tablet to the memory of the men who died for the fatherland. Judge Joseph Burke, an honorary member of the German Veterans organization, gave an address in English.

Miles J. Devine, Attorney, to Be Buried Tomorrow

Funeral services for Miles J. Devine, veteran Chicago attorney, will be held at 9 a. m. tomorrow in Notre Dame Roman Catholic church, Oregon avenue and Sibley street. Burial will be in Calvary cemetery. Mr. Devine, who was 67 years old, died Saturday in his home at 5400 Washington boulevard of complications following an operation last October.

V. C. Williams, Suburban Boy Scout Leader, Is Dead

RITES TODAY FOR DR. B. F. GARNITZ, BANDIT VICTIM

The funeral services for Dr. Bernard F. Garnitz, south side physician, who died Saturday of bullet wounds inflicted by bandits when he was lured by a fake emergency call on Feb. 24, will be held today from the chapel at 3126 Roosevelt road. Dr. Garnitz is survived by his widow, Mary; two children, Lucille and Howard; a sister and five brothers. Rabbi B. A. Daskal will officiate. Dr. Garnitz was 38 years old and lived at 5159 South Damen avenue. He was a staff physician for the Evangelical hospital at 54th and Morgan streets. He will be buried in Jewish Waldheim cemetery.

DR. GARNITZ.

J. LEDERER, 68, STORE FIXTURE DEALER, IS DEAD

Jacob Lederer, 68 years old, long prominent in the store fixtures business in Chicago, died yesterday in his apartment in the Embassy hotel. Mr. Lederer founded his business, Jack Lederer, Inc., in 1896. He was partially disabled by infantile paralysis sixteen years ago and retired.

Mr. Lederer was born in Prague, Czechoslovakia. His widow, Mrs. Frances Lederer and three sons, Sam, Arnold, and Dr. Francis Lederer, survive.

Funeral services will be held at 1 o'clock tomorrow in Temple Emanuel, 701 Buckingham place. Burial will be in Waldheim Emanuel cemetery.

GERMANY GETS JERUSALEM WOOD.

Fifteen tons of eucalyptus wood has been shipped from Jerusalem to Germany for manufacture into tops. The wood was cut near the Jewish colony of Hedera between Jaffa and Haifa.

Brushes Away Gray Hair Keeps Permanent Wave

Now you can really look years younger. With an ordinary small brush you just tint those streaks or patches of gray back to your natural shade—whether blonde, brown or black. It is so easy to do—at home—with Brownatone. Over 20 years success. Guaranteed harmless. Active coloring agent is purely vegetable. Defies detection. No tell-tale, "dyed" look. Cannot affect waving of hair.

No need to guess. First cut a lock of hair from your head and apply a little of this famous tint. If Brownatone does not give your gray, streaked, dull, or faded hair its natural color, youth and luster, your money back. Only 60c.

Morgan & Co., Brown Bros., and Harriman & Co., all private banks, also were issued warrants to resume business on a normal basis Monday morning.

Without asking sixty day notices from their depositors for the withdrawal of funds all of the 59 savings banks in Greater New York will reopen for business tomorrow. The withdrawal of funds will be restricted to $25 weekly for each depositor, however, by order of the state banking board.

Iowa Banks to Open.

Des Moines, Ia., March 12.—(AP)—Virtually all Iowa state and savings banks will open Monday for business under restrictions, Superintendent L. A. Andrew of the state banking department predicted tonight. Andrew expressed this opinion after receiving applications for licenses to reopen from more than half of the 626 state banks.

St. Louis to Reopen.

St. Louis, Mo., March 12.—(AP)—William McChesney Martin, governor of the Eighth District Federal Reserve bank, said tonight St. Louis banks would be able to reopen tomorrow without requiring any of the new currency authorized under the emergency banking act.

Situation in Minneapolis.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 12.—(AP)—Banks of Minneapolis are ready to reopen on a complete service basis Monday morning. Because St. Paul has no federal reserve bank, the banks of that city would not be permitted to open until Tuesday, but bankers of Minneapolis and St. Paul, united in the hope that the close relationship of the two cities might prove grounds for an exception to the general rule, sought a special dispensation to allow St. Paul banks to open with those in Minneapolis.

Philadelphia Is Ready.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 12.—(AP)—National and state banks in this city which are members of the federal reserve system were granted licenses tonight by federal authorities to reopen for normal operations tomorrow.

Wait for Licenses.

San Francisco, Cal., March 12.—(AP)—San Francisco bankers tonight waited for licenses which, if granted, will permit them to reopen their institutions for virtually unrestricted business tomorrow morning.

Dallas, Tex., Banks.

Dallas, Tex., March 12.—(AP)—Five Dallas member banks of the federal reserve system tonight were granted licenses to open for business tomorrow. The Eleventh District Federal Reserve bank is located here.

Will Meet Pay Rolls.

Wilmington, Del., March 12.—(AP)—Pay roll requirements will be met in currency tomorrow by member banks of the Wilmington Clearing House association, it was announced today. Officials said that otherwise the banks will be operated as they have been since the bank holiday was declared.

Florida Banks to Open.

Tallahassee, Fla., March 12.—(AP)—Controller J. M. Lee late today authorized all state banks which are not members of the federal reserve system to reopen for business tomorrow morning on a restricted basis. Florida's 49 national banks and three state banks which are members of the federal reserve system are expected to reopen Tuesday and Wednesday under President Roosevelt's order.

Ready in Richmond.

Richmond, Va., March 12.—(AP)—Richmond banks members of the federal reserve system reported tonight they had received authorization to open for business tomorrow.

New Jersey Not to Open.

Trenton, N. J., March 12.—(AP)—New Jersey's banks will not reopen for the general transaction of business tomorrow. Complying with the proclamation of President Roosevelt, Col. William H. Kelly, state banking commissioner, tonight rescinded his order permitting all state banks to reopen tomorrow for restricted business.

Extends Holiday.

Columbia, S. C., March 12.—(AP)—Govs I. C. Blackwood tonight extended the South Carolina banking holiday through Friday, March 17, to allow time for checking statements of banks in the state and applications for reopening.

Arizona Extends Holiday.

Phoenix, Ariz., March 12.—(AP)—Gov. B. B. Moeur has issued a supplementary proclamation extending Arizona's bank holiday indefinitely.

Cleveland Banks to Open.

Cleveland, O., March 12.—(AP)—Officials of the Federal Reserve bank of Cleveland announced tonight the secretary of the treasury had issued licenses to the Cleveland Trust company, the Central United National bank, and the National City bank to resume normal business operations tomorrow. They declined, however, to say whether any additions might be made to the list.

24 to Open in Kansas City.

Kansas City, Mo., March 12.—(AP)—Formal notification that they would be permitted to open for business here tomorrow was received by 24 Kansas City banks tonight.

WORLD BANK LEADERS FIND ROOSEVELT BANK PLAN ENCOURAGING

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

BASLE, Switzerland, March 12.—President Roosevelt's banking and economy program was found "very encouraging" by European central bank governors, who held their monthly meeting here today, preliminary to the world bank board session tomorrow.

The American situation was not on the agenda, it being explained "there is no question of the United States needing any aid," but it dominated informal talks, in which Montagu Norman of the Bank of England, Clement Moret of the Bank of France, Dr. Hans Luther of the Reichsbank and others participated.

One of those present reported that the bank governors believed the American position had grown "much better" in the last three days. He said there now was a feeling here that the world "may be surprised how quickly Roosevelt may turn to handle in the same swift way the more urgent international political and economic questions."

The agenda dealt with the relations of the bank for international settlements to the world economic conference. The possibility of the conference being held sooner than was expected apparently was discussed.

Dr. Luther gave the others no confirmation of reports that he will resign the presidency of the Reichsbank.

STEEL INDUSTRY EXPECTS QUICK GAIN IN ORDERS

Bank Outlook Held Encouraging.

Prospects for early improvement in the banking and currency situation have brightened the outlook in the iron and steel markets, states the magazine, Steel. First effects of action taken at Washington to buttress the country's banking structure, and to issue additional currency, with the possibility of mild inflation just ahead, have been to arouse consumer interest in materials, and to give a new element of strength to prices.

A few isolated feelers for long term, large lot requirements have appeared. A more serious threat of higher prices may manifest itself first by a desire to build up stocks in anticipation of consumptive demand. So low are inventories that these requirements alone would increase production to an encouraging level, and support a moderate rise.

Detroit expects retail automobile sales to snap back rapidly, once confidence is restored. In the east, importers of foreign iron and steel products have been unable to make new transactions owing to uncertainty of the dollar's value abroad. Scrap is stronger.

Expect Week's Log.

It may be the middle or the latter part of this week before a reopening of banks definitely begins to have a stimulating influence, but consumers and producers alike are keen students of the situation, the former likely to anticipate stronger prices by ordering farther ahead; and the latter by showing a disposition to withdraw some second quarter prices recently announced. In some instances new contracts are being booked, subject to price revision.

Meanwhile, steel ingot production has declined to 13½ per cent, almost back to the level of Christmas week. Chicago, down 4 points, shows the greatest deflection. Finishing mill operations, especially in sheets, strip and tin plate, also show a sharp reduction. This has been due to suspension of shipments, few orders being canceled.

The momentum steel ingot production was acquiring before the bank interruptions set in is shown by output for February which averaged 44,378 gross tons daily, up 14 per cent from January, and the highest since April last year. February also was the first month since April in which the ingot rate rose above 20 per cent. Despite the fewer number of working days, total output increased to 1,065,080 tons, from 1,006,297 tons in January.

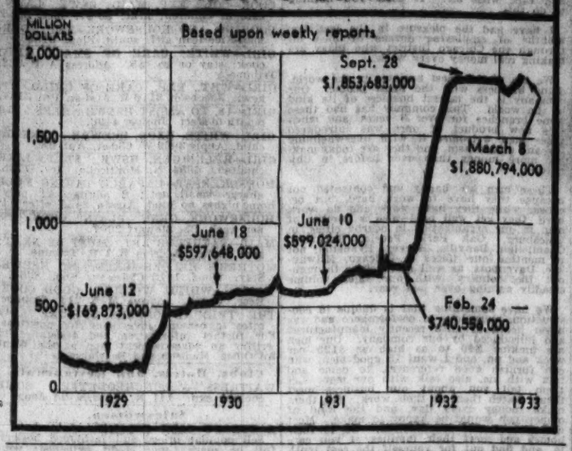
Government May Buy Steel.

Promise of a large tonnage of miscellaneous steel requirements is held out by President Roosevelt's proposal for a $500,000,000 bond issue for reforestration and other public work. Structural shape awards for the week advanced substantially to 16,055 tons, including 5,000 tons for the St. Paul postoffice. The Steel coporation's western subsidiary is low for fabricating 120,000 tons of steel for the San Francisco-Oakland bridge. Railroad inquiry is limited mainly to 10,000 to 15,000 tons of miscellaneous steel for the second quarter for the Pennsylvania.

The markets for raw materials, especially pig iron have shown the quickest response to consumers' fears of price inflation; with an inquiry for 2,000 tons from an Indiana melter, and for 3,000 to 5,000 tons from Pennsylvania foundries. A Pittsburgh interest has purchased 3,000 to 4,000 tons of heavy melting steel scrap at an advance of 25 cents over its previous price. Japan has taken 7,000 tons additional scrap, and is inquiring for 1,000 tons of tin plate.

Steel's scrap composite this week is up 5 cents to $6.46; the iron and steel composite remains $28.35, and the finished steel composite $45.60.

Government Securities Held by the Twelve Federal Reserve Banks



Mandel Bros. Finds Trade Fairly Good

Transactions in Mandel Brothers' store last year held up well in spite of depression. For the fiscal year ended Jan. 31, 1933, the number of transactions was only 5.48 per cent less than in the preceding period. Largely due to lower merchandise prices, net sales totaled $14,831,111, compared with $19,644,767 in 1931.

Net loss for last year was $573,558, compared with net loss of $371,270 in 1931. In addition, the company charged off $99,973 in reducing book value of its investment in bonds to market value as of Jan. 31, this year.

As a result of these and other changes there was a profit and loss deficit of $1,494,386 on Jan. 1, 1933. A charge off of $62,510 also was made in reducing book value of treasury stock to its stated value. The total deficit was charged against capital surplus, with the result that surplus now stands at $2,112,401.

"The decrease in both sales and earning power was due to two major difficulties—customers' generally reduced purchasing power and falling of commodity prices—which were experienced in all classes of merchandise," Edwin F. Mandel, president, says in his annual report, made public last night. "A strict program of economies was continued during the year. Expenses—exclusive of the reserve for depreciation—declined $1,264,238. Inventories have been further reduced.

"The company continues to show a strong liquid position. Cash and marketable securities on Jan. 31, 1933, amounted to $1,585,127, which alone is approximately 1½ times total liabilities. The ratio of current assets to current liabilities is 4.22 to 1. Substantial increases have been made in bad debt reserve due to present unsettled conditions. There are no bank loans outstanding."

The balance sheet shows current assets of $4,807,653 and current liabilities of $1,138,184.

LIBERAL CREDIT HELPS CHICAGO'S BUSINESS OVER BANK HOLIDAY

As a natural result of the banking holiday during the last week in Chicago wholesale houses and department stores marked time until conditions should warrant a resumption of normal activities. Steel business and production declined sharply down to 15 per cent of capacity, and there was also a drop in the consumption of electricity in the local area, according to trade observers of the Chicago Association of Commerce.

Wholesalers continued to supply distributors with liberal credit, confident that the lull in conditions was only temporary. At retail sales were irregular. On the first day of the week there was a heavy demand for food supplies, and one department store reported its sales in that line were the best they had been in some time. Drastic reductions in the price of certain household goods also brought a good number of purchasers to the stores. Toward the end of the week, however, sales fell to a low level, and officials gave their attention to preparations for the coming week, when business would be more normal.

There was a growing feeling in the iron and steel trade that once the banking situation has been relieved business will proceed with greater acceleration than has been in evidence thus far this year. At present mills are rolling mainly on orders placed some time ago, indicating further contraction until conditions are changed.

JEWEL TEA CO. REPORTS SALES OFF 13 PER CENT

The Jewel Tea Company, Inc., reports that its sales for the four weeks ending Feb. 25, 1933, were $772,530, as compared with $892,604 for the parallel weeks in 1932, a decrease of 13.45 per cent. The average number of sales routes for parallel weeks in 1933 was 1,342, and in 1932 1,336.

WESTINGHOUSE CASH POSITION GAINS IN 1932

Orders Show Sharp Decrease.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 13.—The cash position of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company at the end of 1932 was better than the year before despite the continued depression, according to A. W. Robertson, chairman, and F. A. Merrick, president, in the annual report to be issued today.

Current assets amounted to $78,816,116 at the end of 1932, and current liabilities to $4,333,692, a ratio of 18.2 to one. A year ago current assets were $100,522,486 and current liabilites were $7,368,011, a ratio of 13.6 to one.

Cash was $21,889,245, against $39,585,564 the year before, and United States government securities, at market or less, were $3,254,136, against $1,828,584. Other marketable securities, at market, amounted to $7,658,883, against $9,734,530. Inventories were $30,268,956, figured at cost or less against $39,619,472, and receivables, less reserves, were $15,657,396, compared with $28,854,288.

Drop in Orders.

Orders received during the year amounted to $69,082,465, compared with $122,014,320 in 1931, and the company entered 1933 with unfilled orders in the amount of $26,836,494. Sales billed for 1932 were $77,073,586, against $115,393,082. Operations for the year resulted in a net loss of $8,903,540, compared with a net loss of $3,655,659 in 1931. The company obtained its fair share of available business, the report says.

Surplus declined $17,003,527 from $79,050,324 at the end of 1931 to $62,046,797 at the close of 1932, as a result of the net loss for the year, the payment of $2,542,179 in dividends, adjustment of $3,575,188 in accounts receivable from the Radio Corporation of America and other surplus adjustments. This does not take into account a further reduction of $11,043,341 in surplus owing to the distribution of Radio Corporation common shares to Westinghouse preferred and common stockholders. A like reduction was made since the year end in investments in associated companies, which were $34,206,272 at the end of 1931, against $31,863,702 the year before.

See Better Times Ahead.

In submitting the company's annual 1932 report to stockholders, the officials concluded:

"We believe that we are slowly but surely on our way to better times. This note of sober optimism is based upon reports of improving condition abroad and upon the disappearance of panic sentiment at home.

"These improvements are creating an underlying feeling of confidence that the worst is over and that hard work on the part of every individual and every organization will lift us to the desired level of business and home conditions.

"The Westinghouse organization faces present conditions with optimism as well as with courage and determination."

MUTUAL HEAD DISCLOSES PLAN TO PAY IN CASH

The Lumbermen's Mutual Casualty Company of Chicago and Associated Fire Mutuals have made arrangements to pay claims in cash, according to an announcement made yesterday by James S. Kemper, president.

"Such losses as our companies may have sustained will be paid in cash upon receipt of proofs. We have also applied for permission to advance payments to those who are in need pending opening of the banks. We have already arranged, under the release provision of the treasury ruling, for the payment of compensation to men injured in industry and their needy dependents from all of our principal disbursing offices in the large cities. I have no doubt similar approval will be given with respect to the earthquake sufferers."

Lack of Faith by Hoarders Closes Banks

BY SCRUTATOR.

The direct and simple reason that made necessary the closing of all the banks in the United States, by governors and finally by President Roosevelt, was a lack of faith. Money—whether gold or currency—in a banking system is merely a yardstick. The trouble was that too many depositors, the people who held title to it, have tried to make money into a storehouse.

Consider these facts:

In 1929, bank deposits in the United States amounted to about 60 billion dollars. There were between four and five billions of currency. In Chicago alone, checks were written, and paid, for about fifty billion dollars in one year. In the country as a whole, the five billions of currency cleared checks for 906 billion dollars.

Deposits About 40 Billions.

Bank deposits have since been contracted, but there is still on deposit in American banks something like 40 billion dollars. Currency issue has grown to nearly seven billion dollars. But with the heavy withdrawals of this currency to be hidden away, a great deal more than half of the seven billions is outside bank vaults.

Definite figures last summer showed that, with 45 billion dollars of deposits, there were approximately 2½ billions in cash in bank vaults—individual banks and the Federal Reserve banks and agencies.

Obviously it would have been impossible in 1929 or in June 30, 1932, to pay every one in cash had all demanded it at once of the banks; just as impossible as it would be today. There was, and is, no legal way to issue 40 billions in currency, or 40 billions in currency.

How Currency Circulates.

The case of John Smith, with $500 in the bank, may be considered. Under the usual conditions, Mr. Smith could walk into the institution at any minute of a business day, write on a slip of paper and get his $500, in currency. Except in rare cases, however, Mr. Smith did not dig a hole and hide his money. He paid it over to Brown, to Jones, to Robinson or to some one else, and the recipient took the $500 cash and put it back into a bank.

Possibly he did not use the same bank, but in ordinary days no good bank showed vast fluctuations from week to week in the amounts deposited and the amounts withdrawn. Even the man who had no bank account did not stay outside the banking system. His employer paid him with money obtained from a bank, he spent it and the butcher, the baker, the grocer, the garage man took it back to a bank.

The result was that every dollar in currency turned itself over many times a year; many times a week. When the Chicago banks reporting paid checks for fifty billion dollars in one year, they actually found it necessary to have constantly in their own vaults only twenty million dollars, although there were more ample reserves with the federal reserve.

Rapid Turnover in Money.

Every dollar of hard cash in the vaults of the banks turned itself over twenty-five hundred times a year! Every dollar paid obligations for 2,500 times its own value. So long as every one was satisfied that he could get his money when he wanted it, he didn't want it.

But fear came in. Some people felt that they'd rather have their money in actual cash in a safety box. So long as it was drawn to spend, it didn't make much difference, for spending sends money back to banks. But if as much as one-twentieth of the deposits were demanded for stocking storage, that meant danger. If one-tenth of the deposits were taken for the same purpose—why, there wouldn't be any more money to pay out.

Hoarding Becomes Acute Danger.

The limit was being approached last week. Hoarding had passed the stage of mild danger and had become an acute one. Instead of being left in the banks to be turned over hundreds of times a year, all the currency was being stuck into crannies, where it stayed, and was not being turned over at all. The desire to hoard was growing and the only way to stop it was to make the paying of more money to hoarders impossible.

Banking was and will be a matter of faith more than money. Even had all the currency in the country been in bank vaults, a withdrawal and hiding of one-sixth of all the deposits would have been enough to strip all the banks.

GRAIN MARKETS MAY BE NORMAL WITHIN A WEEK

Active Trade, Higher Prices Expected.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

All indications are that the grain exchanges will be operating under nearly normal conditions within a week, unless something unforeseen and of a most disturbing character happens. There will be no reopening of the exchanges until all can function properly. Some think they may open Wednesday, but the general belief is that it will be at a later date.

An optimistic feeling exists as to the future. It is expected that money will be plentiful and legitimate business will soon move more rapidly and in greater volume. Within a few days a feeling has developed that expansion of the currency will eventually bring increased speculative and consumptive buying of all commodities, and that higher values will prevail.

Expect Higher Wheat Prices.

Grain traders advance the idea that when wheat trading is resumed prices will be up 2 to 3 cents a bushel over the close of March 3. They predict a greatly increased volume of business, the latter being regarded as especially necessary to keep prices on the upgrade.

Sentiment regarding all grains is said to be changing in all world markets. Supplies are being more closely adjusted to requirements. Australia and Argentina are said to have an exportable surplus of 199,000,000 bushels, or 10,000,000 bushels less than last year. Cash wheat in Kansas City and Minneapolis is up 5 cents a bushel, compared with a week ago. Millers are seeking wheat and would take the 30,000,000 bushels of May held by the farm board, as shown by the latest official announcement, were it possible to arrange for exchanging cash grain for their May.

Winter Crop Prospect Poor.

Crop prospects for winter wheat are the worst known and it is possible that should prices advance sharply in the near future, it might induce spring wheat farmers in the northwest to increase their acreage.

It is said that Russia has bought 32,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat in exchange for crude oil.

Eastern interests are said to have bought cash corn liberally from shippers last week and the price at the close was quoted at 26½ cents, or 1½ cents advance over a week ago. Farmers are said to be willing to sell corn on any advance and a resumption of open market trading is expected to bring about further purchases.

NATIONAL STEEL REDUCES FUNDED DEBT $1,233,333

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 13.—Funded debt of the National Steel corporation was reduced by $1,233,333 last year, according to the pamphlet report for 1932. This brings it down to $41,799,999, of which $233,333 is that part of the Wierton Coal company mortgage payable in 1933.

The report shows net earnings the same announced in the preliminary report, or $1,622,919 after all charges and taxes, equivalent to 77 cents a share on common stock, against $4,443,324, or $2.06 a share in 1931.

Depreciation charges were little changed at $3,089,912, against $3,117,402 in 1931. Reserves set up for furnace relining and rebuilding amounted to $1,467,526, against $1,343,942 in 1931.

At the annual meeting on March 27 stockholders will be asked to change capital stock from no par to $25 par value a share. The stock was carried at a stated value of $25 a share in the 1932 balance sheet.

Equitable Life Assurance Society.

I have been approached by representatives of Equitable Life Assurance Society of New York regarding insurance, particularly annuity investments. I would appreciate your comments.—S. G. F.

Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States [New York] was incorporated in 1859 as a stock company. On June 23, 1925, the company retired the last of its outstanding stock and became purely mutual. The company ranks among the largest insurance companies. Admitted assets on Dec. 31, 1932, totaled one billion 472 million dollars, against one billion 400 million dollars on Dec. 31, 1931, and one billion 284 million dollars on Dec. 31, 1930.

Cash at the close of last year was $47,739,000, against $7,849,000 the year before; bonds totaled $425,637,000, against $426,235,000 the year before; guaranteed and preferred stocks, $74,460,000 and other stocks, $2,998,000, against total stocks of $77,813,000 the year before; first mortgage loans, $520,717,000, against $537,466,000; real estate, $38,394,000, against $27,777,000, and policy loans were $305,841,000, against $269,322,000 on Dec. 31, 1931.

Receipts in 1932 were $354,743,000 and disbursements were $285,170,000. In 1931 receipts were $368,285,000 and disbursements were $256,683,000.

Insurance in force on Dec. 31, 1932, totaled six billion 573 million dollars, against seven billion 91 million dollars the year before, seven billion 119 million dollars on Dec. 31, 1930, and five billion 632 million dollars on Dec. 31, 1927.

At the close of 1932 general insurance reserve was one billion 307 million dollars, other liabilities were $58,489,000 and contingency reserve was $64,209,000.

The company is licensed to do business in all states of the United States except Texas.

Metropolitan Edison.

I shall thank you for your opinion of Metropolitan Edison first 5s, due 1962.—B. C. M.

Metropolitan Edison company, part of the Associated Gas and Electric system, furnishes electricity to more than 500 Pennsylvania communities. Gross revenues for the twelve months to Sept. 30, 1932, were $11,111,000 and fixed charges were earned 2.38 times. Gross for 1931 was $11,678,000, against $12,193,000 for 1930 and $12,643,000 for 1929. Charges were earned 2.44 times in 1931, 3.11 times in 1930 and 3.19 times in 1929.

On Dec. 31, 1931, current assets were $3,008,000 and current liabilities were $2,367,000.

The first 5s, due 1953, first 4½s, due 1968, first 4s, due 1971, and first 5s, due 1962, are considered sound.

Daniel Reeves Reports 1932 Income of $899,129

Daniel Reeves, Inc., chain store operator, reports 1932 net income of $899,129, equal to $2.60 a common share, against $1,028,607, or $3.01 a share in 1931.

Only One Rail Passenger Loses Life in 11 Months

The western railways committee on public relations reports that during the first eleven months of 1932 only one railroad passenger out of 441,000,000 lost his life in an accident. The railroads performed a passenger service equivalent to carrying 15,594,115,000 persons for the distance of one mile. The American Railway Engineering association will hold its convention here this week.

National Bond and Share Asset Value $31.15 a Share

New York, March 12.—The report of National Bond and Share corporation for the year ended Feb. 28 places the net asset value per share at $31.15, against $35.02 on Feb. 29, 1932, and $50 a share paid in on March 6, 1929. Net income from interest and dividends in the last year was $270,510, against $297,208 in the previous fiscal period.

Extension of Time for Depositing Under Plan of Reorganization

The Committee has heretofore declared the Plan of Reorganization to be operative and effective and fixed March 13, 1933 as the date prior to which additional deposits of bonds might be made. As of March 10, 1933 deposits of the First Lien Collateral 6% Convertible Bonds, Series A, under the Plan amounted to $5,942,500, or over 76% of the $7,791,500 bonds outstanding.

Owing to the banking holiday the time limit set for the deposit of bonds has been extended until further notice.

In order to complete the Plan of Reorganization at an early date we urge you to deposit your bonds with this Committee under the Plan, which has already been approved by holders of over 76% of the bonds. Bonds should be deposited with Manufacturers Trust Company, Depositary, 149 Broadway, New York City, or Continental Illinois Bank and Trust Company, Sub-depositary, 231 South La Salle Street, Chicago, Illinois.

MEN

The majority who read this advertisement have no doubt scanned the advertising section of numerous papers hundreds of times, seeking something in their particular line or hoping for a chance that they will get something for nothing.

Men, there is no such thing as "something for nothing" these days, and if we continue to center our thoughts on just doing nothing but the things we are accustomed to, isn't it the truth that we get very little out of life? This is no time for a man to want to do the same old thing when there is no opportunity for him to advance himself. If you are not making $40, $50, $75, or more per week, and you have been in that business any length of time, and diligently applied yourself, ask yourself whether that job affords you any opportunity. Then, I suggest that you come and talk with me. It costs you nothing to do this.

I have had the pleasure in the last few months of employing dozens of men all through the Chicago District who today are making real money every week.

We are in the finest business in the world, doing business with the finest people. Our company is the largest business of its kind in the world. This company has the same branches for over 8 years, and when this new product of ours was introduced these men welcomed it with overwhelming joy and enthusiasm, and they are today making more money than ever before in Chicago.

These men are happy and contented not because they have to work hard, but because, while they have work and do work hard, they get well paid—also a number of men in our organization in nearby cities, in Galesburg, Oak Park, Peoria, Rockford, Champaign, Danville, Harvey, Evanston, not to mention our offices in Chicago, Milwaukee, Davenport, as well as in cities throughout the country, with our sales volume steadily gaining over last year.

We have something that is unique in construction, marvelous in performance and was never heard of until recently manufactured and introduced by our company. Our men are making $40 to as high as $125 per week and up, and I want 15 good men, who can furnish good references, to come and talk with me, also talk with our men. Let them tell you about our business—meet them; watch them work. See them make money every day, and the kind of money you would be happy to make. Meet the men of this organization. Go to their homes and meet their families, if you care to, and find out for yourself the real truth and opportunity of our business. It costs you nothing.

If you are sincere of purpose, interested in permanent success, willing to work hard, and willing to work hard for promotion, you to call between the hours of 9 to 1 Monday morning in Parlor B, Morrison Hotel.

J. ALLEN FUSCA.
